Rich Roenigk Leads Poultry Association

Although he lives in York County, the newly-installed president of the Lancaster County Poultry Association has strong ties with the industry. At their home, Rich Roenigk stands with his wife Debi, daughter, Lauralee, and son, Landon.

YORK (York Co.) — The newly-installed president of the Lancaster County Poultry Association formed an early attraction to the avian industry. As a 5-year-old, Rich Roenigk became so attached to a bantam rooster that he carried it everywhere.

The fascination with poultry and eggs continues for Roenigk. Only today it is not limited to feathered birds but to keeping Lancaster County on its course as the country's leading producer of eggs and poultry.

After serving a term as vice president of the county association, Roenigk has proven that the fact that he is not from the county is negligible. He lives in neighboring York County with his wife Debi, son Landon, 20, daughter Lauralee, 17, and Maggie, a Cocker Spaniel.

"My goal for the Lancaster County Poultry Association is to continue the good work of promot-

Virus Wreaks Damage In Orchards

JINNY WILT
Adams Co. Correspondent

YORK SPRINGS (Adams Co.) — The virus attacking the peach orchards in Adams County has the potential to devastate the stone-bearing fruit industry in the region for years, and could become a national problem.

The plum pox virus, or sharka, was detected in North America for the first time on trees in a York Springs grower's peach and nectarine orchards, the state agriculture department said recently.

Officials compare the virus to avian influenza which, in recent years, has caused flocks of chickens to be destroyed and farms quarantined.

The plum pox virus is so serious, in fact, that the state department of agriculture and

We're Losing Our Freedoms, Says Granger Of Year

ANDY ANDREWS

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Granger of the Year F. Paul Dawson, Industry, cautioned more than 600 family and friends of the Pennsylvania State Grange that, little by little, everyday, "we are losing our freedom in this country."

A champion of personal freedom and the right outlined in the U.S. Constitution to bear arms, Dawson, honored with the prestigious Granger of the Year Award Monday evening in Allentown during the 127th annual Grange convention, said he can't think of a better way to preserve those freedoms "than through the Grange," he said.

Dawson, who with wife Phyllis, son Barry, daughter Kathy, and five grandchildren, has been a proponent of the Grange for years. Paul himself has been with the Grange about 56 years — a member of Fairview #1351 all during that time. He joined Grange at the age of 16.

It wasn't long after that he enlisted in the Navy during World War II to help preserve those freedoms. Dawson was a radarman in the South Pacific but never lost his interest in serving the Grange.

What he enjoyed about Grange through the years, he said, were the lessons the Grange teaches. He pointed them out: "Integrity, honesty, faith, hope, fidelity and perseverance," Dawson recounted.

Heidi Bauman helps carry on the family legacy in Montgomery County where a centuries-old recipe for apple butter is used. A mixture of tart and sweet apples simmered in cider for seven hours turns into dark, rich apple butter. Turn to page B2 to read more about the Baumans and the fruit butters they prepare. Story by Lou Ann Good.

Set Clocks Back Tonight

The timeless saying, "spring forward, fall back" has arrived for your clocks. Time has come to change from Daylight Saving Time back to Eastern Standard Time. We "fall back" one hour at 2 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 31, Halloween. So turn your clocks back one hour before going to bed Saturday night. Some believe that "falling back" means you regain an hour of sleep, though the days are shorter. Keep in mind: animal feeding and milking schedules need to be adjusted accordingly.

Lancaster Farming Celebrates 44th

For the first time 44 years ago, Lancaster Farming appeared in rural mailboxes in southeast Pennsylvania. That was Nov. 4, 1955. Ever since, once a week, Lancaster Farming has supplied farm news, market and production reports, regular columns, special features, and advertising to our loyal readers. Farmers and agribusiness representatives really depend on us for farm news and information each week. We thank those who have helped us in our success.

Delmarva Broiler

ATLANTA, GA.
OCTOBER 27, 1999
DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds remained sufficient to keep the bulk of offerings cleared satisfactorily, particularly on the 3 pound sizes which were generally noted as tight. Live supplies were mostly moderate; weights were mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were moderate to moderately heavy. Less than truck-lot asking prices were 1 cent higher at 52 to 64 cents. Trade sentiment was steady to firm. In the parts complex bone-in breasts were adequate to well cleared. Wings remained tight at some plants, fully adequate elsewhere. Leg items and boneless skinless breasts were fully adequate for immediate needs

ATLANTA, GA.
NORTHEAST BROILER/FRYER PARTS - PART I FEDERAL-STATE

Trucklot buying activity was sluggish, and a few buyers reported problems finding trucks for immediate shipments. Offerings of bone-in breasts continued tight, and most buyers kept purchases to a minimum. All other items were generally more than adequate to cover current needs. Retail and distributive movement was seasonally quiet, and only slight optimism was noted for the beginning of the month. The market tone was firm on bone-in breasts and about steady on the balance.

PRICES PAID PER POUND, ICE PACKED AND CO2 PACKED BROILER/FRYER PARTS, DELIVERED TO FIRST RECEIVERS IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES.

NY Phil Frozen Eggs

ATLANTA, GA.

EASTERN REGION FROZEN EGGS, OCTOBER 22, 1999. FEDERAL-STATE

Prices were irregular, although most of the majority prices were unchanged except salt yolk which was unchanged to slightly lower. Trade sentiment ranged steady to firm as shell egg prices trended sharply higher and offerings were about adequate. Liquid and frozen eggs (ingredients included) processed under federal inspection in the Eastern region for the week ending October 16, 1999 were unchanged from last week, and 2 % more than last year. Shell egg supplies were occasionally short to adequate for needs.

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE

In Chicago and the Eastern region, prices were unchanged to higher. Elsewhere, prices were unchanged. The market tone was fully steady to firm. Demand ranged moderate to mostly good, and was best where retail features were either planned or in progress. Supplies were about adequate to occasionally tight, and the larger sizes were usually in the better position. On the West Coast, offerings remained short. Breaking stock supplies were no more than adequate from regular sources, and offerings of additional product were often limited and held with confidence. Light type hens were sufficient for trade needs.

USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News

Daily National Grain Market Summary

Wheat bids were slightly higher on export sales and optimism for new orders. Corn bids slipped lower again on harvest pressure and a pick up in farmer selling. Slight strength in soybean bids were due to traders corrections from recent sharp declines and lack of fresh export news. Wheat steady to 3 cents higher except Minneapolis 10 cents lower. Corn steady to 1 cent lower. Sorghum 3 cents lower. Soybeans steady to 5 cents higher. South Korea's overnight wheat purchase and indications Algeria could be in the market soon, offered support to wheat bids. Mid-week sales aren't fantastic, compared to last week but year to date figures are getting better. Reports that Algeria bought 4.5 million bushels of wheat from Germany was disturbing but talks that they are looking for another cargo or two could be good for the US. Pakistan could be back in the market soon due to new GSM-102 credits being restored to them. Corn bids were slightly lower, despite the substantial Japanese pur- chase overnight and South Korea has a tender tonight. Rapid harvest pro- gress continued to pressure prices as USDA estimates corn crop 77 percent complete. An increase in farmer selling has been reported in some areas. Soybean bids were steady to slightly higher with no real reasons to support the market. Harvest progress is good for soybeans with over 86 percent in bins. Export sales have not been good this past week for soybeans and nil this week. Rains continue in Argentina and is likely to spread on into Brazil. Spillover strength from corn trade and technical corrections are the major support factors.

Okalhoma City Feeder Cattle

Oklahoma City, OK
Wed Oct 27, 1999

USDA-OK Dept Ag Market News

Oklahoma National Stockyards - Weekly Cattle Summary

Compared to last week: Feeder cattle and calves 1.00-3.00 lower. Demand light to moderate for both classes. Calf demand limited by dry conditions in the wheat grazing belt. Demand for feeder cattle held in check by crowded feedlots. Quality average. Yearling cattle in medium flesh; calves in moderate to fleshy conditions. Weigh-ups average to full. Slaughter cows .50-1.50 lower. Slaughter bulls steady to 1.00 lower. Packer demand light as fall culling season is in full swing with the usual over supply available. Packer money well behind speculator's thoughts thus majority of cows returned to country to utilize abundant hay and cheap feed supplies. Many low quality bred cows in supply and most of these regardless of age will take another shot at calving. Total of 945 cows and bulls sold with 40 percent to packers. Receipts this week 12,590; last week 12,542; last year 14,860. Supply consisted of 47 percent yearlings and calves over 600 lbs; 53 percent calves and light yearlings under 600 lbs. Heifers comprised 40 percent of feeder and calf supply. Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis.

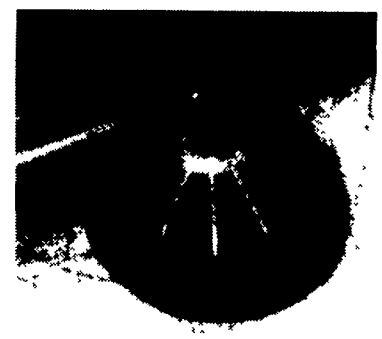
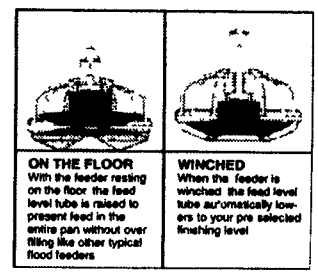
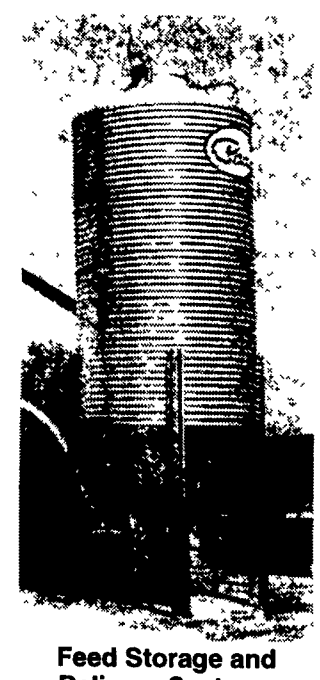
Pax
Boosts Your Efficiency and Products with these Innovative Products...


QUICK-START
The Pax QUICK-START™ pan feeding system grows chicks into FINISHED broilers efficiently.
Start chicks with the feeder resting on the floor and the feed pan entirely filled. The Pax QUICK-START™ pan provides easy access to plenty of fresh feed – with no accumulation of stale feed in the drop tube – attracting even the smallest chicks to begin feeding right away.


ON THE FLOOR With the feeder resting on the floor the feed level tube is raised to present feed in the entire pan without over filling like other typical flood feeders
WINCHED When the feeder is winched the feed level tube automatically lowers to your pre selected finishing level


Feed Storage and Delivery Systems
Flexible Auger for Low Volume, Standard Volume, High Volume, as well as High Moisture (up to 25°) and pellet applications.

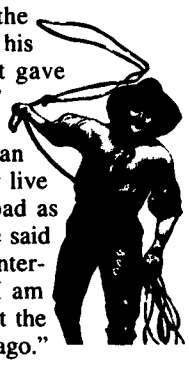
The Old Farmer's Almanac This Week With Almanac

NOVEMBER 1-7, 1999

NEW MOON, NOVEMBER 7.

THE COWBOY PHILOSOPHER

Will Rogers, born William Penn Adair on November 4, 1879, started his cowboy days on vaudeville and later joined the Ziegfeld Follies, in 1914. His talents were showcased on radio, on the stage, and in films, but it was perhaps his stint as a newspaper columnist that gave him the title "cowboy philosopher." More than a comedian, Will Rogers was a commentator on the American scene and politics. "I hope we never live to see the day when a thing is as bad as some of our newspapers make it," he said in 1934. About the foibles of the entertainment business, he confessed, "I am not a real movie star — I've still got the same wife I started out with 28 years ago."



I never knew a man I didn't like. – Will Rogers

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Want to help stop hunger? Go to www.thehungersite.com to make a free donation. One small act really can help!

EASY LEMON-PEPPER CHICKEN

1/3 cup fresh lemon juice
1/4 cup virgin olive oil
2 tablespoons cracked black peppercorns
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
4 boneless chicken breasts, skinned lemon slices, for garnish

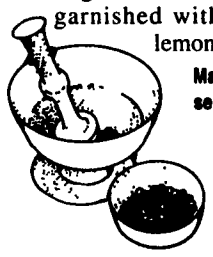
Combine first five ingredients. Pierce chicken breasts with a fork and pour the marinade over them. Allow chicken to marinate in the refrigerator for at least 30 minutes. When ready to cook, broil each breast for 3 to 5 minutes per side, until cooked through. Serve at once, garnished with extra lemon slices.



Makes 4 servings.

The Old Farmer's Weather Proverbs

On the first of November, if the weather holds clear, an end of the wheat-sowing do make for this year.

Look for a cold winter if the skunks go under the barn early.

Randy, Brian, Scott and Dennis Prissel, Prissel Valley Farms, Durand, Wisconsin

Prissels chose a "True Tax" lease. In fact, they leased a milking parlor, free stall barns, silos and other farm equipment. Along with fixed and 100% tax deductible lease payments, the leases protected their equity ratios by providing off balance sheet financing.

They chose Telmark for its knowledge of the dairy industry, service and reputation for financing. They also enjoyed working with their Telmark representative who personally knows the ups and downs of farming.

Brian Prissel and Telmark's Scott Vosters.

By financing with a lease, terms were kept to a minimum, allowing for the continued growth of the operation. Telmark's quick response allowed the Prissels to move quickly into their dairy expansion.

OPINION

No Chance To See The Beauty Of Fall Foliage In These Forests

President Clinton hopes to make as many as 40 million acres of federally owned forest off-limits not only to development and lumbering, but he also wants to make them visitor free by making them roadless areas. According to a recent Associated Press news article the president was traveling to George Washington National Forest in Virginia to announce that the forest's Little River area, comprising 27,248 acres was to be off limits to people. This forest is known for high ridges and knobs that offer stunning views of the Shenandoah Valley, and is home to hardwood trees such as oaks, hickories, poplar, and mountain ash.

Clinton is said to want this because he wants to leave a permanent environmental legacy. This self-serving effort totally refuses to recognize that federal forests are owned by the American people and not by the president. In addition, if a forest is left to it's own evolvement without proper management it self-destructs and this powerful natural renewable resource is lost to the wealth of the nation and in the end is lost to the enhancement of the environmental.

We believe it would be much better to provide scientific forest management to protect the trees from disease and decay, use the wood from some of the trees to increase the wealth of the nation, plant two trees for every one we use, and let the people enjoy the beauties of the national forests.

Now Is The Time

By John Schwartz

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Be Y2K Ready

Farmers need to understand how the millennium bug could affect their farm equipment. Pork, dairy and poultry operations need to develop contingency plans.

Electronic scales, moisture testers, grain drying equipment and crop storage ventilation systems used in grain elevators, can all be affected by the millennial bbug. Owners of pork, dairy an poultry farms need to be sure their climate control devices will not collapse on New Year's Day

Farmers with livestock feeding or milking systems, environmental control mechanisms in barns or confined feeding operations are advised to contact manufacturers to find out how they might be affected. By doing some planning now could save you a lot of problems on January 1, 2000.

To Set Farm Benchmarks

Benchmarks help you evaluate how well you are doing in comparison with other similar farms, according to Glenn Shirk, Lancaster County Extension Dairy Agent. There are a variety of data bases that may be used as benchmarks.

The agricultural service people you deal with including accountants, veterinarians, feed industry representatives and other consultants may have summary information for farms they work with that are similar to yours. In addition land grant universities, cooperatives and businesses have excellent data bases. Some of these are on the internet.

Benchmark brackets include profit per hundredweight of milk sold, total farm profit, return on investment, output per worker or cow, etc. Look at the results of dairy producers in the top 25 percent bracket. This can help you see what it might take for you to get to that level. It also gives you the opportunity to compare your business with your stiffest competition.

To Be Better Than Average

When you compare your farm business with averages of other farms, keep in mind that you should strive to be better than average if you intend to stay ahead of the pack, according to Glenn shirk, Lancaster County Extension Dairy Agent. Also, the average farm may bear little resemblance to your farm.

Thus, you may want to focus on data for farms that are similar to yours and to farms that are in the top 25 percent performance category. What makes other non agricultural businesses successful? Can we learn something from them?

You may want to consider benchmarking with some of them as well. By keeping data you are able to compare yourself with other businesses while monitoring trends in your own business. The question is: Are you making progress?

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "A bump in the road is either an obstacle to be fought or an opportunity to be enjoyed. It is up to you."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHEN BAD MEMORY IS A SIN!

October 31, 1999

Background Scripture:
Deuteronomy 8
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 85

"I forgot" is one of the most frequent excuses we hear today. Often, bad memory is an acceptable excuse if it is evident that there was no intention not to do what we were supposed to or to do what we were not supposed to do. We may not be pleased that someone "forgot" but we are much less liable to hold it against another person because we all suffer from bad memory from time to time.

At the same tiwm, "I forgot" is not likely to be acceptable when the consequences are hurtful to others. "I forgot" is no justification for an airplane pilot whose forgetting jeopardizes his or her passengers. Nor is it acceptable for a doctor whose bad memory impinges upon his patients' health. Forgetting your spouse's wedding anniversary is not likely to be easily overlooked either.

Forgetting God has even more serious consequences. He warns the people: "Take heed lest you forget the Lord your God . . ." (Deut. 8:11). How does one "forget" God? It is not a matter of forgetting that there is a God. We all know that and are likely to remember it. If we forget an obligation, it isn't because it is no longer in our memory, but because we give our attention to something else. That is the key to the bad memory problem: we fail to remember something because we have not judged it important enough to keep it in our consciousness.

"SHOW ME!"

Moses explains what constitutes "forgetting" the Lord: "Take heed lest you forget the Lord your God, by not keeping his commandments, and his ordinances and his statues" (8:11). Failing to keep these is the equivalent of "forgetting" him. You can't possibly remember God if you live in a way that is contrary to his commandments. "Remembering" is more a matter of "doing" than "thinking." Words that acknowledge "I remember you," are no match for deeds that say the same thing. As Eliza sings in My Fair Lady, "Don't speak of love, SHOW ME!" God sings that same song.

Moses gives the people of Israel a timely warning: "lest when you have eaten and are full, and have built goodly houses . . . and when your herds and flocks multiply, and your silver and gold is multiplied, and all that you have is multiplied, then . . . you forget the Lord your God . . ." (8:13,14). In the wilderness, as we noted last week, it is fairly easy to remember God because we know that we are dependent upon his grace. But when we are on Easy Street in the Promised Land it is easy to forget the Lord who put us there.

The abundance of things can easily become a false god. In those days when the "free world" contended with the Soviet Union for the minds and hearts of people, we frequently spoke of "godless Communism." Communism does have a god, but it is not the God of Jesus Christ. Communism's god is materialism, the conviction that happiness and fulfillment come with an abundant supply of material things.

MORAL LEAVENING

Yet, does not our free capitalistic society offer the same recipe for happiness and fulfillment: things! I was educated in the Wharton School of Finance & Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania. Capitalism, I concluded, is the best economic system the human race has yet devised, but it did not descend from heaven and it needs the moral leavening of Christianity to keep it from corrupting our souls. The gospel of Jesus Christ proclaims that there are values that transcend materialism. Consumerism may make some people a lot of money, but it will not satisfy people's hungry spirits. The so-called "laws of the market" shall not supersede the Ten Commandments of the Old Testament nor the Great Commandment of the New Testament.

Material prosperity is seductive, leading us from humility in the face of God's goodness to inordinate pride in our own efforts. "Beware lest you say in your heart, My power and the might of my hand have gotten me this wealth" (8:17). At that point we have truly forgotten God's grace and have wandered away from him. For what we follow, pretty much determines where we go.

Quality Dairying Makes The Difference

David Bigelow
PA DHIA Marketing Manager

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Outstanding somatic cell counts along with excellent production statistics are commonplace at Little Hill Farm in Lebanon County.

This third generation farm, which consists of 75 cows, averages 28,400 pounds of milk on the Holsteins, and maintains more than 23,000 pounds on the Brown Swiss herd. This is accomplished without BST on a 3x milking schedule.

Current outstanding somatic cell count on 58 Holsteins is 150,000 and 40,000 for 13 Brown Swiss.

Over the years, numerous production and quality awards have been earned by this high-achieving herd, including low somatic cell for Lebanon County in 1997 with 99,000, first place, 1997 county herd management award, and third place 1998 county herd management award.

This all-registered herd, situated on 150 acres, formed a partnership five years ago. The farm includes Rich Hill; Rich's sister, Terry; and Terry's husband, Kevin Shuey.

Having moved from Sussex County, New Jersey, in 1987, and later buying this farm from Rich's and Terry's father, the operators' good record keeping continues to be of utmost importance.

Consistent evaluation of the current ration, working hand-in-hand with Larry Beat of Pennfield Feeds, and the constant review of herd health with veterinarian Brian Reed, are a reflection of excellent management skills.

Successful udder health practices include predip, postdip, using individual towels, and constantly scraping down manure, which makes for low tolerance of mastitis.

Today PA DHIA continues to provide services to this herd with Linda Genth, 10-year veteran, providing the leg-work, which includes same-day test reports. The reports are used to monitor the last five-year steady climb in milk production. Terry is quick to point out that "reliability, accuracy, and Linda Genth's personality, along with the same-day test cow reports, are great, winning managing tools.

"What's new, Charlie?"

" Oh, I just got a loan for a bigger bulk tank, met with my retirement planner,
direct-marketed some cows, saved a bundle on fertilizer,
had the forage tested, and locked into a good milk price for the next six months."

Land O' Lakes, Mitsui Announce Dairy Foods Venture

ARDEN HILLS, Minn. — Land O' Lakes, Inc. (Arden Hills, Minn.) and Mitsui and Co., Ltd. (Tokyo, Japan) announced the establishment of a joint venture focusing on the development of a world-class cheese and whey production facility in California's Central Valley.

The initial structure of the venture will be a limited liability company, with Land O'Lakes holding 70 percent ownership and Mitsui holding a 30 percent share. Additional joint venture participants, from California and Japan, are anticipated as the project moves forward.

The plant, with an initial capacity of 3 million pounds of milk per day, will produce mozzarella and cheddar cheese, dried whey, and whey fractions. It is expected to be in operation by early 2001, with a significant expansion (bringing the plant's capacity to approximately 6 million pounds of milk daily) anticipated by 2003. The estimated cost of the project is $145 million.

Land O' Lakes President and Chief Executive Officer Jack Gherty said the project reflects Land O' Lakes commitment to being a leading supplier of dairy ingredients, particularly whey products, both domestically and globally, and will place the company in an even stronger position to serve the domestic market for mozzarella and cheddar cheese.

"This world-class facility, located right in the heart of North America's most productive milk shed, offers significant potential for both Land O' Lakes and Mitsui," Gherty said. "Further, the international nature of this new partnership can open the door to new global opportunity for both our organizations."

Jack Prince, Land O' Lakes executive vice president and chief operating officer for the dairy foods commodity business, said the new California plant is only one part of Land O' Lakes' dairy industry investment strategy.

"We are making major investments in upgrading, expanding, and modernizing our East Coast, Midwest, and West Coast production facilities," Prince said.

"We are committed to maintaining and growing market access for our 6,000 dairy producer-members, and to ensuring the highest quality products and service for our customers. To do that, we must maintain a strong national procurement, processing, distribution, and marketing system."

WB95PZ Zimmerman Water Bowl

The Unlimited Water Supply For Your Cows!

Low maintenance noncorrosive Delrin valve is self cleaning & simple to operate!

Now you can give your cows the water they need to produce more milk. With the Zimmerman Water Bowl, you can do it at no extra cost!

The bowls are designed to comply with known federal and local requirements when installed properly.*

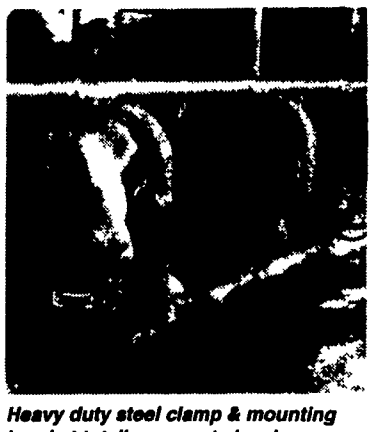
Cows are not designed to push a paddle when they need a drink. This unique watering system provides a continuous supply of fresh water in the way nature intended cows to drink. With a large capacity, fast recovery and a guarantee against breakage, the Zimmerman Water Bowl will revolutionize the way you water your herd.

*All bottom fill bowls require that approved back flow prevention devices be installed in potable water supply lines

Install in new or remodeled facilities or in most existing barns on manger or stall side!

- 12" in diameter & 8" deep.
- 3 gallon capacity- 6 times that of other bowls!
- Fast recovery- 3 gallons per minute at 40 psi.
- PVC construction- guaranteed unbreakable, inhibits bacterial growth.
- With nonrestrictive splash guard.
- Cleaner- water fill located at bottom.
- Bottom drain- for easy cleaning.
- Adjustable water level.

MORE WATER MEANS MORE MILK...NATURALLY!



Heavy duty steel clamp & mounting bracket totally supports bowl.

Two Coat Process!

Added Value With Our 2 Coat Process!

1 Five step metal preparation, including iron phosphate conversion coating, to enhance adhesion & prevent undercoat corrosion
2. Zinc rich epoxy powder undercoat
3 TGIC polyester powder top coat, baked at 400* to fuse costs, forming a cross link molecular bond

Fenbendazole specializes in the exceptional control of internal parasites. It was designed to set the standard for internal parasite control. Only Safe-Guard® controls the nine most damaging cattle parasites. Including lungworm, hookworm, and most immature worm growth stages*

Fast Acting. Fenbendazole rapidly stops egg shedding to prevent pasture recontamination for maximum results.

Convenient. Whether or not you want to handle your cows, there's a fenbendazole dewormer formulation for you

Strategic. With fenbendazole you can strategically treat your dairy cows on a seasonal or individual basis, whichever you think is best for your herd.

Approved for lactating dairy cattle
No milk withdrawal—
No milk discard

* Adult brown stomach worm and lungworm, plus adults and immatures of barberpole worm, small stomach worm, bankrupt worm, small intestinal worm, threadnecked worm, hookworm and nodular worm

Overall strategic objectives

- Allow replacements to attain maximum growth and development to reach breeding size unhampered by parasites.
- Maintain heifers as parasite-free, to prevent infection of the milking herd.
- Maintain control measures for all cows exposed to any parasites.
- Allow lactating cows to attain maximum lactation potential possible with their genetics and nutrition.
- Avoid wasting deworming dollars on cows in late lactation, dry or already parasite-free.

ing eggs and poultry meat. I feel strongly that we as an industry need to continue to attract young people with creative ideas and enthusiasm. As our industry grows and goes forward, the environmental pressures and marketing opportunities will increase. This will require individuals with special talents to help us solve problems. Our organization must find ways to be more pro-active in this area," Roenigk said.

Roenigk said that growing up in Butler County, he decided early that he wanted a career in ag business. He achieved an ag economics degree from Penn State, served two years in the Army, and worked 12 years as a sales district manager for Ralston Purina. The more he worked in ag-related businesses, the more Roenigk aspired to become part of Lancaster County's ag business.

"I always thought I wanted to be part of ag in Lancaster County. It's progressive and where good ideas come from. I'm impressed with the quality of job done in egg production and marketing," Roenigk said.

He had the break he was looking for when John and Sandy Melhorn offered him a job selling DeKalb chicks for Melhorn Sales, Service, and Trucking, Mount Joy.

The Roenigks chose to live in York in order to be near to Debi's sister, whose husband was dying from cancer. York's close proximity to Lancaster County enabled Roenigk to become immersed in the poultry industry.

After 10 years with Melhorn, Roenigk is putting his poultry background and feed experience to work as a sales representative for York Ag Products, Inc., York. For the past three years, Roenigk's sales area covers Pennsylvania, New York, and Maryland.

"We supply calcium chips, feeding limestone, and liquid molasses and other products to mills and producers," Roenigk said.

The county is fortunate to have key people in leadership who work for the common good of the industry, Roenigk believes.

"The poultry industry has successfully tackled some severe problems such as avian influenza and nutrient management," he said.

"Many people outside the area thought the county's poultry industry wouldn't survive. But we did. The problems have made us even stronger," Roenigk said.

As evidence, he points to the industry's lead in coming up with nutrient management plans.

He said, "New York and some of the other states are looking to our county to see what we've done in nutrient management.

"We all have a vested interest," Roenigk said of odor problems often associated with poultry farms. "No one lives closer to the manure source than the farmer. He is concerned about the odor, and strives to be a good neighbor."

Avian influenza has been eradicated from county flocks, Roenigk believes, because producers and industry didn't try to blame each other but took a positive approach to work together in sanitation procedures.

Roenigk believes it's essential that producers become involved in the poultry association. "It's an opportunity to voice opinions and concerns on a local level and see results.

"Promotion is everyone's job. Both producers and the industry want poultry to thrive and be profitable."

One of the promotional efforts the Association sponsors includes holding an annual dinner for teachers in Lancaster, York, Lebanon, and Berks counties. At the annual event, the lastest nutritional findings are shared with teachers to take back to students in cooking classes.

The event is considered the ideal way to educate consumers by reaching the youth.

"Our association must continue to find ways to promote our product. Eggs are an important part of our diet and the most important part of the food group," Roenigk said. "We must provide the right information to consumers."

Lancaster County Poultry Ambassador Dana Groff is the daughter of Charles and Carol Groff, poultry farmers from Quarryville.

Lancaster County Poultry Ambassador Dana Groff is congratulated by Secretary of Agriculture Samuel Hayes, right, and Rich Roenigk, president of the county poultry association.

The Roenigks have been married for 27 years. Debi teaches family and consumer sciences at Red Lion Middle School. The parents enjoy following and supporting their children's sports activities. Landon is employed by York College in food services. Lauralee is a senior at York Suburban High School, where she is active in soccer and swim team. She plans to study biology or sports exercise science at college.

Poultry Association Prepares For 21st Century

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Members and agri-industry representatives got their chance to see who will lead the Lancaster County Poultry Association into the 21st Century.

At the association's annual banquet at Willow Valley on Tuesday evening, the new leaders elected to a one-year term are Rich Roenigk, president; Nelson Groff, vice president; Jay Shannon, secretary; Becky Petit, treasurer. Directors of the organization are Andy Bradford, Roni Clark, Troy Eckert, Tom Fox, Joe Garber, Daniel Heller, John Mattilio, and Stephanie Townsend. Dr. John Schwartz, extension director, serves as advisor.

Dana Groff was introduced as the newly selected poultry ambassador. Dana lives on the poultry and dairy farm of her parents, Charles and Carol Groff, Quarryville. She will be responsible for visiting classrooms throughout the county to explain how poultry is raised and marketed.

The newly-elected president of the Lancaster County Poultry Association believes that promotion is every one's job.

One of the best places to find out exactly how poultry is being promoted is at the annual banquet, where the association's promotional involvement and educational events are recapped. These include the following:

- 4-H Embryology project where county classrooms are introduced to chick incubation and reproduction.
- Governor's Luncheon, where Poultry Association officers serve dinner at Water Street Rescue mission in honor of the state's governor.
- Jay Irwin Scholarship, which awards a $1,000 to a student studying poultry science at Penn State.
- Poultry Progress Day is the largest one-day educational poultry event in the northeast. A variety of professors and industry people present information about raising healthier flocks, cleaner operations, and effective marketing.
- In the spring, school home economists from Lancaster, Lebanon, York, and Berks counties are welcomed to an annual dinner where they are taught the latest nutrition information available on poultry and eggs. These teachers are the connection to the next generation of consumers. Teachers also select a student who shows in interest in poultry to receive a savings bond.
- The poultry ambassador receives a $1,000 scholarship for her work in telling elementary students how poultry is raised and distributed. The poultry ambassador works with the Ag in the Classroom program, which holds teaching sessions in all county elementary schools.

As treasurer for the past year, Andy Long reported that $6,000 remains in the operating budget. The primary source of income is through individual and corporate membership fees of the association.

The association's major fundraiser is a food booth at the Ephrata Fair. Sold are poultry dishes such as chicken corn soup, turkey barbecue, chicken breast sandwiches, and pickled eggs. Problems with weather and electricity hindered sales, but this year's sales amounted to $6,300. After expenses, profits were $3,041, according to Clair High, who is in charge of the fundraiser.

Professional Barn Meeting Held At Kreiders Dairy

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — A professional dairy barn meeting was held Wednesday at the Kreider Dairy Farms, near Manheim, as an educational event designed to show the latest in dairy barn facilities. In addition, industry experts stationed at seven key areas of the dairy operation highlighted important management practices.

With 1,116 stalls in six rows and an 850-foot long feed alley down the center, the new dairy barn at Kreider Farms boasts more than two acres under roof. At 112 feet in width, it's easily wide enough to accommodate an ocean liner.

The openness of the barn contributes a lot to the cow comfort, since lots of fresh air can flow through naturally. But just in case you want a little more of a breeze, you can turn on as many as 116 fans. And there's a misting system too for extra hot days.

The sides of the barn have two sets of curtains. The lower ones are cranked up manually during cool weather; the upper ones are controlled by temperature sensors.

Alley scrapers keep the alleys clean around the clock. Manure drops into a pit at the center of the barn and is pumped from there to one of the old 400-cow free-stall barns that has manure storage underneath it.

When they're eating, the cows stand on rubber belting. When they're resting, they're on mattresses covered with wood shavings.

Triple-H Construction, builders of the new complex, along with Fisher & Thompson, Inc., who put in the parlor, and the Kreider Family and Phil and Julian, have kept efficiency and cow comfort concepts in mind wherever they could. The lighting in the 95,200-square-foot barn, for example, is controlled by sensors as well as timers. "We want to have certain periods of darkness, or at least reduced lighting for the cows at night," P.J. explained.

Even the holding area includes some special considerations. As the cows approach the parlor, for example, a flush system goes into action to clean their feet. And although the capacity of the holding area is 350 cows, they spend less time waiting there than 100 cows did in the old set-up.

A 54-stall Westfalia carousel parlor — the biggest rotary in existence this side of the Mississippi River — is the milking center's main attraction. Westfalia engineers have audited its performance here at Kreiders' and rated it at 315 cows per hour. "It'll do better than that," P.J. announced confidently. He chose the rotary milking system because cow flow is never a problem, people don't have to keep running from one end of the parlor to the other, as they do with linear parlors, and it's no catastrophe if several units become inoperable for some reason. The next stall will come around within seconds and you just keep going.

Compared to the first rotary parlors, today's parlors are of much stronger construction and the mechanical considerations have been really improved. While the old carousels had steel platforms for the cows to stand on, which ended up rusting, warping and bending, the new platforms are made of concrete that is several inches thick. More rollers are underneath to support the weight — two underneath each stall. They're made of a super tough plastic, as opposed to metal, because they run smoother and quieter. It's estimated that each stall, with cow, weighs about a ton, meaning that the 54-stall parlor and cows weighs approximately 108,000 pounds.

Heavy? Sure. But a one-and-a-half horsepower motor can turn the whole thing with ease.

One revolution of the carousel currently takes eight minutes, during which 54 cows can be milked. But, on average, it takes only five minutes for any of the cows to be milked out. So there's room for cranking up the speed considerably, P.J. explains. It's basically just a matter of cow flow and the labor situation.

A unique feature of this carousel is that a stainless steel water trough is at the head end of every cow. The Kreiders and P.J. thought it would be a good idea to give the cows a chance to drink while they're in the parlor, and they do.

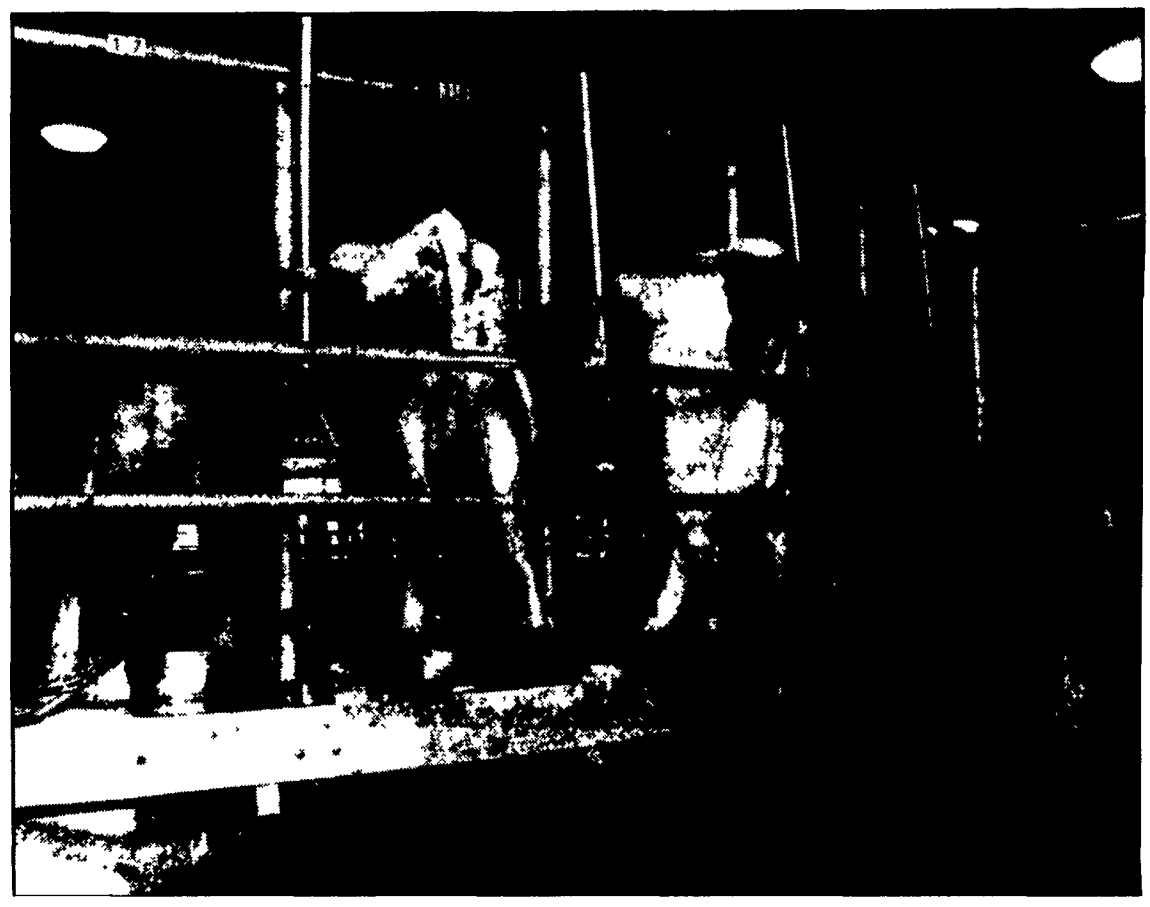
Every cow has a transponder on the left front leg. Aside from automatically identifying her every time she steps onto the carousel, which is three times a day, the transponder will also send an alert of possible health problems or estrus, measuring her activity.

A set of gates in the big barn are of particular interest because they operate at the touch of a button. They are designed to work in all directions of a square "interchange," meaning that they close in the (north-south) position, while opening in the (east-west) position. This allows vehicles such as tractors and mixer wagons to pass down through the feed alley without the chance of cows getting out of their housing area.

The cows are offered fresh feed twice a day. The ration currently consists of corn silage, soybean meal, cottonseed, high-moisture ear corn, rye straw, wet brewers' grains, and a mineral blend mix.

Ultimate responsibility of Kreider Farms' overall management falls to Ron Kreider, who is following in the footsteps of his father, Noah Kreider.

Commercial sponsors of the event included: Aerotech Inc.; Albers Manuf. Co.; Cargill; Bomberger's Store (Tile); J. Steven Burkhart, Excavator; Emmert Farm Distributing; Fabral; First Union Agri-Finance Department; Fisher & Thompson, Inc.; Genex/CRI; E.H. Gochnauer & Sons, Inc.; Groffdale Concrete Walls, Inc.; C.M. Extension; Purina Mills; Rigidply Rafters, Inc.; Rohrer's Quarry, Inc.; Shank Door Company; and Triple H Construction.



At Kreider Dairy Farms, Manheim, a dairy seminar on Wednesday, attracted top dairy farmers and industry leaders. Above, these attendees meet early in the day to be assigned to one of seven meeting points around the farm designated as places of interest to learn about the management of large dairy operations. Below, a section of the rotary milking parlor is shown.

Sources Of Risk In Farming

Some risks are unique to agriculture, such as the risk of bad weather significantly reducing yields within a given year. Other risks, such as the price or institutional risks discussed below, while common to all businesses, reflect an added economic cost to the producer.

Production or yield risk occurs because agriculture is affected by many uncontrollable events that are often related to weather, including excessive or insufficient rainfall, extreme temperatures, hail, insects, and diseases. Technology plays a key role in production risk in farming. The rapid introduction of new crop varieties and production techniques often offers the potential for improved efficiency, but may at times yield poor results, particularly in the short term. In contrast, the threat of obsolescence exists with certain practices (for example, using machinery for which parts are no longer available), which creates another, and different, kind of risk.

Price or market risk reflects risks associated with changes in the price of output or of inputs that may occur after the commitment to production has begun. In agriculture, production generally is a lengthy process. Livestock production, for example, typically requires ongoing investments in feed and equipment that may not produce returns for several months or years. Because markets are generally complex and involve both domestic and international considerations, producer returns may be dramatically affected by events in far-removed regions of the world.

Institutional risk results from changes in policies and regulations that affect agriculture. This type of risk is generally seen as unanticipated production constraints or price changes for inputs or for output. For example, changes in government rules regarding the use of pesticides (for crops) or drugs (for livestock) may alter the cost of production or a foreign country's decision to limit imports of a certain crop may reduce that crop's price. Other institutional risks may arise from changes in policies on the disposal of animal manure, restrictions in conservation practices or land use, or changes in income tax policy or credit policy.

Farmers are also subject to the human or personal risks that are common to all business operators. Disruptive changes may result from such events as death, divorce, injury, or the poor health of a principal in the firm. In addition, the changing objectives of individuals involved in the farming enterprise may have significant effects on the long term health of the operation.

Asset risk is also common to all businesses and involves theft, fire, or other loss or damage to equipment, buildings, and livestock. A type of risk that appears to be of growing importance is contracting risk, which involves the reliability of contracting partners.

Financial risk results from the way the firm's capital is obtained and financed. A farmer may be subject to fluctuations in interest rates on borrowed capital, or face cash flow difficulties if there are insufficient funds to repay creditors. The use of borrowed funds means that a share of the returns from the business must be allocated to meeting debt payments. Even when a farm is 100-percent owner financed, the operator's capital is still exposed to the probability of losing equity or net worth.

Survey Results

Several surveys have asked farmers about the most important types of risk that they confront in their farming operations. In 1996, USDA's Agricultural Resource Management Study, (ARMS), a nationwide survey of farm operators, questioned farmers as to their degree of concern about factors affecting the operation of their farms. The concerns cited in the survey varied from "uncertainty in commodity prices" to "ability to adopt new technology."

Wheat, corn, soybean, tobacco and certain other producers answering the survey were more concerned about yield and price variability than any of the other categories. Producers of other field crops, nursery and greenhouse crops, beef cattle, and poultry were relatively more concerned about changes in laws and regulations.

USDA Proposes Fee Increase

WASHINGTON, D.C. — USDA proposes to increase Livestock and Seed Program's seed inspection fees.

Kathleen Merrigan, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said the fee increase will cover the cost of testing and issuing Federal Seed Analysis Certificates. Major factors contributing to the need for the changes in fees are increased employee salaries, rent, and supplies.

The proposal would raise the hourly fee for testing and issuing certificates from $40.40 per hour to $44.40 per hour. It would also raise the fee for issuing additional duplicate certificates from $10.10 to $11.10.

The seed inspection program is conducted under the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 on a voluntary, fee-for-service basis. Since the act requires that fees for services must be equal to the cost of providing service, the proposed fee increases would ensure that the program is self supporting.

The proposal will be published in the Oct. 29 Federal Register. Comments, should be received no later than Nov. 29 and should be sent to Richard C. Payne, Acting Chief, Seed Regulatory and Testing Branch, Room 209, Building 306, BARC-E., Beltsville, MD 20705-2350.

We're Losing Our Freedoms, Says Granger Of Year At State Banquet

"And cooperation. I believe in personal liberties. And I am overwhelmed the ways we are losing our freedoms."

Like many young men and women of the time, Dawson enlisted, sometimes waiting in line for the chance to fight for freedom.

In 1946, he said, more than 3,000 joined the state Grange at one time. But ever since, agriculture and the rural economy have changed, promoting new "diversities," he said. "We've had to pick our little niches, to get people interested in participating."

Dawson, who has served on the Ohioville Borough Council for 24 years, began a hunting club within the Fairview Grange about a year ago, the Whitetail Group. He also helped sell a parcel of Grange property to the Ohioville Fire Department for truck and equipment housing. He was directly involved in the installation of a handicapped-use ramp to the entrance of the Grange hall. Dawson donates material and time to enhance the building housing the Grange and has worked with legislators on several issues.

In a letter of recommendation submitted by Janet E. Fishovitz, Pennsylvania State Grange Flora, Fishovitz refers to Dawson as "Mr. Grange."

She wrote, "(Dawson) speaks Grange to everyone and truly is always seeking to get new members."

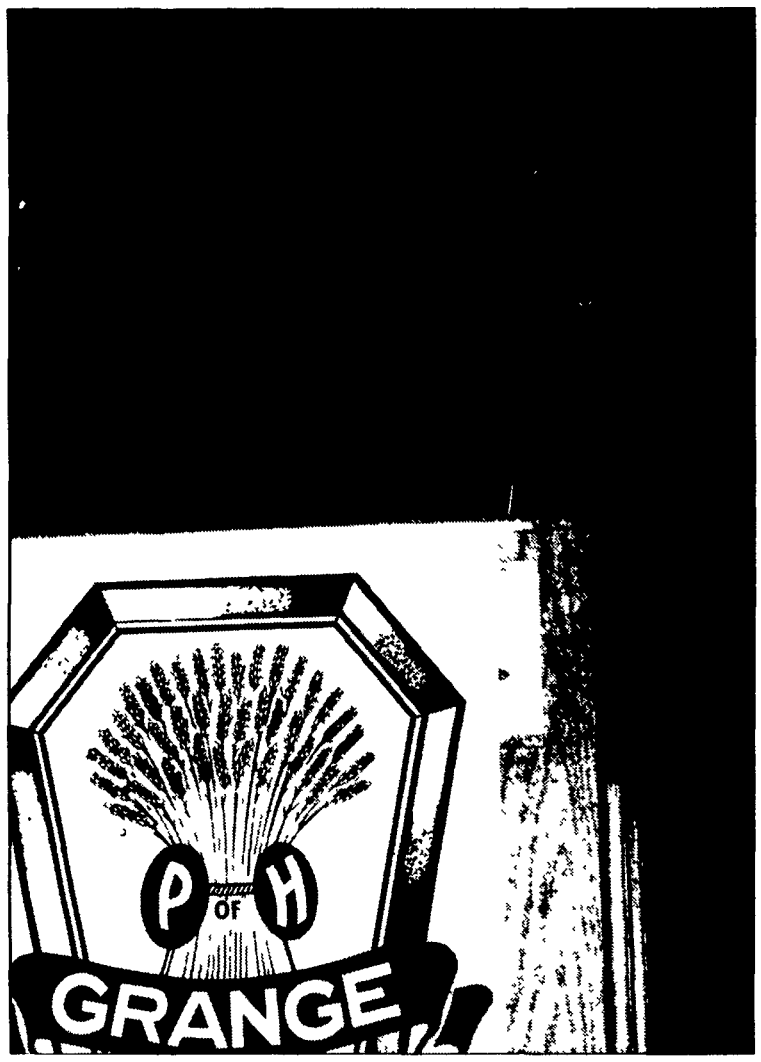
Dawson served many offices in his subordinate Grange, of which *he is Master, as Past Pomona Mas*ter, and legislative chairman for the Pennsylvania State Grange.

When Dawson accepted the award from Bill Steel, state Grange Master, Dawson said, "There isn't anything I'm more proud of than the Grange organization."

Dawson said, "If you don't get out to work to build the Grange, it won't grow. If you don't ask (people) to join Grange, they won't join. It behooves everyone to ask everyone you think should join the Grange. You don't know until you ask." If you do ask, he said, "you'd be surprised how many of them say 'yes.'"

The main challenge for Grange is to spread the word about Grange itself. "We're not getting the message out about what the organization is, how great it is, and what it stands for," he said.

Paul and Phyllis Dawson have a son, Barry, a minister, married to Shelly, who work in Tokyo, Japan; a daughter, Kathy Austin, married to Paul, in Salisbury, Md.; and five grandchildren.



At the 127th annual banquet meeting Monday evening in Allentown, Charles, pictured here, and Judy Hallman of the Pennsylvania Foster Parents Association spoke about the work Grange has done for the association.

The 1998 Granger of the Year, Jennifer Viscusi, said that she helped experience her goal of speaking about Grange to the schools. She thanked those who helped her volunteer time for youth to "allow them to take control into the next generation," according to Viscusi.

At the 127th annual banquet meeting Monday evening in Allentown, Charles and Judy Hallman of the Pennsylvania Foster Parents Association spoke about the work Grange has done for the association.

Charles, who grew up in a small farm in Montgomery County, said that the association deals with between 6,000-7,000 foster parents at any time and 15,000-16,000 foster children. "To me, that's terrible," said Hallman.

He said, with the fund-raising work done by the Grange, the association can do what it can "to keep kids in our homes," to break the cycles of abuse, to "nurture them and keep them out of the system."

Through the work of the Bowl Across America program, about $18,000 was raised at the national level, and Pennsylvania's contribution was all but $4,000. The Valley Grange in York County alone raised between $12,000- $14,000.

At the banquet, the Most Valuable Recruiter award went to Evelyn Wood, Washington. Accepting for Wood was Bob Moore, Washington.

Glenn Gross, Emlenton, accepted the All-Star Grange Award for Scrubgrass Grange, Number 1705, Clintonville.

State Grange awards, county level, were given to Berks Pomona #43, first place; Huntingdon, Pomona #6, second place; and Northumberland/Montour/Union, Pomona #31, third.

State Grange awards, subordinate Granges, were first place, Virginville Grange, Kutztown; second place, Scrubgrass, Clintonville; third, Middletown; and fourth, Fort Granville, Lewistown.

The Grange also honored the policeman and firefighter of the year. Receiving the award for police work was Donald Stewart Jr., Bern Township Police Department. Firefighter honors went to Ken Zaorski, Mount Pleasant Fire Company.

The Grange also honored members in the women's activities and youth departments and the Junior Grange during the convention, which ran from Oct. 23- 26. The women's activities department announced that more than 5,800 stuffed toys had been made and donated to area charities, domestic abuse shelters, hospitals, and ambulance services.

Top toy-making Granges are, under 100 members, Elaine Gordon, women's activities director, Alleghenyville Grange #2065, Berks County, 663 toys; 100-199 members, Betty Yeager, director of Kutztown Grange #1836, Berks County, 546 toys; more than 200 members, Eleanor Hill and Esther Stitzel, 1999 co-directors of Virginville Grange #1832, Berks County, 593 toys.

In the youth department, Carol Kushman of Lawrence County Pomona Grange #65 was selected Pomona Youth Chairperson of the Year. Jim Wertz of Brokenstraw Grange #407, Warren County, was cited as the Subordinate Youth Chairperson of the Year.

Kelly Van Ord, Pennsylvania State Grange junior director, was named Junior Grange Leader of the Year. The award is given to the Junior Grange leader whose juniors excelled at programs throughout the past year. Virginville Junior Grange was the recipient of the Achievement Award, which recognizes local units for outstanding service to the community through the various programs and projects sponsored by Grange.

Chris Straub of Stony Point Grange #1694, Mercer County, placed first in the 19-29 age group with his speech on "The Definition of Success." Mary Ann Buckley, Lincoln Grange #914, Huntingdon County, captured top prize in the 30 and older age bracket with her speech on the "The Values of Life and Time."

Jennifer Viscusi of Wesley Grange #1675, Venango County, and Broock Winger, Scrubgrass Junior Grange #348, were both duel winners in the Sign-A-Song, taking first in their respective individual divisions and as partners in the group category. Viscusi was first in the adult division and Winger was first in the junior division (ages 5-14) for the second consecutive year.

Deaf Activities group made a monetary donation during the annual convention to a charity. Deaf Activities Director Pat Beck presented a check for $1,500 to Lois Steele, who represented the Pennsylvania Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf, a professional organization for sign language interpreters which provides professional support and training.

Placing in public speaking were (ages 20-29): 1. Chris Straub. 2. Jennifer Viscusi. 3. Brian Ebersole. Ages 30 and Older: 1. Mary Ann Buckley. 2. JoAnn Keith. 3. Ila May McMillin.

In the Sign-A-Song, individual placings were: 1. Jennifer Viscusi. 2. Mary Ann Buckley. 3. Brian Ebersole. In the junior division, placings were: 1. Broock Winger. 2. Jodi Keith. 3. Catherine Carber-

Plum Pox Virus Detected

the USDA, working together, have quarantined Huntington and Latimore townships in Adams County, according to Bill Kleiner, Penn State extension director/tree fruit for Adams County.

The quarantine means no transporting of plant material in or out of the townships "and that applies to homeowners, too," Kleiner said.

He said that state and federal agents are in the field working quickly to identify diseased trees before the seasonal drop-off of leaves. The virus is difficult to identify. In peaches, the symptoms appear in the first leaves to expand and consist of chlorotic vein-clearing and vein-bending, with twisting and distortion of the lamina, or tissue of the leaf.

USDA agents are also attempting to find out how the virus arrived in Adams County, Kleiner said.

He theorized that hobbyists who bud trees sometimes don't know the rules about transporting such vegetation and it's possible the disease was introduced this way. European documentation indicates the most important method of spreading the virus is by diseased plant material. It can also spread by aphids.

Lyle B. Forer, director of the state Bureau of Plant Industry, said his department has known about the problem for about a month. It took some time to identify what caused the mottling and spotting on the peaches because the tree disease had never before been seen in North America. However, the disease has been found in Chile, South America, and nearly devastated stone-fruit crops in Europe where it's been under scientific study for almost a century.

In fact, the USDA had to obtain antibodies from Europe to confirm the Adams County virus. While waiting for the antibodies, Forer said, the PDA performed "a more generic test" that gave the U.S. scientists a good idea that their fears were about to be realized.

While the outlook for growers of stonefruits such as peaches, nectarines, plums, and apricots in Adams County is alarming, state Department of Agriculture Secretary Samuel Hayes said consumers should not be concerned because "the organism cannot be transmitted to humans. The fruit is safe for human consumption and not a concern for the consumer."

The tree is a different story, Hayes said, noting that the longer it is infected the more there will be a drop-off in fruit production.

Hayes traveled to Biglerville Monday night to meet with fruitgrowers to assure them that officials are working quickly to curtail the spread of the disease.

Hayes explained that European scientists who are experts in the virus will be invited to the United States soon to help with the problem. Hayes said it's possible some of the scientists will come from the Netherlands because that country has a stringent protocol for dealing with the virus.

Forer said Europe "spent huge amounts of money to minimize the impact to make sure the trees planted were clean and to limit distribution."

Fortunately, the strain of the virus in Adams County has been identified as the D strain, which has been described as less aggressive than other strains.

According to information supplied by Kleiner, the virus was first seen in southwest Bulgaria about 1918. Since then, the disease has been widely disseminated in planting material to most of Europe with the exception of Scandinavia.

Kleiner said that while it is still early in the investigation, if the infected trees are eradicated, the fruitgrowers, unlike the farmers who lost chickens to avian flu, will not be able to start up again in a few months. "It will take six years before a tree produces a peach," Kleiner said.

To Friends of Agriculture:

The Kutztown Area Young Farmer Chapter will host the 2000 Pennsylvania Young Farmer Winter Convention, held at the Sheraton Berkshire, Reading on February 8 –10, 2000. We are excited about this opportunity to show others our beautiful Berks County, and we ask for your cooperation and support.

More than 250 farmers and their wives from across the state will attend and benefit from the educational tours and workshops. There will be business meetings with the state officers and delegate meetings for Young Farmers from each chapter. The women will enjoy crafts and educational programs.

We invite your organization to participate in this Conference either educationally, financially or both. We offer these options for your consideration:

1. Educational Exhibit – We will welcome as many exhibits as possible. However, prime exhibit space is limited to a first-come, first-served basis.
2. Financial Sponsor – Contribution of $500.00 or more. The Conference will recognize the individual, group or business in the printed program as a sponsor of one of the meals. You are provided one free educational exhibit space and three free meal tickets.
3. Financial Donor – Contribution of $200.00 or more. You are provided with one free educational exhibit space and one free meal ticket.
4. Financial Contributor – Contribution of $100.00 - $200.00.
5. Financial Supporter – Gift of $99.00 or less.

All parties making financial contributions will be listed by category in the program.

$15.52 For September Milk

ALBANY, N.Y. — Dairy farmers who supplied regulated milk dealers (handlers) under the New York-New Jersey marketing orders during September 1999 will be paid by handlers on the basis of a uniform price of $15.52 per hundredweight (33.4 cents per quart); the price for the corresponding month last year was $15.98 per hundredweight.

The price was $14.16 in August 1999. The uniform price is a marketwide weighted average of the value of farm milk used for fluid and manufactured dairy products.

A total of 9,004 dairy farmers supplied handlers regulated under the New York-New Jersey marketing orders with 934,551,043 pounds of milk during September 1999. This was a decrease of 0.2 percent (about 2 million pounds) from last year. The gross value to dairy farmers for milk deliveries was $146,120,279.12. This included differentials required to be paid to dairy farmers but not premiums, deductions authorized by the farmer, or assessments.

Regulated handlers used 386,272,090 pounds of milk for Class 1, 41.3 percent of the total. This milk is used for fluid milk products such as homogenized, flavored, low test, and skim milks. For September 1999, handlers paid $16.01 per hundredweight (34.4 cents per quart) for Class I milk compared with $17.19 a year ago.

Handlers used 155,665,779 pounds of milk for Class II products, 16.7 percent of the total. Class II products include fluid cream, eggnog, ricotta and cottage cheeses, ice cream, and yogurt. Handlers paid $13.89 per hundredweight for this milk.

Milk used to manufacture Class III products including butter, cheese (other than ricotta and cottage cheeses), and whole milk powder totaled 363,649,061 pounds (38.9 percent of the total). Handlers paid $16.32 per hundredweight for this milk.

Milk used to manufacture nonfat dry milk (Class III-A) totaled 28,964,113 pounds (3.1 percent of the total). Handlers paid $12.43 per hundredweight for this milk.

The uniform price is based on milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat. For September 1999, there was a price differential of 12.6 cents for each one-tenth of one percent that the milk tested above or below the 3.5 percent standard.

All prices quoted are for bulk tank milk received from farms in the 201-210 mile zone from New York City.

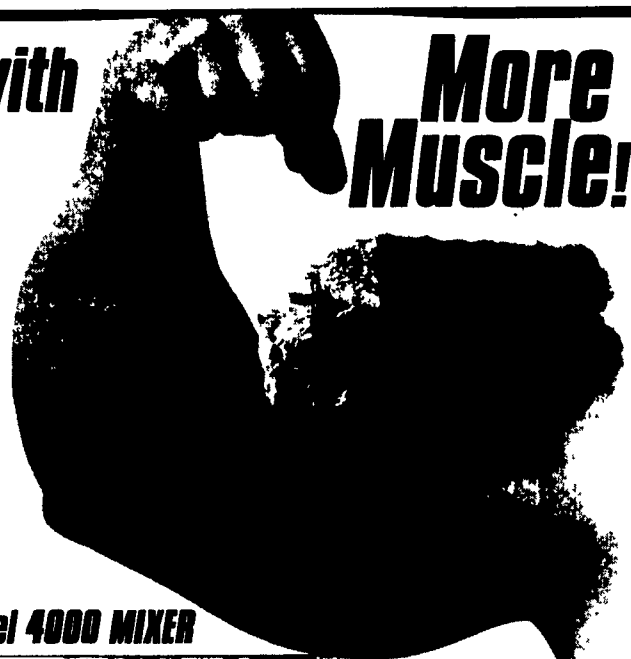
The Mixer with More Muscle!

Mix square bales of hay faster with new features.



Model 4000 MIXER

- New tub design plus full-length breaker bar improves mixing with less power so you can feed more hay. A 3/8-inch bottom pan adds extra service life. Welds are strong and tolerances precise for stronger side walls. You get more sturdiness and durability in a new Model 4000 Mixer. New design of transition area in lower auger improves feed flow and reduces torque.
- New design of discharge door frame allows a more-complete mix of ration. Choose from belt or auger discharges. Choose various discharge lengths. Increase operator convenience and reduce feeding time with optional hydraulic height control of discharge.
- Improved drive train provides reliable performance. A shear bolt helps protect the planetary and lower-auger roller chain and sprockets.

Ask for a demonstration!

Struck-level capacities of 205, 305 and 380 cubic feet. Optional side extensions provide struck-level capacities of 232, 343 and 428 cubic feet.

For really tough hay, add knives made from 1/4-inch Quadra-Shark™ steel. The through-hardened knives feature scalloped cutting edges for reduced torque.

4-Year-Old Captures New Holland Dairy Show

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — "Brismer Charles Necta," the 4-year-old champion of the mature fresh cow class, took home supreme champion of the New Holland Sales Stables, Inc. Mixed Breed Dairy Show and Sale Wednesday.

The cow, owned by Jim Hostetter, Annville, is rated VG-87 and is milking 93 pounds (S: Boulet Charles, D: 83 Pt. Lincoln, with a GD VG-86, Robthom Premier).

Judge Jim Burdette, Chambersburg, said he liked the "tremendous size and scale" of the cow, which has a "really good udder." He spoke about the cow's body rib and how confident she moved on her feet.

Exhibitor Jim Hostetter purchased the cow this past year from Brian Piela, Bernardston, Mass. Hostetter said this is the second time in a row he captured the New Holland dairy show championship.

Burdette, who won premier breeder this year at Eastern National, chose the reserve champion from the same division as the supreme. Curtmar Jed Lisa, also a 4-year-old (S: Juniper Rotate Jed- ET, D: Belcher Process Wendy), exhibited by Stonehurst Farm, Strasburg. The cow was shown by Harold Welk.

Burdette said the reserve, a "dairy kind of cow," was "high and wide in the udder." Stonehurst was represented at the show by Harold and Donald Welk.

Burdette awarded an honorable mention to Benjamin Mickey for the 7-year-old cow, Rohart Stardom Dena, rated VG-87, which also won this year's supreme champion at the South Mountain Fair and the grand at the South Central District Show, according to the show catalog.

Mickey also won best udder, fresh. Jim Hostetter picked up best udder, dry.

Burdette told those watching the show that this "is certainly a nice assembly of cows before you today, folks."

The supreme was purchased by Daniel Albright, Landisburg, for $8,000.

The reserve was purchased by Todd Lohr for $4,700.

Total sales volume was more than $81,000. Top 25 cows not including grand and reserve champion averaged $2,700. Top 100 cows not including grand and reserve champion averaged $1,970. According to the Sales Stables, there weree 100 registered buyers, representing New York, Maryland, Massachusetts, Kansas, and Canada.

CLINTON, N.J. — When Lebanon resident Robert LeCompte began farming his 85-acre property near the Round Valley Reservoir, he noticed water collected on the site in a swale running through the property.

Thirty years ago, an entrepreneur like LeCompte might have addressed the problem by dumping tons of fill dirt on the eroded, unsightly spot.

But at the end of the 20th century, with more than half New Jersey's wetlands — some 584,000 acres — lost to development, LeCompte decided to give Mother Nature a helping hand.

The result: Hunterdon County's first wetlands creation project and the restoration of a full half acre of this unique natural resource. What was once a soil erosion problem during heavy runoff is now the site of two quarter-acre wetland pools, and the new home of nearly 700 fish, waterfowl, amphibians and reptiles commonly found in New Jersey wetlands.

"I remember catching polliwogs and getting my dungarees wet wading in marshes and ponds as a boy," said LeCompte, owner of Polytek, a liquid rubber manufacturing company founded in Hunterdon County. "I saw a chance to help nature along and maybe give my own grandkids the thrill of that some kind of experience."

LeCompte contacted the Hunterdon County Soil Conservation District and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service seeking information on creating a wetlands environment on his farm. The county Soil Conservation District provided technical advice for the project, and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service contributed about $2,000 of funding through its Partners for Fish and Wildlife Program. LeCompte provided additional funds, the site and labor.

Although dozens of wetlands creation projects have been undertaken in New Jersey since the state launch of the Partners program in 1991, LeCompte's project is the first in Hunterdon County, according to D.J. Monette, a fish and wildlife biologist for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service recently presented LeCompte with a certificate of appreciation for his efforts on behalf of the state's environment.

Allegheny, Centre County Residents Named To Executive Board

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Allegheny and Centre County residents were named to the Pennsylvania State Grange's Executive Committee during the 127th annual convention here at the Hilton Hotel.

Lee Pressler of Port Matilda, Centre County, was re-elected to the committee for a four-year term and Carl Rudy of Sewickley was elected for three years to fill an unexpired term vacated by an unexpected vacancy just prior to the session. Both were elected by about 600 delegates, representing more than 400 Subordinate (local) Grange chapters at the 1999 session, which was hosted by the Lehigh/Northampton Pomona Grange.

As members of the State Grange's Executive Committee, they will assist the Master (president) of the State Grange in the decision-making process; report at the state convention to the delegate body; generate ideas to promote the Grange; provide oversight for the property and financial resources of the State Grange, and serve on the board for the Grange Foundation, which provides scholarships to members furthering their education in college.

Pressler, who is retired from the United States Air Force, is a member of Centre County Pomona Grange #13 and Halfmoon Grange #290, where he is the assistant steward. Pressler is a member of the Centre County Grange Fair Encampment and its executive site strategic planning and sewer committees. Past Grange offices held at Halfmoon Grange include assistant steward and overseer (vice president), and he has served as the Master of the Pomona Grange.

Outside the Grange, Presslers is a member and head usher at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in State College. The husband of Judy Pressler, they are the parents of one child.

Rudy, who is also retired, is a 39-year member of Mt. Nebo Grange #1872 and Allegheny Pomona Grange #42. He is the Master of Mt. Nebo Grange, a state deputy who represents Allegheny Pomona Grange for the State Master, and steward in the Pomona Grange. Past offices held include Pomona Master and overseer.

Rudy has the distinction of receiving the organization's highest honor in 1984 when he was named the Granger of the Year. The award is given to the member who demonstrates exemplary service to the Grange and other community service organizations. He was also recognized in 1999 by the Community Service Department with the State Deputy Award.

Hunterdon County's

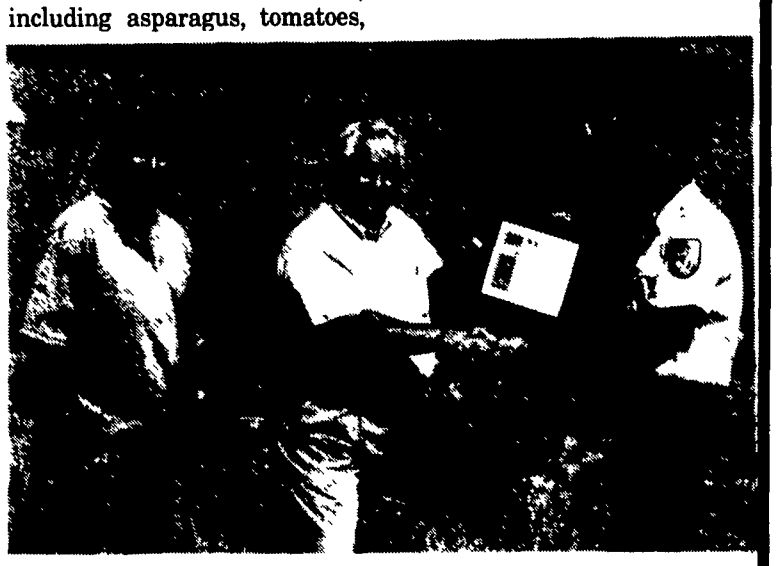
Reclaiming wetlands lost to development is one of the prime objectives of the partners program, according to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife service. Soil Conservationist Ciro Lo Pinto of the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service says it is likely the new pond sites on LeCompte's land were wetlands at the beginning of the 20th century. "In our lifetime there have been no wetlands there, but prior to clearing for farm land there probably were wetlands on this site." Lo Pinto said.

From conceptualization to completion, the Valley Crest Farm project took a few months to finish and the actual wetlands construction required four days of full-time labor by two workers. Runoff from recent thunderstorms filled the wetlands and they have been stocked with nearly 700 fish commonly found in New Jersey wetlands, including sunnies, catfish, bass and minnows. The new environment has already attracted waterfowl, reptiles, amphibians and insects.

Wetlands are an integral part of New Jersey's ecosystem, providing habitat and drinking water for threatened wildlife, and recharging groundwater, Lo Pinto said. For LeCompte, wetlands – from the cranberry bogs of South Jersey to the marshland of the Meadowlands – are as much a trademark of New Jersey as the appellation Garden State.

"My ambition for Valley Crest Farm is to create a place where the best elements of New Jersey's natural world come together, said LeCompte. Already, the farm is producing a variety of vegetables for which the Garden State was named, including asparagus, tomatoes, rhubarb and peach trees. Most of the vegetables and fruits raised on the farm will be donated to area shelters and food banks, LeCompte said. The two wetland ponds, which will soon be replete with leaping bass, darting minnows and paddling waterfowl, are LeCompte's gift to himself, his grandchildren and Mother Nature.



Lebanon, N.J. resident Robert LeCompte, center, accepts an appreciation award and congratulatory handshake from D.J. Monette, a fish and wildlife biologist for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, while Ciro LoPinto of the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service looks on. The award recognized LeCompte's contribution to the Garden State's ecosystem by sponsoring Hunterdon County's first wetlands creation project on his 85-acre Valley Crest Farm. The cooperative effort between LeCompte, the county Soil Conservation District and federal Fish and Wildlife Service created two quarter-acre wetlands on the property.

Pa. Grangers Pass Resolutions At State Convention

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — 600 Pennsylvania State Grange delegates at the 127th annual convention here set policy on a number of important issues.

Those issues include revisions to the state inheritance tax reform, farmland preservation funding, national voter registration, drought relief, stray voltage guidelines, and the Reading Across America initiative.

The convention ran Oct. 23-26 and was hosted by the eight Granges in Lehigh/Northampton counties.

"As a grass-roots organization, the policies determined here will influence our legislative efforts on Capitol Hill as we work on legislation that will affect agriculture and rural Pennsylvania," Brenda Shambaugh, legislative director, said. "These issues are of greatest concern to our membership, and the Pennsylvania State Grange will see that these policies are addressed at the state and federal level."

Summaries of the key issues passed by the delegates are:

Drought Relief Funding

The Pennsylvania State Grange acted on numerous resolutions concerning drought relief funding.

"Without a doubt, the biggest issue facing the Grange this year was the devastating drought. We spent many hours at the state department of agriculture formulating a plan with Agriculture Secretary Sam Hayes to assist farmers during this extremely difficult time," Shambaugh said. "Our initial focus was geared toward helping those farmers with livestock who needed hay. We are now working with the Pennsylvania General Assembly to broaden our scope of assistance. We also traveled to Washington to talk to our Congressional leaders about federal drought relief, and will continue to pursue funding for farmers who were affected by the drought."

Shambaugh said the Grange passed policy that enables the organization to continue working with state and federal officials to provide as much support as possible for all segments of the agricultural industry adversely by this summer's drought.

Inheritance Tax Reform

The Pennsylvania State Grange reaffirmed its long-standing policy concerning the state inheritance tax, which is inherently unfair to small businesses.

"For successive generations, 70 percent of all businesses never make it past the first generation, while 87 percent do not last to the third generation," Shambaugh said. "Owning a small business and passing it on to the next generation is part of the American dream. By eliminating this unfair and burdensome tax we seek to keep that dream from becoming a nightmare."

Grange policy calls for the tax rate for brothers and sisters or nieces and nephews to be lowered from its current 15 percent to the same rate for parents and children, which is 6 percent.

Read Across America

The Pennsylvania State Grange, a family-oriented organization, recognizes and is committed to promoting reading as a catalyst for the future academic success of our students. To that end, the delegate body passed a resolution lending the organization's involvement with the Read Across America program, which seeks adult involvement in the education of our community's children.

"This policy is another in a long line of commitments by the Pennsylvania State Grange to the education of our children," Shambaugh said. "This type of program brings youths and adults together and lays a solid educational foundation for our young people. Furthermore, it reinstates our commitment to the principle that an educational investment is the key to a community's well-being and long-term quality of life."

A number of initiatives to become involved with this program, following the passage of the resolution, were already started at the session and will be implemented in the coming months. One measure discussed is contacting school districts in Pennsylvania to secure used textbooks for flood victims in North Carolina. In several rural districts in North Carolina, the school systems have been destroyed, including all of their teaching resources.

Phone Towers

Currently, there are few regulations that monitor the construction of towers for cellular communication. A resolution was passed that would establish standards and regulations to govern their construction.

"The resolution is about safety and compensation," Shambaugh said. "It seeks safety standards to ensure that towers don't jeopardize existing structures, and monetary compensation for land owners for an easement in the area where the tower would be constructed."

More than 70 resolutions were considered at the 127th annual session of the Pennsylvania State Grange. The resolutions that passed at the convention became Grange policy. Resolutions that became policy and have federal implications are sent to the National Grange convention to be considered by delegates at the national session. The 133rd annual National Grange convention runs Nov. 8-14 in Portland, Maine.

Farmers Again Rank High With American Consumers

PARK RIDGE, Ill. — The overall public image of America's farmers and ranchers continues to be strong, according to a nationwide survey commissioned by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Among the highlights of Farm Bureau's 1999 Farmer Image Tracking Poll is evidence that consumers believe the nation's farmers contribute "a great deal to society" and are effective in conserving natural resources, but are not paid adequately for their role in supplying food for the nation.

Consumers typically rank farmers high for positive attributes and in overall job performance. In nearly all areas of comparison, positive numbers in the new poll were higher than those from a similar consumer poll conducted two years ago.

More than eight out of 10 consumers (85 percent) said farmers contribute a "great deal" to society — a virtual tie compared to teachers and firefighters (both 86 percent). While farmers scored the same as in the 1997 poll, the largest drop was seen for business people, who fell to 37 percent, compared to 50 percent in 1997.

Two out of three respondents (66 percent) rated farmers "very effective in conserving natural resources and caring for the environment." That rating was higher than that for environmentalists (60 percent) and scientists (58 percent). Farmers and scientists each picked up four percentage points from the 1997 poll, while environmentalists fell four points.

Identical to the 1997 poll, 72 percent of the consumers said farmers do not receive appropriate compensation for supplying food products.

When asked to compare financial rewards received by different levels of America's food production system, 43 percent of the respondents thought food processors/manufacturers received the most, nearly a third (32 percent) thought farmers receive the most and just 24 percent thought supermarkets received the most financial reward. Food processors/manufacturers was the only category that increased from the 1997 poll (39 percent).

Consumers showed an awareness of the economic problems farmers experienced this year, as 68 percent thought farmers were worse-off financially than they were 10 years ago. That number jumped eight percentage points from the 1997 poll.

About three out of four consumers (73 percent) said the government should work to improve the farm economy by making it easier for farmers to export their goods. Sixty-seven percent said when a poor farm economy threatens farmers' abilities to survive, the government should provide financial assistance. More than half (55 percent) said the government should boost the farm economy by cutting costly federal regulations imposed on farmers. Only 17 percent of the consumers said farmers receive too much government assistance.

When asked in an open-ended question to describe farmers, the most frequent consumer response was "hard-working" (58 percent). Next on that unaided list of descriptors were "honest" (14 percent) and "good family values" (8 percent). While an impressive 86 percent of the consumers said they would believe a farmer talking about the challenges of farming, that number fell three percentage points from the 1997 poll.

When asked their perceived image of an American farm, half of the respondents said they envisioned a large farm run by a family, 34 percent said they pictured a small farm run by a family and 14 percent said a large farm run by a corporation. The small family farm category had the only increase, up nine percentage points from the 1997 poll.

Nearly three out of four consumers (74 percent) said they were aware of a trend toward fewer and larger farms, and 73 percent of those respondents felt negatively toward the trend. The most frequently mentioned concern among that group (36 percent) was that smaller farmers were being pushed out of business. However, more than half of those respondents (52 percent) said the government should not intervene to restrict the trend. Overall, however, 84 percent of the total respondents agreed that society should be concerned about the decline in the number of farmers.

Regarding their ability to produce healthy food, small (83 percent) and large (79 percent) family farms were given excellent ratings, while large corporate farms received an excellent rating from 43 percent of the respondents.

Large family farms were viewed as most innovative (61 percent) compared to small family farms and large corporate farms (54 percent each). Small family farms received the highest "excellent" rating for caring for the environment (77 percent) followed by large family farms (65 percent) and large corporate farms (18 percent).

Similar to the 1997 poll, on selected job-performance issues, consumers said farmers were doing an excellent or good job of: taking care of farm animals, 78 percent; taking care of the land, 73 percent; and producing a safe food supply, 76 percent.

Eighty-one percent of the surveyed consumers said farmers were doing an average or better job of taking care of water, using chemicals properly and treating farm workers fairly, but they were less likely to award "excellent or good" ratings in those areas — water (45 percent), chemicals (41 percent) and workers (40 percent).

While 75 percent of the consumers agreed that the use of new technology by agriculture is good for America's future, they were a bit less comfortable, but still supportive, with genetically modified food crops.

Of the 82 percent of respondents who expressed an awareness of genetically modified (GM) crops, 46 percent said the technology was good for American consumers, 37 percent said it was bad for consumers and 17 percent did not express an opinion. Of those who expressed an awareness, GM concerns ranged from food safety (20 percent) and uncertain long-term effects (15 percent), to inadequate testing (10 percent), opinions that GM crops are not natural (6 percent) and environmental concerns (5 percent).

Of those expressing awareness of GM crops, the group was evenly split as to whether the government should restrict the technology, which it currently does. Forty-five percent said they favored restrictions, 44 percent said they did not believe restrictions were necessary and 11 percent did not express an opinion. Of those favoring government restrictions on GM crops, the biggest reason expressed (32 percent) was that restrictions are necessary for all new technology. The most common reason given by

Somatic Cell Counts: A Great Tool . . . But

There is no doubt that the testing for somatic cell counts in cow milk has been a great tool to combat mastitis, both clinical and subclinical, and it is a practice widely accepted around the world. In addition, the demands of health officials for higher standards of milk quality has greatly aided the image of milk as a healthy food.

The arbitrary upper allowable level of 1.5 million per milliliter of milk was successfully reduced to 1.0 million a few years ago and then to 0.75, but in Europe the level has been set even lower — 0.4 million. Now the debate is ongoing about whether the U.S. standards also should be that low or when.

Many U.S. dairy farmers are already below that level most of the time with most of their cows. In general, they would probably have no problem in compliance for the bulk tank test. Individual cows, however, would not always be below that level. And the question arises, should such cows be treated or culled?

A more pertinent question, however, concerns the reliability of somatic cell counts indicating mastitic conditions. What if a cow has high somatic cell counts but tests negative for any pathological conditions in the udder? Recent research at different universities has shown that this situation can and does happen. Up to 40 percent of misdiagnoses have been reported in the literature.

Our own research at the University of Delaware has demonstrated that somatic cell counts are not always influenced by pathological but also by non-pathological causes. This is very important to know, because tank tests above the level of 0 75 million somatic cell count per milliliter milk are used by officials to deny a farmer the sale of milk for fluid use.

In some areas the somatic cell count is also calculated into the payment scale to the farmer. Fortunately, most U.S. cow dairy farmers have a breeding program, which adds newly fresh cows to the herd tank every month. Unfortunately for most U.S. dairy goat farmers, their breeding of the mostly seasonal goats (in contrast to cows), means that fresh goat milk goes into the tank only in the spring season, while at end of summer and during fall and winter most goats are putting late lactation milk into the farm tank.

Why is stage of lactation a factor? It has been shown that somatic cell counts rise normally at the end of lactation, even in cows and especially in goats, without any relationship to pathological conditions. It is a normal physiological condition and has nothing to do with mastitis.

Another non-pathological factor is estrus in cows and, again, in particular in goats. Estrus does increase dramatically the somatic cell counts in most cows and goats. Fortunately for cow farmers, their breeding program calls for only a few cows to be in estrus every month. Unfortunately for dairy goat farmers, their breeding is seasonal — in early fall — for all goats in the herd. Thus the rise in somatic cell counts in the goat farm tank can be dramatic during this time without having any relation to mastitis.

One more non-pathological factor is milking procedure. There is extensive data showing that the last portion of milking goats is high in somatic cell counts normally, especially after hand stripping and more for hand milking than machine milking.

Fortunately for cow farmers, most do milk by machine and in recent years have ceased to hand-strip after milking. Unfortunately for dairy goat farmers, few milk by machine and most believe in extensive hand stripping, even when machine milking. So higher levels of somatic cell counts have nothing to do with mastitis in this case; it is a normal condition.

Treating dairy goats with the same rules as have been developed for dairy cows is a new problam beginning to be understood by officials. The reason is physiology. Milk secretion physiology in goats differs significantly from that in cows. The process in the cow udder is a gentle squeezing of the milk out of each tiny secretory cell, called merocrine secretion.

In the goat udder, the secretion is not just a squeezing the milk out, but part of the secretory cell is also broken down in the process of secretion, which in this case is called apocrine. The result is that many cell particles are in goat milk and counted as somatic cells; in cow milk, typically, there are few, and somatic cell counts are more representative of leucocytes. Leucocytes enter the udder only when there is an inflammation, pathogenic invasion or mechanical squeezing, stress, or estrus hormonal effects.

Thus, while most instruments testing for somatic cell counts are adequate and appropriate for cow milk, they are not for goat milk. To be appropriate for goat milk, the instrument must be calibrated with goat milk, not cow millk, and the test must not count cell particles but only leucocytes. Furthermore, the instrument must be adjusted seasonally to account for the normal seasonal rise of somatic cell counts in goat milk.

Thus, while somatic cell counting is potentially a great tool for high-quality milk production and better profits for the dairy farmer, it must be understood and applied appropriately and judiciously.

Farmers Rank High

those opposing restrictions was that there simply should be no government interference (19 percent).

Other significant findings from Farm Bureau's 1999 Farmer Image Tracking Survey were nearly identical to results from the 1997 survey, including consumer agreement that:

- Farmers care about the quality and safety of the food they produce, 81 percent, down one point from 1997.
- The use of land for agriculture is good for the environment, 70 percent, down one point from 1997.
- When faced with a conflicting decision between financial considerations and doing what is right, most farmers would do what is right, 62 percent, up three points from 1997.

The 1999 tracking survey was conducted by telephone with a national, random sample of 500 consumers. Based on the sample and a 95 percent degree of confidence, the overall study precision is plus or minus 4.4 percent. The poll was conducted by Marketing Horizons, Inc., a professional polling firm headquartered in St. Louis.

Copies of the full survey and comprehensive results are available for $12 each. To order, contact American Farm Bureau Federation's Gail Przybek by phone, (847) 685-8850 or fax, (847) 685-8950.

NFU Submits Comments On Cargill-Continental Merger

WASHINGTON, D.C. — NFU has urged a federal judge to reject a proposed agreement that would allow grain giant Cargill, Inc. to purchase a competitor Continental Grain, Co. NFU said the deal would adversely impact net farm income.

The judge is reviewing an agreement between the Justice Department and Cargill that would allow the merger if a number of divestitures are made. The judge has to determine whether the deal is in the public interest.

In comments filed recently, NFU said even with proposed divestitures the deal will significantly erode competition for farmers selling their grain, making it nearly impossible to earn a fair price. Cargill is the second-largest grain trader in North America and largest grain exporter and Continental is the third-largest grain trader and exporter.

"Even with the divestitures, the deal is still too large to avoid having a chilling effect on market competition for producers selling grain." said NFU President Leland Swenson. "This merger cannot be in the public interest because there is no way it will increase competition to either farmers or ranchers or the general public. It must be stopped."

NFU also said the mandated divestitures would be difficult to enforce. "There is not guarantee a buyer can be found for these divestitures. Moreover, there is no guarantee a buyer will be in a position to compete with a farm the size of Cargill," Swenson stated. "There are no safeguards for competition."

Cargill and Continental collectively control roughly 40 percent of all U.S. grain exports. Lack of competition in the export market affects producers because they depend heavily on export sales and because the domestic market is influenced by the world price. The Cargill-Continental merger will only exacerbate these problems, NFU noted.

Brillion

Sure Stand Grass Seeders

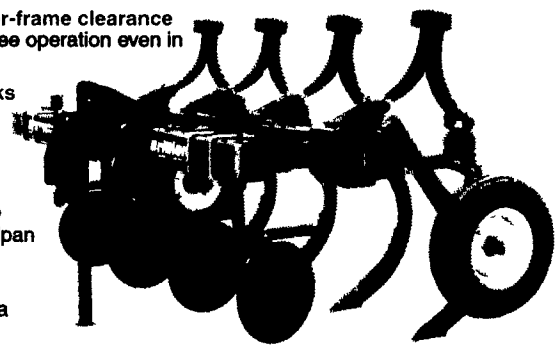
THE ERGONOMICS OF USING A BRILLION "SURE STAND" SEEDER

Grass seed is a very expensive commodity. By properly placing the grass seed in the top 1/2" of a properly prepared seedbed you will realize maximum seed germination.

Because of Brillion's precision placement of the seeds, seeding rates can often be cut to nearly half of the rates previously used. In many cases the savings in seed alone will pay for a "Sure Stand" Seeder in just a short time.

Don't risk your crop to another system. Don't settle for less. Use the one seeding method that you can depend on to produce a top stand time after time...a Brillion Sure Stand Seeder.

Compaction Commander



- A full 39" of under-frame clearance assures trouble-free operation even in heavy residue.
- Auto-reset shanks with 20" of trip height allows for non-stop tillage.
- 20" maximum working depth to easily rip out hardpan and compaction.
- Unlimited shank spacing to allow a variety of tillage functions.
- Optional points and accessories allow controlled soil disturbance and distribution of surface residue.

Pulvi-Mulchers

THE IDEAL ONE-PASS SECONDARY TILLAGE TOOL TO PROVIDE THE PERFECT CLOD-FREE SEEDBED FOR HIGHER YIELDS

- Available in widths from 7'4" to 30' to accommodate any size operation.
- High-clearance frame allows free flow of trash through the machine.
- Choice of 20" notched or crowfoot ductile iron roller wheels with five year limited warranty against breakage.
- Heavier duty, longer drawbar to accommodate dual wheeled tractors

Baumans Continue Apple Butter Heritage

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

SASSAMANSVILLE (Montgomery Co.) — The fragrance of simmering apples drifts across the small village of Sassamansville.

The source of the aroma wifts from a nondescript two-story building flanked on either side by brick homes situated in the middle of town.

Kathy and John examine apples to determine which will be used for apple butter and which will be used for cider. Each day during peak season, about 400 bushels of apples are turned into apple butter and 500-800 bushels are pressed into cider.

Passers-by would never suspect that inside the aging building some of the most delectable fruit butters and cider are being processed.

It's a historic family business, dating back to 1892 and passed down through the generations to Harvey and Kathy Bauman and children, John, 13, and Heidi, 9.

The secret of the Bauman's success stems from a family recipe from the 1700s.

"We use the same recipe — no preservatives or shortcuts," Kathy said of the rich, dark apple butter that requires seven hours of cooking.

While people today use apple butter basically as a spread or condiment, the story is told that apple butter served as a food staple that enabled refugees fleeing religious persecution to stay alive during their ocean vogage.

In 1734, the followers of Casper Schwenkfold came to Pennsylvania as Christian refugees from Silesia, seeking freedom of worship.

"They survived on the high seas in part due to an ample supply of apple butter, which could be kept withouth preservatives or refrigeration," Kathy said.

When the group arrived safely in the new world, they celebrated with a meal of bread and apple butter.

The group settled in southeastern Pennsylvania alongside Mennonite settlements. Harvey's great-great-grandfather, a Mennonite, operated a carriage manufacturing shop. In 1892, he purchased a cider press and operated it with a steam engine in his shop. Soon he began making apple butter, made with the recipe his wife had received from her Schwenkfolder ancestors.

The apple butter business continues to grow and has long ago replaced the carriage business. The same building is still used, although it has been added onto again and again to house the growing demand for fruit butters and cider.

Although the process has been automated, the original cider press, although modified, is still in use. Most of the wooden pieces of the 1892 press have been replaced with stainless steel and metal parts. The bill of sale for the original cider press is posted on the wall of the store. The purchase price in 1892 was $432.

Harvey is a mechanical engineer who has designed much of the mechanical process. Despite his training, his wife said, "Harvey learned the most by following his dad around."

Several apple butter cookers are used for processing, but the same lid that Harvey's grandfather patented in 1906 is still used.

Kathy runs the day-to-day operation while Harvey holds down a full-time job as an engineer. Ten full-time and 10 part-time employees work during the busy summer and fall months. If equipment breaks down, Harvey is contacted by phone. Most of the time, Harvey can diagnose and walk the caller by phone through making the repairs.

An automatic turn table is used to fill the jars with the fruit butter.

Bauman's apple butter is darker and richer in flavor than most mass produced varieties on the market. Kathy explains that the richer flavor is derived from cooking cider with the apples for seven hours. No hurrying up process for them.

More than five pounds of apples are required to yield one pound of apple butter. The original apple butter contained no added sugar, but for those who prefer it, the added sugar variety is also available. However, Kathy said, "The extra cider cooked with the apples makes it almost as sweet as the sugar-added style."

During the peak of the season, Baumans process about 400 bushels of apples a day for apple butter and another 500-800 bushels for cider. They buy all the apples from local growers who are in abundance in the area.

Harvey and Kathy Bauman with children, John, 13, and Heidi, 9, are in the midst of their busy season making apple butter, other fruit butters, and cider. The Baumans still use the centuries-old apple butter recipe, which helped keep Harvey's ancestors alive during their escape from religious persecution.

OMESTEAD OTES

Baumans use a mixture of sweet and tart apples to make the apple butter. The red delicious variety is not useable for apple butter but is needed for cider in which they also use a mixture of in-season varieties. Because cider is made from a different mixture depending on what's available, it may vary in taste a bit. "But the flavor doesn't vary much," Kathy said.

Apple cider is made in a press that has 3,000 pounds of pressure. In addition to their own, the Bau-

Heidi and John are already helping in the family business by waiting on customers such as Ford Greer. Andy Allen, an employee, stands at right.

After seven hours of cooking, apple butter, made in 20-gallon batches, is ready to jar. About 5 pounds of apples are needed to make one-pound of the dark, rich apple butter made with a recipe handed down through the centuries.

mans custom press apples for other companies and individuals. For several years Baumans offer pasteurized and non-pasteurized cider. This year, they started pasteurizing all the cider they sell. Kathy explained that the cider is cooled rapidly after the pasteurizing process to retain the cider flavor.

Fruit butters do not contain butter. Instead the name is derived because it is most often used in place of butter on bread. Fruit butters contain no preservatives or additives—just the natural goodness of in-season produce and spiced. But sugar and no-added sugar varieties are available. Even with sugar added, fruit butters contain less sugar than jams or jellies.

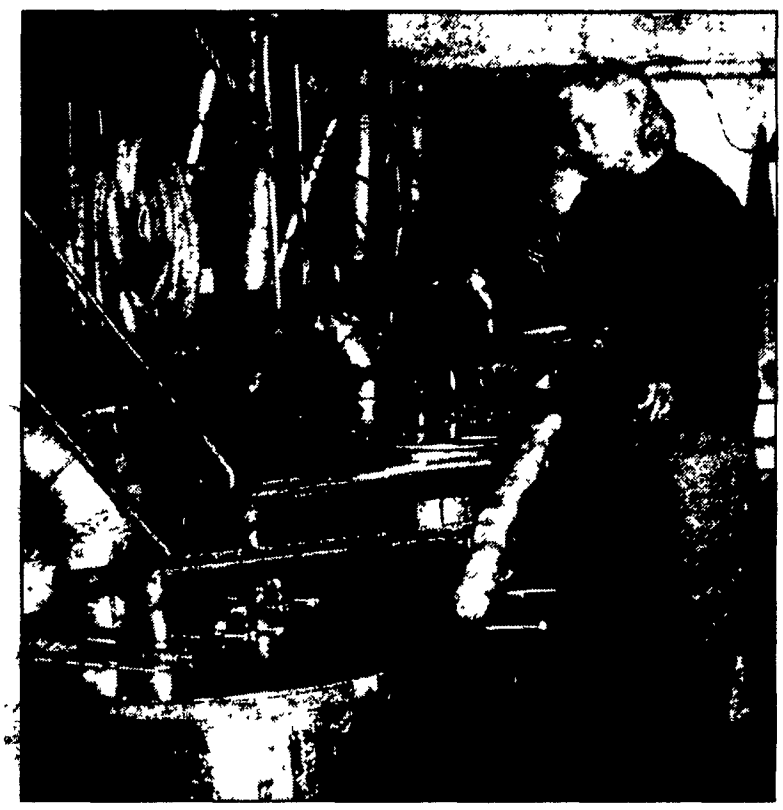
The Baumans began making catsup and chili sauce about 30-40 years ago. They offer both salt and no-salt varieties.

Baumans try to add a new or combination fruit butter every year. Some of the fruit butter flavors include the following: apple, apricot, peach, pear, plum, blueberry, cherry, honey peach, strawberry, strawberry-raspberry, strawberry rhubarb, pumpkin, and tomato.

Also available are cider applesauce, cranberry applesauce, and strawberry applesauce.

The Baumans sell about half of the product under their own label. The remainder is marketed for private labels.

"We have no sales people. This has grown sort of topsy-turvy, mostly by people who hear about us and call up," Kathy said.



Kathy checks the apple butter cookers, covered with lids that Harvey's grandfather had patented in 1906.

They ship both wholesale and retail to other states, even as far away as California, which is an orchard-growing area.

"Someone gave a sample of our fruit butter to a grower, and now they order our fruit butters to sell," Kathy said.

The offals of the apples are picked up by local farmers who feed it to their cattle.

From February through July, work flow slows down a bit. This gives Kathy time to catch up with house-cleaning and with weekly voluteering at her children's school. Several times during the year, the Baumans demonstrate apple butter making at folk and historical festivals. They often dress in period costumes typical of 1800s.

"We sort have our own niche," Harvey said of the fruit butters. "A lot of health food stores carry our product because it's all natural with no additives."

Some supermarkets also carry the product.

According to tradition, Schwenkfolder churches, mostly in the Lehigh Valley, still commemorate the arrival of their ancestors's escape from religious persecution by serving a meal of apple butter and bread.

Gift boxes featuring different varieties of the fruit butters are available at the store or by mailorder. Bauman's package gift boxes and sell complimentary items such as pancake mix from nearby Great Valley Mills.

Bauman's Apple Butter Factory is located in the center of Sassamansville along Hoffmansville Road. From Rt. 100, turn at Gross Equipment Company on Hoffmansville Road. Travel east 3½ miles. Factory is on the right.

Hours in season (August through January) are are Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sat. - 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The store is closed Sundays.

In off season (February through July) the store is open Tuesday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and by appointment.

For more information, call (610) 754-7251.

The 1892 cider press is still used, but most of the wooden pieces have been replaced with stainless steel and metal parts.

Snack Ideas

Some people like to eat fruit butters from the jar. Some other favorites include the following:

- Spead on toast, muffins, and bagels with cream cheese
- Add to oatmeal or cream of wheat, cottage cheese, yogurt, pancakes, waffles, and ice cream.
- Use as a glaze for ham or chicken.
- Substitute fruit butter of your choice for vegetable oil in recipes for baked goods.
- Use as a filling in thumbprint cookies
- Mix fruit butter of your choice with cream cheese to spread on muffins, toast, bagels, and bread.
- Try strawberry butter in your milk and cereal.

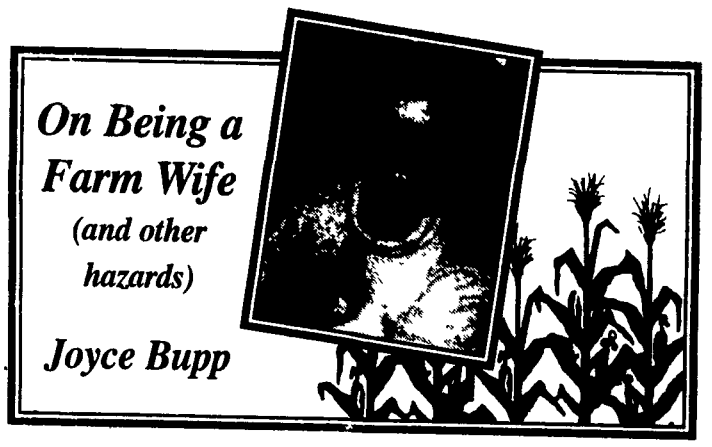
Martin LIMESTONE



It's a trick.

Maybe it's a treat.

Halloween is now the second biggest holiday of the year. Retail-market wise anyway. Go figure.

The plastic pumpkin on the doorstep, the cardboard skeleton gently spinning in the window, the apples and popcorn in the trick-or-treat bag has been replaced by all the creativity of modern mass marketing. Tall, lighted plastic statues of life-size witches, ghoulish ghosts, green and black assorted monsters and miscellaneous goblins brighten urban and rural lawns.

Strings of pumpkin, or ghostly, or witch-shaped lights cast ghastly glows over porches, further accessorized with doormats which scream when stepped on. Spooky music plays from microphones protectively stashed in bushes near the front porch. Scarecrows, some cheerfully grinning, others of a nature one wouldn't want to cross paths with in a dark, lonely place, greet us from their perches guarding over yards. And when you least expect it, you'll walk smack into an ugly, belegged plastic tarantula dangling on a piece of near-invisible finishing line from an overhead roof or awning.

While once it was primarily little kids who donned make-believe costumes, adults getting into the fun have generated whole sideline businesses of outfits. You can don a Dracula tuxedo or masks fashioned after assorted national politicians; which is the scarriest is a matter of personal opinions.

One of my favorite adult-participation Halloween stories came from a tall friend of ours, who cajoled his wife into sewing him a long, flowing black cape. Topped off with a Darth Vader mask (this was during Star Wars' prime years), he accompanied his grandson on neighborhood rounds, easily intimidating any would-be bullies out to snitch smaller kids' goodie bags.

Clowns, assorted animals, princesses and cartoon characters are perennial favorites with little kids, with heavy emphasis this year on Pokemon critters. And don't forget the pink or yellow hair spray and the washable monster makeup.

Setting if all off is that crowning finish to all Halloween displays which just cracks me up every time I see it: polyester spider webs strong across house entrances and porch columns. (If we could only figure out how to ensnare telemarketers with the stuff.)

Hey, none of that artificial spiderwebbing in this all-natural house. We have the real things.

Not that that's necessarily anything to brag about, mind you.

Like oodles of other seasonally-decorated homes, our spider webbing stretches across the porch corners, farther authenticated with the dark, sinister look added by road dust which has settled over the last couple of weeks. Not particularly to the liking of the originating spiders. I also spotted a really impressive one last week strung from the bathroom mirror cabinet up to a nearby curtain rod. And a veritable spider-web urban sprawl is gobbling up space over the basement ceiling's exposed beams.

I had intended to dangle from a piece of fishing line the large, ugly plastic spider that has been a standby toy for kids here for the last 20 years A grandson pronounced that it would instead occupy a spot on the stump in the front yard — which it did until falling leaves buried it somewhere We may find it in time for St. Patrick's Day.

We also have the obligatory seasonal pumpkins. Not plastic. Not plug-in. Fully 100 percent natural. Our shapely, jack-o-lantern types went home with the grandkids. These remaining ones are fat, decidedly lopsided, and a dark red-orange color. Actually squash, they're useless for carving faces, but superb for "pumpkin" pies.

So while the scarecrow I planned to design never got out of the rag bag, nor did the corn stalks walk in from the field and tie themselves in shocks to the front fenceposts, we do have a few all natural, Halloween decorations. But, in spite of these meager efforts, we find ourselves once again running behind in the holiday decorating game.

One day last week I trotted into the garden and seasonal items of a local retail center, prepared to wade through Halloween stuff in search of a pair of cotton garden gloves. In true seasonal response, the hair stood up on the back of my neck and I let out a gasp of fear at what I encountered.

Christmas carols boomed out above the shelves of red and green merchandise and tiny fake pine trees.

Hunters Urged To Share Venison

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — The 1999 Hunters Sharing the Harvest (HSH) program is expected to channel thousands of pounds of donated venison to local food banks and soup kitchens. As it has for the past eight years, the venison sharing project encourages successful hunters to turn over part of their deer meat to help feed their hungry neighbors.

Last year, the generosity of Keystone hunters make it possible for more than 200,000 Pennsylvanians to enjoy meat meals made from donated venison. In 1999, hunters across the state are expected to donated upward of 85,000 pounds of venison. HSH Coordinator Ken Brandt thinks the 1999 goals can easily be met. He says, "With 7 million pounds of venison harvested in the Commonwealth each year, this humanitarian goal is well within our reach."

Pennsylvania's food banks are also looking forward to a bountiful year. "Those in need of food assistance are greatly helped by donations of this learn, protein-rich food source," said Joyce Rothermel, executive director of the Great Pittsburgh Community Food Bank. "In this a time of economic prosperity for many. But, to help those left behind in deepening poverty, we turn to hunters and meat processors to make their donations of venison during the upcoming deer hunting season.

Area coordinators are needed to encourage hunters in their communities to participate in HSH, to contact local meat processors, talk to food banks and to get hunting clubs to join the venison donation bandwagon. The more local participation, the more successful the project will be.

Interested volunteers should contact Program Coordinator Ken Brandt, 3317 Turnpike Road. Elizabethtown, PA 17022. Telephone (717) 367-5223. Fax (717) 367-4316. Ken can also be reached by e-mail: keystnken@aol.com

Family Living Focus

Nancy E. Wallace
Westmoreland Co.
Extension

Most people look forward to the added excitement that comes with the holiday season.

However, with the excitement comes added work, play, expenses and fatigue. Frequently, the "too much to do" syndrome takes away from holiday pleasures. What's a person to do?

Recognize that the holidays are approaching. Plan ahead. Set priorities and goals. As a family, identify the "must dos" and "might dos" of the holiday season.

The "must dos" could include attending a holiday choral concert to hear your children sing.

A "might do" could be making cookies and candy.

Goals can center around activities for family and friends. Or, goals can be the organizational and housekeeping tasks for holiday activities. As a family, decide what is most important — the holiday party or fancy wrapped gifts.

What will the family cherish most?

When the list of "must dos" are made, place a name beside each task. Post the list on the refrigerator. Divide the tasks equitably. Every family member needs at least one task. The tasks then become the responsibility of the assigned person.

Plan backwards to meet deadlines. Put dates with the assigned tasks and functions. When do cards need to be mailed? When should gifts be wrapped and mailed? What are the dates of the holiday parties? Decide how long it will take to accomplish each task. Determine how many hours or days, then add 25% more time.

Guaranteed, it will take more time than you think. Mark the calendar. Don't forget ongoing activities still must be done. Laundry still must be done.

Taking children to piano lessons can't be put on hiatus.

Make a check list for every family member. Check off the task as it is completed. Get organized.

January 1999 was a good time to mark on the November calendar what gift wrapping supplies must be purchased. Buy extra tape and tissue paper. Frustration and anger occurs when you run out of tape in the middle of wrapping a mountain of gifts. Determine if wrapping paper should be purchased for all family members. If so, ask how many persons are receiving gifts.

Early fall is a good time to check the food inventory for cookie and candy making supplies. Take stock of the infrequently used spices and fruits needed for making those gourmet recipes. Buying some items ahead will also lessen the strain on the family budget.

A master calendar is a gift from heaven. Write down all the activities for each family member. The master calendar will highlight conflicts. Decide who you want to invite to your house and when. Mark the calendar. Extend the invitation to them early so they can mark their calendars.

Group errands and shopping trips. Shop when stores are least busy. Mid afternoon and very early in the morning are good times. Shop for short periods of time. Tired shoppers make hasty and sometimes unwise purchases. If possible shop without young children. Most people accomplish less than they expected on a shopping trip. Keep the list in the car, so items can be checked.

Finally, all family members maintain some balance Remember those priorities. Remember why the holidays are celebrated. Exhaustion and illness is not the purpose of the holiday season. Make time for work and rest. Plan quiet time along with the hustle and bustle of many holiday activities Expected the unexpected.

Milton Hershey Before Chocolate

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Milton Hershey created a chocolate empire known everywhere for making chocolate an everyday luxury. But he didn't start with chocolate.

The Hershey Museum introduces visitors to the early years of Milton Hershey's candy talents in the Old Time Candy Kitchen, a new exhibit opening Nov. 13.

The exhibit recreates what Milton Hershey's shop might have looked like when he began his candy business in 1876. The shop area will be presented as if Milton Hershey were just moving into his new location with his displays and advertising still in development. A demonstration on making clear toy candy will be held Saturdays and Sundays at 11 a.m., 1 p.m., and 3:30 p.m., from Nov. 13 through Dec. 19, and every day following Christmas Day through Dec. 31.

Fishing For Seafood Recipes?

Eating fish may not make you smarter but it's certainly smart eating.

Studies continue to affirm that eating fish can help reduce the risk of coronary heart disease and help keep you trim.

The polysaturated fats contained in fish tend to reduce the amount of serum cholesterol in the body. Seafood is an excellent source of protein, minerals, and and some vitamins.

To keep fish low in total fat and saturated fat, you must use low-fat cooking methods such as baking, broiling, steaming, poaching, and grilling without adding much butter, cream, mayonnaise and other fat-laden foods. However, recipes with these additions taste wonderful, and can still be a healthful souce of protein.

SEAFOOD CASSEROLE

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup light cream
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 tablespoon grated onion
¼ teaspoon celery salt
1 cup lobster or crabmeat
1 cup cooked shrimp
½ cup canned sliced mushrooms
Dash cayenne, optional
Rice, cooked

Heat butter, blend in flour and cream, stir until thick. Add Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper, onion, seafood, and cayenne, heat thoroughly.

Keep hot in double boiler. Pour over hot rice when ready to serve OR place cooked layer of rice in buttered casserole. Cover with seafood mixture, layer rice, then seafood mixture. Top with one-third cup sharp cheese and bread crumbs. Place in 350-degree oven until heated through and cheese is melted or crumbs are golden.

Note: Sauce can be prepared and refrigerated overnight or the complete casserole can be prepared and frozen until ready to use.

When serving 10 people, use 2½ -pounds medium shrimp and 1 pound crabmeat. Slice shrimp down the middle which makes it look prettier. If sauce seems skimpy, add more cream to your preference. Sauce should be slightly runny if served with rice.

CRAB IMPERIAL

½ cup reduced-calorie or regular mayonnaise
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons chopped pimento
1 tablespoon chopped green onion
1½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon dry mustard
Generous dash hot pepper sauce
1 pound crab meat or surimi, flake style
Freshly ground black pepper
Paprika

Combine mayonnaise, egg, piemento, green onion, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice, mustard, and hot pepper sauce. Gently stir in crab meat or surimi. Spoon into 4 to 6 indivdual casserole dishes or scallop shells. Sprinkle with paprika. Microwave at high 7 to 9 minutes or until thoroughly heated, rearranging dishes once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Nat. Fisheries

PAN FRIED TROUT WITH ITALIAN FLAVORS

½ cup plain bread crumbs
1 teaspoon dried sage
½ teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon olive oil
4 rainbow trout fillets
1 lemon, quartered

Combine first four ingredients. Coat flesh side of trout in bread crumb mixture; set aside. Brush large non-stick skillet lightly with oil. Over high heat, saute trout flesh-side down for 2 minutes. Gently turn trout; saute 2 minutes more. Serve immediately with lemon. Makes 4 servings.

Clear Springs Foods

BROILED SWORDFISH

2 swordfish steaks, 1½ -inches thick, about 2 pounds
1 clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon rosemary leaves
¼ cup olive oil
Freshly ground pepper to taste
1 lemon, quartered

Marinate steaks in mixture of garlic, rosemary, oil, and pepper for an hour. Preheat broiler. Broil steaks for about 6 minutes on each side, or until the flesh flakes when tested with fork. Be sure not to overcook and dry out steaks, Serves 2.

In any kind of protein food, such as fish or meat, an ammonia smell is a sign of spoilage.

The smell stems from the building blocks of protein, amino acids. When bacteria break down the protein for their food, the amine part of amino acids is released. Amine is a derivative of ammonia, which causes the odor.

Fish shouldn't carry a strong odor at all. Only a mild one should be expected.

Ohio State University nutritionists recommend these safety tips when buying, storing and cooking fish:

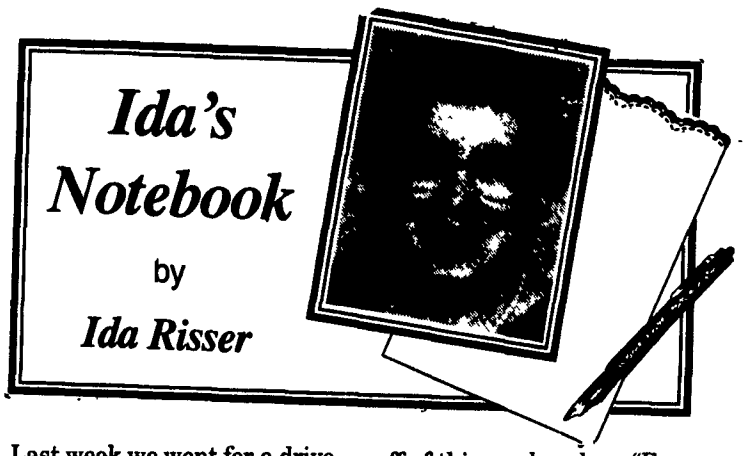
- When buying fresh whole fish, look at the eyes. Make sure they're clear and bright, not sunken. Gills should be bright red or pink. The skin should be shiny and elastic. The scales should be tight in place, not loose.
- Fresh fillets should look moist. If you buy frozen fish, make sure the packaging is intact.
- It's best to cook fresh fish the day you buy it. If that's not possible refrigerate it for two days maximum. Make sure it's wrapped in moisture and vapor-proof material.
- Use frozen fish within three months, after that, its quality deteriorates.
- To thaw frozen fish, place it, wrapped, inside another container in the refrigerator. One pound of fish should thaw overnight. For quicker thawing, place the wrapped package under cold running water or use the microwave. Don't use warm water or thaw fish (or meat, for that matter) at room temperature, because the outer layers will get too warm while the inside is still frozen. Such uneven thawing encourages spoilage.
- Cook fish until it is opaque, comes away from the bones easily and begins to flake easily. Juices should be milky white, not watery.

Here is a recipe from New Jersey Dept. of Ag Fisheries Promotion Program.

BAKED FISH

1 pound filets or steaks, 3/4 to 1-1/2 inches thick, such as cod, halibut, ocean catfish, or whiting, cut into serving size pieces
2 tablespoons cornmeal
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon paprika
Salt and pepper
1 tablespoon oil
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese

Pat fish dry with paper towels. Combine cornmeal, flour, paprika and dash each salt and pepper in flat dish Place oil in baking dish and turn to coat with oil. Arrange in baking dish and turn to coat with oil. Arrange fish pieces 1-inch apart Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake at 425°F allowing 10 minutes per inch thickness measured at its thickest part or until fish flakes when tested with a fork Serve with your choice of sauce. Makes about 4 servings



Last week we went for a drive to see the colored leaves in the mountains. For one whole day we drove through Dauphin, Perry, Juniata, Mifflin, Snyder, Union and Centre counties.

One particular drive that we enjoy is the 15-mile Shade Mountain Road which goes straight through the mountain. It took us exactly one hour to drive it so you know that we went slowly and stopped a few times.

We disturbed a great horned owl which flew from tree to tree in front of our car. It was about two feet in length and we could see it's ear tufts. The only other living thing that we saw was a chipmunk that scampered across the road in front of us. There are many trails leading off of this road such as "Furnace Trail," "Tar Gap," "Tram Trail," and "Richfield Path."

Along the road were many tiny red leaves which belonged to the wild huckleberries. It was wonderful to have absolutely no traffic. Later we saw hunting cabins named "Camp Coyote," "Summit" and "Hemlock Haven." We had already seen "Woodward Cave" and so we did not stop there.

Along the way we discovered a large grocery store far off the beaten path. We bought a basket of pears from its orchard and spent hours peeling and canning them despite having Bosc pears of our own at home. We visited an auctioneer and had a meal at a country restaurant in Union County before arriving home by nighttime.

The next morning we could enjoy the red leaves on our own tiny maple and the orange and yellow leaves on our big maple tree in the front yard. Then I made a third batch of red quince jam from some of our two bushels that my husband picked from a small tree on the hill behind our house.

Check Out These Tips For Safe Tailgating

NEWARK, Del. — The spirit of the game is in the air, fans' minds are dreaming of the perfect pass or the winning touchdown, and food- and water-safety are the last things that come to mind when getting ready to tailgate.

But Dr. Sue Snider, Extension food and nutrition specialist, said safety precautions to protect against food- and water-borne illnesses — especially one caused by a deadly strain of E. coli — are critical when tailgating.

"There is little difference between cooking outside or in," said Snider. "The only sure way to know if food is done is to measure the temperature with a meat thermometer. Burgers must be cooked until the inside reaches 160 degrees Fahrenheit in order to destroy the E. coli bacteria. Chicken must reach 165 degrees F. to kill microorganisms it may carry."

When the meat is cooked thoroughly, never return it to the same plate that held raw meat, warns the food specialist. The cooked meat can pick up whatever bacteria was left behind on the plate.

"Some recipes call for meat and poultry to be marinated for several hours or days, either to tenderize it or add flavor. Always marinate food in the refrigerator, not on the counter," said Snider. "And if some of the marinade is to be used for basting during cooking or as a sauce on the cooked food, reserve a portion of the marinade. Don't put raw meat and poultry in it, and don't reuse the marinade from raw meat or poultry on cooked food."

Snider also warns against precooking meat, especially ribs.

"Some people like to pre-cook ribs. If you do this, make sure the meat is thoroughly cooked," she said. "Don't partially cook the meat and then put it in the refrigerator overnight.

"Barbecuing or grilling is not much of a problem if it's in the backyard," Snider said. When you're tailgating, however, make sure the food arrives cold and stays cold until you're ready to grill."

Keeping food cold prevents bacteria growth. Snider suggests putting cold, pre-refrigerated foods into a cooler that has been filled with enough ice to keep the cooler at 40 degrees F. Then put the cooler in the shade or under a shelter and leave it there. Keep the lid closed until you are ready to eat the food.

"When handling raw meat, remove from the cooler only the amount that will fit on the grill," she said.

After cooking the meat or poultry, keep it hot until it is served. Remove it to the side of the grill rack, but not directly over the coals where the food could overcook. Never let food sit out for more than two hours before placing it back in the cooler for storage.

"Finally, be sure to bring your own water supply if you are uncertain that an approved water supply is available," said Snider. "In addition to plenty of drinking water, bring enough extra water so you can wash any fruits or vegetables you may have, or else wash them off at home first. And take along water for washing cooking utensils, containers and hands, and plenty of clean, soapy sponges, cloths and wet towelettes thus reducing the potential for food cross-contamination."

QUESTION — Brenda Houser, Middletown, would like a recipe to make cookies that taste like the ones served at Shady Maple Smorgasboard. The varieties that she likes are Chocolate Chip Truffle, which has a chocolate batter with chocolate chips in it and a soft chocolate center, and Peanut Butter Truffle, which has a peanut butter batter with chopped nuts and a soft peanut butter filling.

QUESTION — K. B., York Springs, would like a recipe to make rotisserie chicken that tastes like that made by Rutters' Mini Market.

ANSWER — R. Nolt, Leola, wanted a recipe to make seasoned bread croutons using homemade bread cubes. Thanks to Pauline Hess-Fisher, Manheim, for sending a recipe that she uses often. She usually adds garlic powder and onion salt, although she didn't mention the amount. I suggest adding seasonings according to taste.

Bread Croutons

Cut sliced bread into ½ -inch cubes. Place a layer onto a large cookie sheet with sides. Dry in 250 degree oven for 1½ -2 hours, stirring occasionally until light golden brown. Sprinkle with melted butter. Seasoned salt, herbs or parmesan cheese may be added during the last 30 minutes of baking. Cool. Store in container. Great garnish for soups, salads, vegetables, and casseroles.

ANSWER — In answer to the question regarding soggy pie crusts, Fawn Bartleson, Martins Creek, writes that in addition to baking pies on the lower oven shelf, here are some more solutions. If the top edges of the pie brown before the bottom is done, place strips of aluminum foil over the edge of the crust or at a gourmet cooking shop purchase pre-formed aluminum strips to do the same job. When baking pie, remove the foil strips during the last 15 minutes of baking. For custard pie, pumpkin pies, and similar varieties, bake the crust for 5 minutes before putting the filling in the shell. To avoid excessive bubbling of the crust, purchase "metal peas" at a gourmet cooking shop. After lining the pie plate with crust, lay a sheet of wax paper over the crust, and place the peas on the wax paper. Bake for 5 minutes, and pour the peas into a heat-resistant container. Remove the wax paper and fill the shell.

Gloria Sweigart, Manheim, writes that she places a cookie sheet or pizza pan on the bottom shelf of the oven while preheating. When the oven is the proper temperature, set a pie or pies on top of the pan and the bottom crust will bake quicker.

Note: Many cooks say that ovens do not need to be preheated when baking pies. If you place the pie on the bottom shelf and turn the thermostat to the proper temperature, the bottom crust will be exposed to higher temperatures until the oven reaches the proper temperature. This helps bake the crust faster.

CAESAR HALIBUT

2 pounds halibut steaks OR swordfish, shark, tuna or salmon
⅓ cup reduced-calorie caesar salad dressing
18 small romaine lettuce leaves
¼ cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons caesar salad-style croutons

Place halibut steaks in shallow dish. Pour salad dressing over steaks. Cover and refrigerate one hour, turning once. Remove steaks from marinade; set aside.

Coat grill rack with vegetable cooking spray. Place steaks on grill 4- to 5-inches above medium hot coals. Grill, brushing with marinade and turning once, just until fish begins to flake when tested with fork, allowing about 8-10 minutes on each side.

To serve, cut steaks into 6 serving-size pieces. Arrange 3 lettuce leaves on individual serving plates; place halibut on lettuce. Sprinkle each with parmesan and croutons. Yield: 6 servings.

SCALLOP AND SHRIMP KABOBS

½ pound sea scallops
½ pound large raw shrimp, peeled, deveined
3 tablespoons olive oil
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 large cloves garlic, minced
3 tablespoons minced parsley
¼ teaspoon dried basil, crushed
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ pound mushrooms

Pat scallops and shrimp dry. Combine olive oil, lemon juice, garlic, parsley, basil, and pepper to make marinade. Add shellfish and marinate 30 minutes to one hour, stirring occasionally. Alternate scallops, shrimp, and mushrooms on skewers without crowding. Brush with marinade. Broil or grill 4-inches from source of heat for 4 minutes. Turn skewers, brush with marinade and continue to cook about 3 minutes longer or until scallops and shrimp are opaque; do not overcook. Serve with rice pilaf if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Jersey Fresh

OYSTER SOUP

2 pints oysters with liquor
6 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
½ cup thinly sliced green onion tops
3 tablespoons finely chopped fresh parsley
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon freshly ground white pepper

Strain oyster liquor into a medium saucepan. Chop oysters coarsely. Heat liquor over medium heat, add chopped oysters and simmer for 5 minutes. Remove oysters and reserve. Add hot water to the liquor to make 5 cups.

Melt butter in large saucepan over medium heat. Add flour gradually, stirring constantly until smooth. Gradually add the hot liquid, whisking constantly, and cook until smooth. Add onions, parsley, salt and pepper. Simmer 15 minutes. Add reserved oysters and heat thoroughly. Serve immediately. Serves 8.

Pure oyster flavor is what you'll have when you make this rich soup—no milk or other ingredients to dilute the flavor. Only green onions and fresh parsley to enhance the oyster taste and make the soup attractive.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Mrs. John Martin, Ephrata, wanted a recipe for shoofly dessert similar to a cobbler, not a cake or pie. Thanks to Gertrude Haas, Lenhartsville, for sending this recipe.

Shoofly Pudding

2 cups flour
¾ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon nutmeg
1½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter
1 cup dark corn syrup
1 cup warm water
1 teaspoon baking soda

In medium mixing bowl, stir together flour, brown sugar, salt, nutmeg, and cinnamon. With pastry blender, cut in butter until small particles are the size of peas. Firmly press one-third of the mixture into a greased 8x8x2-inch baking pan. Mix together corn syrup, water, and baking soda. Slowly pour one cup of the syrup mixture over the flour base in the cake pan. Sprinkle with another one-third of the flour mixture, pour in remaining syrup mixture. Sprinkle with remaining flour mixture.

Gently run a fork in both directions, careful not to touch the bottom layer.

Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes until cake tester comes out clean. Serve with whipped cream or lemon sauce. Cake is very rich. The bottom is very sticky and custardlike.

ANSWER — Susan Harris, Lexington, Va., wanted a recipe for carrot pie. Thanks to Mildred Hess, Myerstown, for sending a recipe.

Carrot Pie

1½ cups cooked carrots
2 eggs, slightly beaten
¾ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt
12-ounce can evaporated milk
1 tablespoon milk
9-inch unbaked pie shell

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Mash the carrots until smooth. Combine with eggs, sugar, and seasonings. Add milks and mix thoroughly. Pour into pie shell and bake 10 minutes. Lower oven setting to 350 degrees and continue to bake until a knife inserted in center comes out clean (30-40 minutes).

Thanks to Kay Landis, Hamburg, for sending this one.

Carrot Chiffon Pie

9-inch baked pie shell
⅓ cup cold water
3 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
½ cup skim milk powder
½ cup cold water
1¼ cups cooked carrots, puried or strained
¼ cup honey
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon mace
3 egg yolks, beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 egg whites
½ teaspoon salt

Dissolve gelatin in water. Set aside. Combine milk powder with water. In top of double boiler, combine carrots, honey, milk, spices, and egg yolks. Place over hot water and cook until thick. Add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add vanilla. Cool until it begins to thicken. Fold in beaten egg whites. Put into pie shell and refrigerate.

ANSWER — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, wanted a recipe for Impossible Pineapple Pie. Thanks to Gloria Sweigart, Manheim, for sending a recipe.

Impossible Pineapple Pie

10-inch pie plate, well greased

Pour about 2 cups unsweetened crushed or tidbit pineapple, well drained, in pie plate.

In blender, mix:
4 eggs
2 cups milk
½ cup butter, softened
¾ cup sugar
½ cup Bisquick
1 teaspoon vanilla

Pour over pineapple. Bake about 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Instead of pineapple, you may substitute peaches, apricots or rhubarb. Pie forms its own crust.

Masthof Harvest Days

MORGANTOWN (Berks Co.) — Harvest Time at Masthof on Sat. Nov. 6, will offer guests to step back in time and learn about Morgantown as it was in years gone by.

Two new authors, Florence Beiler and Sue Jacob, will autograph their new books. Florence wrote "Glimpses of the Past— Village of Morgantown, Berks County, Pennsylvania."

Florence has compiled 396 pictures, maps, and illustrations to tell the story of Morgantown.

Sue's book, "The History of Joanna Furnace, 1791-1999," is a well-illustrated book with details about women, immigrants, African-Americans, iron masters, and common people who contributed to the furnace's story.

The two new books will be on sale at Masthof along with complimentary cold or hot cider and stories for the children by Grandma Zook.

Donald Boyer, teacher at Conestoga Christian High School, will display an impressive collection of Indian artifacts and old bottles, most found in the Morgantown area.

Masthof is located south of Morgantown along Mill Road. For more information, call (610) 286-0258.

Apple Crop

The following information on apples is taken from the U.S. Apple Organization:

- About 2,500 known varieties of apples are grown in the United States. More than 7,500 are grown worldwide.
- About 100 varieties are grown commercially in the United States, but a total of 15 popular varieties account for more than 90 percent of 1998 production.
- Apples are grown in every state in the continental United States and are grown commercially in 36 states. Top-producing states include Washington, New York, Michigan, California, Pennsylvania and Virginia.
- The 1999 apple crop is forecasted to be 251.5 million bushels. Total apple production in 1998 was 271.1 million 42-lb. bushels, valued at farm-gate at $1.3 billion.
- Fuji and Gala apples are among the newest and fastest growing varieties to gain a foothold in U.S. market, and now rank among the top ten.
- In 1998, the average U S consumer ate 18 4 pounds of fresh apples and 28.7 pounds of processed apples, for a total of 47.1 pounds of apples – more than any other fruit.
- Fifty-five percent of the 1998 U.S. apple crop was eaten as fresh fruit, 37 percent was processed into apple products, and 8 percent was not marketed.
- Exports of fresh-market apples from the 1998 crop totalled 35 million bushels or 23 percent of the total U S fresh-market crop Imports in that same year totalled 8 million bushels, resulting in a positive balance of fresh-apple trade.
- Exports of apples have been increasing dramatically over recent years, due to liberalization of export markets, increased disposable income in developing countries, and substantial industry export promotion efforts Leading markets for U S apples include Taiwan, Mexico Canada and Hong Kong

Kids Korner

Kids Learn About Water Quality

NEWARK, Del. – Brothers Dustin Borntreger and Stephen Galloway, ages 11 and 8, lift their dip nets from the dark waters of Mud Mill Pond, near Marydel, Del., and look for aquatic critters lurking in the recesses of the dripping green vegetation Poking around intently, Borntreger's face suddenly lights up.

"Here's something," he says, carefully scooping a small insect from his net and dropping it into a container of water to identify later Just as suddenly, Galloway flashes a wide smile and announces, "And I found a catfish!" It is the size of his little finger.

Together with cousins Elizabeth and Lindsey Gooden, ages 18 and 17, and 4-H leaders Dana Sharpe and Kay Stout, these Westville Club 4-H'ers are participating in the 4-H Feeder Stream Project

Rebecca Marasco, University of Delaware Cooperative Extension associate for renewable resources, says the project was made possible through the 1999 AstraZeneca Biogrant, which provided $5,000 toward the costs of a statewide Streamwatch project conducted over the summer The grant is an extension of a 1998 Center for the Inland Bays Biogrant, which focused on water quality in the Inland Bays of Sussex County Anna Maria Montone, UD Extension intern, worked with Marasco as project administrator

According to Montone, groups monitor a site of their choice, repeating various tests the same time of the day, the same day of the week, for six weeks

"Twenty-four sites throughout the state are being monitored - 18 of them in Kent County," says Montone, who taught each of the groups how to get started.

Montone says the intent of the project is to spark an increased awareness among 4-H groups – and through them their families – of the importance of water quality in Delaware. Extension wanted to let 4-H'ers know, from an early age, that each person makes a difference.

"Our groups have lots of interest in this kind of science," say Montone "They especially love the down and dirty stuff like dipnetting And they enjoy the water chemistry tests, too, because they don't always get to do that kind of hands-on testing at school These kids definitely have the enthusiasm to learn from this project"

The enthusiasm of this group well may be rooted in Dana Sharpe, once a 4-H'er herself, who became a leader when daughters Sherry and Jessica joined the club more than 15 years ago

"I really believe in the 4-H program," she says "This Streamwatch project is just one of the many projects our kids are involved in that teaches them leadership skills and helps them develop into responsible adults."

"We were pleased to receive funding from AstraZeneca to expand this project statewide," says Joy Sparks, state program coordinator for 4-H youth development at the University of Delaware. "The learning that takes place in hands-on activities like this is terrific."

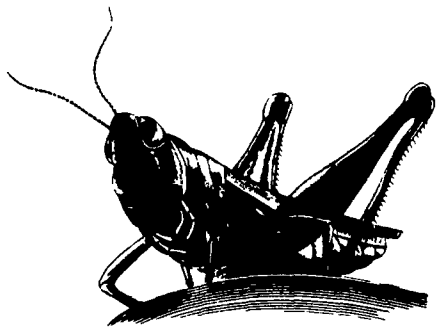
In voices that mimic the stillness of the early morning hours, Elizabeth and her cousin sit along the edge of the pond completing the water chemistry tests for the morning.

"Carbon dioxide is 10 (mg/L)," says Elizabeth." And pH (a measure of acidity) is 6." "Dissolved oxygen is 8 (mb/L)," says Lindsey. The girls scribble down these findings and others. "Air temperature is 26 degrees C. (79 degrees F) and water temperature is the same..."

Montone nods toward the group.

"These kids are learning so much about water quality and how their activities impact the watershed they live in," she says. "An experience like this always works best in getting people interested in environmental issues."

Steve Galloway lifts a dip net in search of aquatic critters lurking in the dark waters of Mud Mill Pond.



Stuck On Bubble Gum

(NAPS) — Television, the airplane, the Internet.. these 20th Century innovations have revolutionized our lives. But as people switch from channel surfing to surfing the net, one 20th Century innovation has remained constant—bubble gum!

That's right, bubble gum. That vestige of every childhood, outlaw in every school and cracking, popping and blowing champion of kids is still the item people reach for at the rate of 40 million pieces every day.

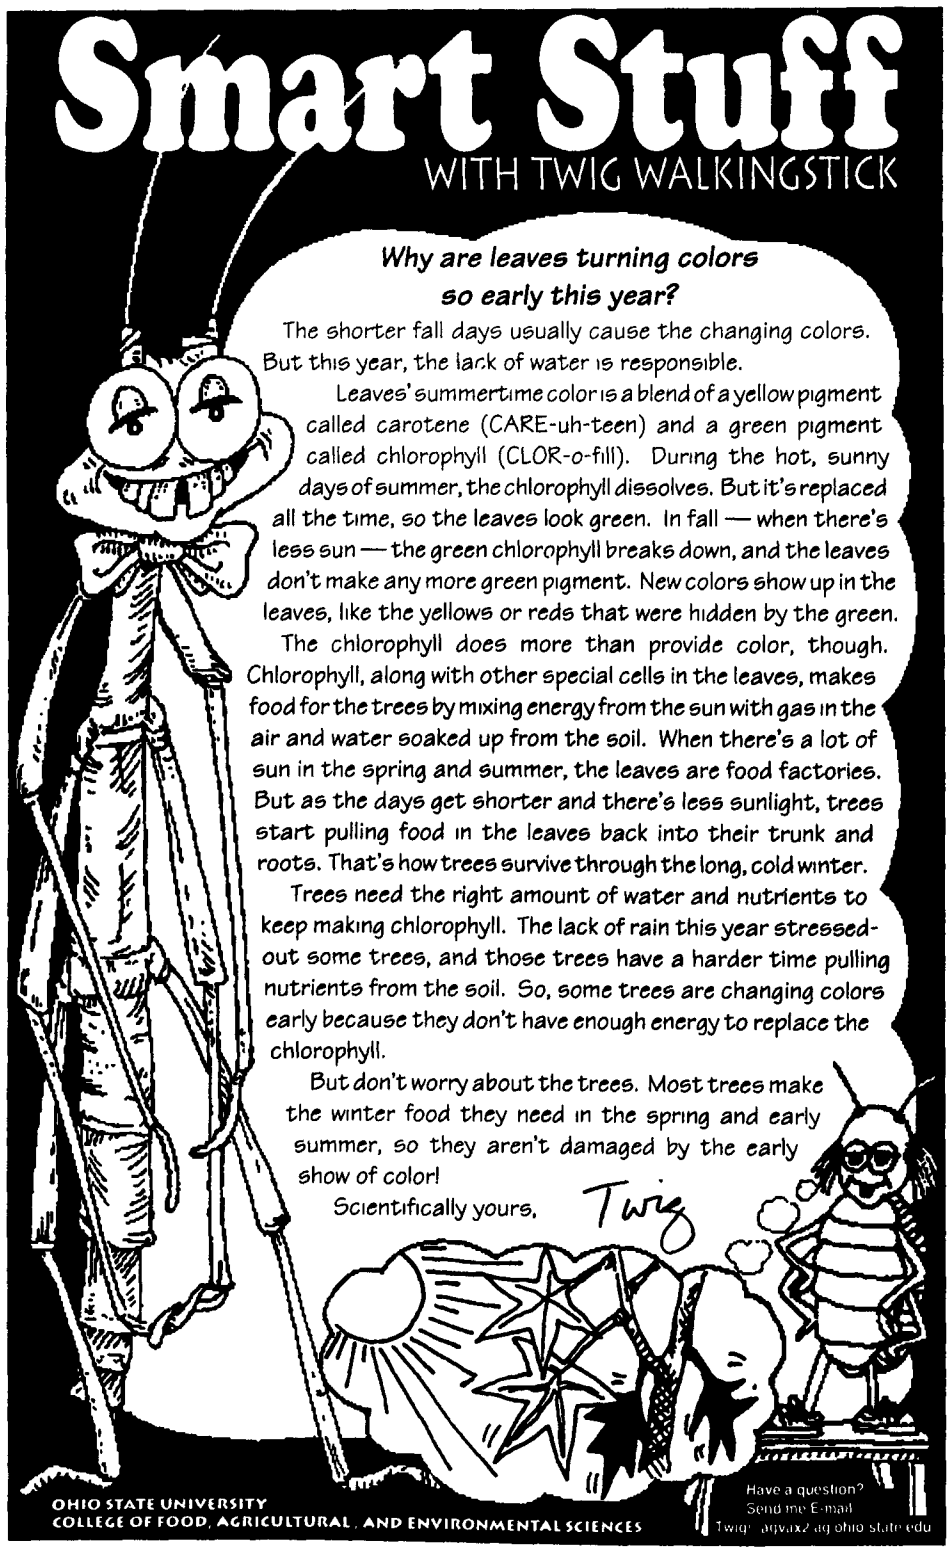
Thanks to a Philadelphia accountant—Walter Diemer—who discovered the world's first bubble gum in 1928 (and dyed it pink because that was the only food coloring he had on hand), Dubble Bubble was born and has grown to become one of the most well recognized brands in the world.

The magic of bubble blowing has always made bubble gum a favorite interactive treat. Even with lollipops that spin and candy that can be worn, Dubble Bubble reigns as the world's first interactive sweet. Just think of the number of times you've heard "put that gum back in your mouth young man!"

We spend a half-billion dollars each year on bubble gum. For those gum-toting, big bubble blowing chewers here are some trade secrets, straight from the Dubble Bubble factory:

- Chew at least 5 pieces of Dubble Bubble (mix with a teaspoon of peanut butter for best results!)
- Chew the gum for at least 5 minutes to dissolve the sugar.
- Stick your tongue way out to make a huge bubble pocket.
- To blow a double Dubble Bubble, blow a big bubble and seal it off. Immediately blow another bubble inside.
- Use your hands to shape the bubble if it starts sagging or popping.
- Cleaning up is half the fun... to remove bubble gum for your:
- Face: use the wad from your mouth to dab off
- Shoe: dab with a cotton ball soaked in rubbing alcohol
- Clothing: rub the spot with ice and scrape off
- Hair: knead peanut butter into the gum and then shampoo

For more information about Dubble Bubble and a wad of fun facts on bubble gum, pop into the Dubble Bubble website at www.dubblebubble.com.



Smart Stuff
WITH TWIG WALKINGSTICK
Why are leaves turning colors so early this year?
The shorter fall days usually cause the changing colors. But this year, the lack of water is responsible.
Leaves' summertime color is a blend of a yellow pigment called carotene (CARE-uh-teen) and a green pigment called chlorophyll (CLOR-o-fill). During the hot, sunny days of summer, the chlorophyll dissolves. But it's replaced all the time, so the leaves look green. In fall — when there's less sun — the green chlorophyll breaks down, and the leaves don't make any more green pigment. New colors show up in the leaves, like the yellows or reds that were hidden by the green.
The chlorophyll does more than provide color, though. Chlorophyll, along with other special cells in the leaves, makes food for the trees by mixing energy from the sun with gas in the air and water soaked up from the soil. When there's a lot of sun in the spring and summer, the leaves are food factories. But as the days get shorter and there's less sunlight, trees start pulling food in the leaves back into their trunk and roots. That's how trees survive through the long, cold winter.
Trees need the right amount of water and nutrients to keep making chlorophyll. The lack of rain this year stressed-out some trees, and those trees have a harder time pulling nutrients from the soil. So, some trees are changing colors early because they don't have enough energy to replace the chlorophyll.
But don't worry about the trees. Most trees make the winter food they need in the spring and early summer, so they aren't damaged by the early show of color!

From Dairy Farm To Milk Cooperative

RESTON, Va. — Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative recently hired two new employees to work in the milk marketing and communications departments. Yvonne Fogal has been named assistant director of hauling and transportation and Harriet Pimm has joined Maryland and Virginia as its communication specialist.

Yvonne has worked for Maryland and Virginia for the past six months in the quality assurance department. In her new position, she will be responsible for receiving milk orders from customers and assigning delivery schedules to haulers. She will help estimate annual production and sales, and understand federal milk marketing orders and pooling requirements.

Yvonne is a 1998 graduate of Penn State University, where she earned a bachelor of science degree in agricultural business management. While at college she was a member of the Sigma Alpha Professional Agriculture Sorority, and the Coaly Agricultural Honor Society. She was also the vice-president for both the National Agri-Marketing Association and the Academic Agricultural economics quiz bowl team. Yvonne was raised on Peterman's Pride, a dairy farm in Muncy, and is a former alternate state dairy princess.

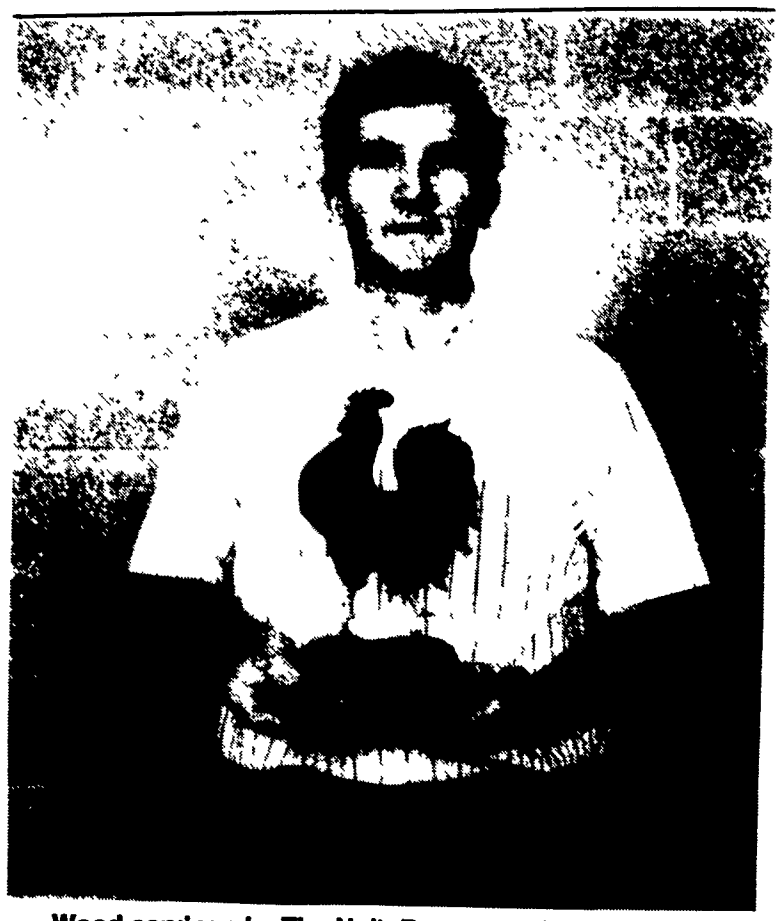
As the communication specialist, Harriet, a 1999 communication graduate of Cornell University, will be responsible for writing articles, interviewing members and taking photographs for all types of cooperative publications and member communications projects. She will assist with the Young Cooperator Program and other cooperative educational programs, will facilitate the member donation program and represent the cooperative at industry meetings.

Harriet Pimm is communications specialist for Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative Association, Inc.

Yvonne Fogal, is assistant director for hauling and transportation for Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative Association, Inc.

While at Cornell, Harriet was active in the Dairy Science Club, Collegiate 4-H and Ag Ambassadors. She chaired the Student Leadership Committee as the student director for the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences Alumni Association. She was a member of two prominent honor societies and was appointed as the executive vice president of the 1999 Cornell Alumni Council. Harriet has had writing internships with three agricultural magazines and was raised on her family's Brown Swiss and Holstein farm in Rock Tavern, New York. She is also a former dairy princess.

Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers, headquartered in Reston, Va., is a milk marketing and processing cooperative which markets milk for over 1,600 dairy farmers in 10 states from Pennsylvania to Alabama. The cooperative includes Marva Maid, a milk processing division in Newport News, Va.; a manufacturing division in Laurel, Md.; an equipment division in Frederick, Md.; and a regional office in Charlotte, N.C.



Wood carvings by Tim Nolt, Denver, and works of art by more than 150 juried artisians make up the 29th annual Belsnickel Craft Show on Nov. 26-27. Award of the Gold Clover, for 10 years of leadership went to Doug Black, Vernice Castro, Susan Clites, John Ferko, Debra Hay, Connie Hillegas, Annette Knotts, Teresa Landis, Edward Philipp, and Richard Sines.

Calcium Web Site

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Mid East will launch a revised and updated version of their web site to help 9- to 14-year-olds combat the growing calcium crisis.

While nearly half of adult bone mass is formed during adolescent years, nine out of 10 girls and seven out of 10 boys are not meeting their daily calcium quota. Calcium, found in milk and milk group foods, is the primary nutrient that helps bones grow long and strong.

"Adolescent boys and girls drink about three times as much soda as milk in a day. As a result, most are coming up alarmingly short on calcium," said Ann Marie Krautheim, RD, LD, director of nutrition communication and programs for ADADC Mid East. "Tracking data indicates that many individuals are visiting this site daily and spending a significant amount of time learning about the benefits of milk's calcium."

"No Bones About It . . . Drink Milk for Calcium," found at www.drink-milk.com, includes four interactive activities that teach kids about the importance of meeting their need for calcium-rich foods. These activities enable kids to evaluate their fitness level and the amount of calcium they are contributing to their "bone bank" and identify their individual "food personality." Kids can also find calcium rich food ideas to satisfy after school "snack attacks." New games and additional recipes will be added in throughout the next several months.

Research shows that kids cite teachers, health professionals and parents as primary sources for nutrition information. As a result, the site provides teachers with a lesson plan that may be downloaded and used in the classroom.

The lesson plan, entitled "Break Fast for Breakfast," can be used in the classroom along with activities on the web site, or the lesson plan can be modified if the Internet is not accessible to students. Health professionals may download patient education materials to help educate parents and teens about the growing calcium crisis and provide strategies for meeting their calcium quota.

Pennsylvania Winners In Make-It-With-Wool Contest Advance To National Competition

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

JOHNSTOWN (Cambria Co.) — When she returned home to Schwenksville, Cayce Bean, the senior winner in the "Make It Yourself With Wool (MIYWW), Pennsylvania Competition, was confronted with a very tricky decision — represent her state at Nationals, or, on the same dates, join her senior class for its trip.

Bean made a difficult choice and e-mailed MIYWW state director, Jodell Antram she was opting out of MIYWW. Instead she would make memories with classmates at Christopher Dock High School in Lansdale.

Sarah Flannery, Sipesvile, on the other hand, would have been Bean's only competitor in the senior division when the event, on Oct. 16, was held at Boscov's in the Galleria Mall.

Flannery was registered, but ended up unable to change a job schedule at Hoss's Restaurant so she could attend the event.

Anthram and fellow state director, Peggy Black, ultimately resolved the dilemma by consulting with officials at a higher level of authority. If Flannery's garment could survive official judging, done at a separate time, they said instead of Bean, the 17-year-old could represent Pennsylvania in Denver, Colorado, January 2000.

Her trip finances, however would have to be paid by funds from a source other than MIYWW.

Flannery's 100-percent wool crepe suit is fully lined with Bemburg rayon.

She used quick tailoring methods for the outfit which has a buttonless jacket that falls to the hip. Fully-lined, the jacket has a collar, shoulder pads, and is slightly fitted.

The short-sleeved, fully-lined dress reaches mid-knee, has a back slit and invisible zipper, shoulder pads, and darts.

The teen-ager employed a wide variety of wool products for a uniquely-styled, eye-catching vest by coordinating blue, double top-stitching to accent the hand-felted wool batts on the right side. On the left was faux chenille made from black gabardine and the same blue-black check as seen in the skirt.

Talk about sporty, Erin Stennett, Irwin, the junior winner who advances to Nationals representing the state's junior division, made a jacket out of 100-percent wool felt in deep purple. The seam detail in joining the abstract pattern pieces chocked up valuable sewing experience.

Made with a collar, collar band, dropped shoulders, insets, pockets, self fringe and long sleeves, the jacket and rosy-colored top under it made a nifty combination.

Stennett coordinated the slacks by using multi-colored woven wool and lining them. They closed with a front fly, had side pockets, back darts, and a waistband with carriers.

She complemented the smart ensemble with a lined purse suspended from the shoulder by a braided strap and added a scarf.

The field of adult competitors included Joan Klein, from Darlington, Pan Marburger from Espyville; and Victoria Nave, Horsham.

Over the two-piece jacket and pants outfit in a deep burnt orange shade, she modeled a contrasting jacket of deep green that had a hood and drawstring waist. Its heavy-duty zipper was concealed by a fly-front closure.

She lined the sport jacket, gave it a one-button closure and a lazy lapel, over-the-shoulder yoking topped with epaulettes, dropped shoulders, and large patch pockets.

In back, she added a unique gathering of adjustments to the waist-length jacket for tabs and "D" rings.

The fully-lined slacks gave Klein a chance to continue the overall sporty theme with a style combination of jeans and cargo pants. The was reflected in the patch pockets on the side and back of the legs. She used flat-felled seams and included a fly front.

Preteen winner Kayla Huston from Beaver Falls used material she received at the 1998 MIYWW state competition to create a 100-percent Pendleton wool suit. The seventh grader at Highland Middle School in Beaver County used the brown and cream tweed for the jacket.

She employed the use of princess seams on the short-waisted jacket, added back darts and a front zipper.

Huston added darts to the solid brown pants for a great fit she said, and put in a side zipper.

The fashion show itself, was held on the Boscov's stage in the mall where all and sundry shoppers stopped to watch the modelers. Second level shoppers peered down from a large, fenced-in, rectangular opening with walkways.

"I was not crazy about modeling in a mall," admitted preteen contestant, Emily Starn from Beaver Falls. "There are so many people," she said.

Joan Klein, a teacher of 45 sewing students, believes the young females gain invaluable lessons from being brave enough to go through with it.

"I believe in it," she said staunchly. "I think it builds self-esteem and exposure."

The MIYWW competitions are held to focus attention to the beauty and versatility of wool. The use of this fiber in sewing, knitting or crocheting fashionable garments is strongly encouraged.

Because wool is an absorbent fiber it helps regulate the body's temperature, keeping a layer of dry, insulating air next to the skin. It also works with warm temperatures, taking up perspiration, and making the body's natural cooling system work better.

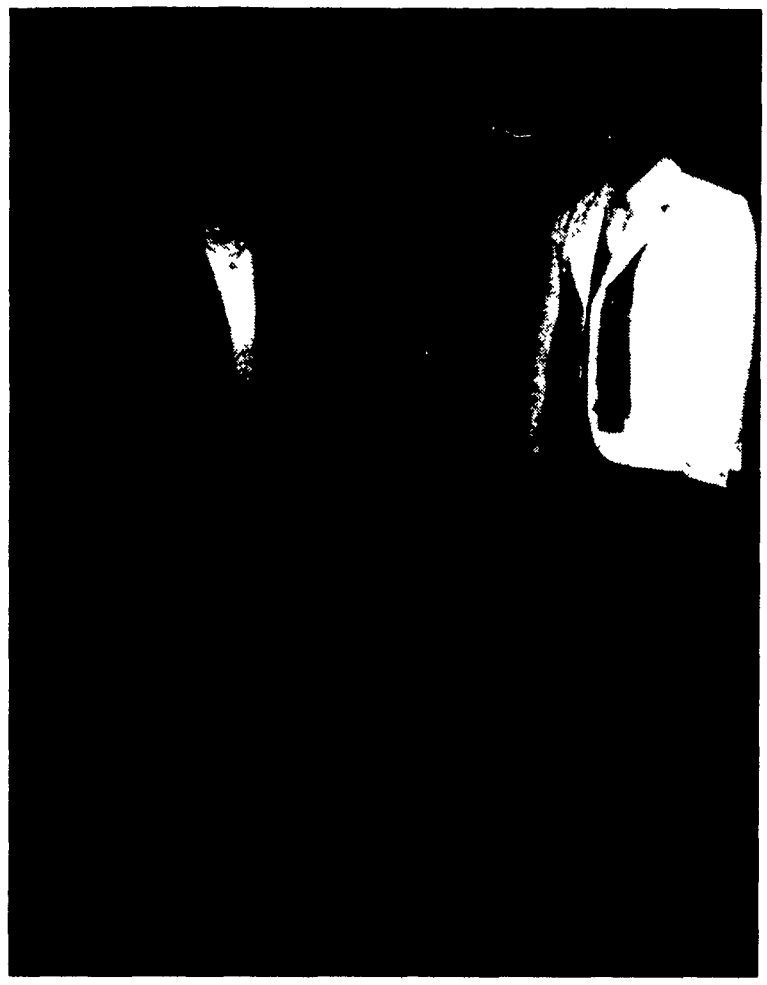
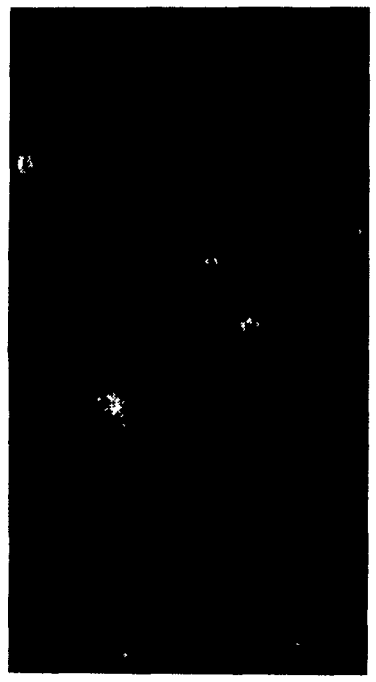
Artificial fibers often melt and stick to the skin when on fire.



Three women competed in the state Make It Yourself With Wool contest. Joan Klein, Darlington, left, was the winner and will send a video to National judging competition. Seated is Victoria Nave, Horsham. Pam Marburger, Espyville, was runner-up.



Cayce Bean was the state winner in the Make It Yourself With Wool senior division. She later opted out because she cannot attend National competition next January in Denver. Bean is from Schwenksville.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 18

On Oct. 16, Lancaster Farm Women Society 18 were entertained by Hostess Sadie Wissler, Landisville.

After delicious dessert, Jody Smith showed a collection of items that was commonplace for school rooms in the 1920s.

Most of the Farm Women members recalled attending one-room school houses. The hostess encouraged members to share memories while booklets, pictures, and quotes from that era were displayed. Quotes such as "a stitch in time saves nine," were recalled and the speaker finished the memorized proverbs with nonsensical statement that led to laughter.

Since almost members "lived during these good old days," the program was most enjoyable.

President Martha Stoner called a business meeting. Millie Kreider led devotions and the pledge to the flag. Members answered roll call by relating a short story about a tree associated with their memories.

The November meeting will be a book review by Beth Dum.

Lancaster Society 20

On Oct. 7, Lancaster Farm Women Society 20 met at the home of Mary Shirk with Marian Hastings as co-hostess.

Following refreshments, scripture reading, prayer, a reading "Something to Think About," and Allegiance to the Flag was conducted.

Seventeen members answered roll call. Six members signed up to attend the county convention on Nov. 6.

President Valaria Ferguson reported that the State President presented a 100-year pin to Loretta Reinhard, York, and that 500 more cookbooks have been ordered.

Elizabeth Steinberg gave an interesting program and showed slides of the former Rocky Springs Park. One slide showed the 1890 trolley car and another slide the ballroom. Also included were slides of the carousel, which cost 10 or 15 cents to ride, and of the swimming pool with bathers who were almost completely dressed.

Also shown were pictorial cards of the tabernacle of the Christian Alliance in 1911, of the hotel as well as the ferry boat that traveled between the People's Park and Rocky Springs, and of the bowling alley with 32 lanes, which was the largest in the country at that time. The park closed in 1980.

The meeting closed with singing the theme song. The November meeting will be a food sale at Helen Trout's home.

Berks Society 1

The Society of Farm Women of Berks County Group #1 met at the home of Lillian Hetrick. Thirteen members answered roll call.

Hilda Fisher, Oley, entertained members with stories about the grave yards found on family farms. Oley Township has the most grave yards on family farms, but only one farm still has a descendent living.

Members were asked to bring homemade articles for gift baskets for a silent auction and for door prizes to be given at the Berks County Farm Women convention.

Sixteen members attended the October meeting held at the Yellow House Hotel in observance of Farm Women Day on Oct. 14. After a delicious meal, a short business meeting was held. Sixteen members attended the October Convention. Members planned a trip to Hunterton Hills Dinner Theatre on Nov. 5.

Credit Trap

RUTGERS, N.J. – Credit traps are products and features that can cost hundreds, even thousands, of dollars in extra interest over time. Below are six specific examples:

1. Late Fees – These typically run from $10 to $20 and can be charged when a payment is only a day late. According to the San Francisco consumer advocacy group, Consumer Action, late fees on credit cards have increased 26 percent since 1995. The average credit card late fee jumped from $13 to $16.50.

2. Over-the-Limit Fees – These are fees charged when your balance exceeds your credit limit. many cardholders assume that when they get too close to their limit, a charge will be denied, but this isn't always the case. You may be allowed to go over your credit limit, but you'll be charged a fee for doing so. The fee is charged every month until you bring the balance within your credit limit.

3.Cash Advances – There is no grace period with credit card cash advances and most creditors charge fees each time an advance is taken. In addition, interest charges begin to accrue immediately and continue until your bill is paid in full.

4. Minimum Payments – Making minimum payments means you pay more for everything you charge. The interest payment becomes part of the "price" of what you buy. If you have an 18.5 percent interest rate credit card, it will take about 11 years to pay off a $2,000 debt if you pay only the minimum due each month. During this time, you will pay interest charges of $1,934, almost doubling the cost of the purchase.

5. Skip-A-Month Offers – This trap is often used by credit card issuers shortly before or after the holiday season. What may borrowers fail to appreciate is that the cost of purchases increases dramatically as interest charges accrue.

6. Rent-to-Own – Rent-to-Own (R-T-O) agreements allow consumers to rent items like furniture and appliances by the week or month. After renting for a stated time, the item is theirs. The downside is that prices are often two to four times the amount it would cost to purchase an item outright.

the Signature of FFA Success

County FA Has Get-Acquainted Night

The Lebanon County FFA recently conducted its annual get-acquainted night at Amanda Martin's farm, in the form of a barn party.

People attended from the Elco FFA, Northern Lebanon FFA, and Cedar Crest FFA.

Amanda Martin, county president, opened the activity with a welcome at 7 p.m. The other county officers introduced themselves as well. The county FFA members proceeded to play several "get to know each other" games.

Cedar Crest Participants At The All-American Dairy Show

The Cedar Crest FFA recently participated at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show.

Members worked as tour guides for elementary students in the Harrisburg area. Members who served as tour guides were: Chet Brubaker, Joel Krall, Jeremy Balsbaugh, Jared Zimmerman, Doug Betz, Joy Driggers, Leann Smith and Ryan Hufford. They told the students about different breeds of cattle such as Holsteins, Jerseys, Brown Swiss, and Ayrshire.

The tour guides informed the children about the different feeds fed to cows such as hay, ryelage, corn silage, haylage and soybeans. They also showed preschoolers how a cow is milked. At the end of the tour the children realized that the milk they drink was not made at the store, but that it came from a cow.

In addition to members serving as tour guides, Erin Templin, Hannah Bomgardner, Sarah Krall, and Jared Zimmerman participated in the dairy judging team competition. They competed against 21 teams from across Pennsylvania and ended up placing first. They will receive money and ribbons for their efforts.

The following placed as individual judges: Hannah Bomgardner, second, Jared Zimmerman, fifth, and Sarah Krall, 42nd. The placings were out of approximately 250 contestants. Other people in the dairy judging career development event were Billie Jo Atkins and Gretchen Artz.

York County Selects FFA Outstanding Members

The DeKalb Genetics Company sponsored the awards for the York County FFA chapters. Senior students from each of the chapters are eligible to be selected as the outstanding members of their chapter.

A committee consisting of Pat Diebert of the Lincoln Intermediate Unit. Ed Heindel of the York office of Farm Credit Services, and Leo Rutter representing the York Fair selected the first and second place students from each chapter. Each person selected will receive monetary awards for their accomplishment.

From those individuals placing first in their chapter, an overall county award winner was selected. The county award recipient is Heather Bankert of the Red Lion Area FFA chapter. Bankert is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bankert (Wayne and Sue) of Red Lion. As a part of her FFA experiences, heather has had projects of off-farm work experience, poultry capons, sheep breeding, and sheep finishing.

Bankert has served as her chapter treasurer and vice president and has been chosen for the York County FFA office of secretary last year and president for the current year. She has participated in and received numerous awards in york County contests such as livestock judging, creed speaking, meats judging, dairy foods, apple judging, parliamentary procedure, and recordkeeping. She has also participated in state contests of parliamentary procedure and agricultural salesmanship.

Bankert has also been involved in sports and is a tutor in school as well as doing volunteer work in community organizations.

First place winners of other chapters were Doyle Hostetter, son of Calvin and Eileen Hostetter, Dover of the Dover chapter; Theresa Klinger, daughter of Marlin and Gay Klinger, Dillsburg, of the Gifford Pinchot chapter at Northern york; and Amanda Snyder, daughter of Joseph and Deborah Snyder, Delta, of the White Rose chapter at York Vo-Tech.

Erin Baumgardner, daughter of Robert and Sharon Baumgardner, of Dillsburg, the Dover chapter, and Heather Crowl, daughter of Ellis and Joyce Crowl, Airville, of the Red Lion Area FFA chapter received second place honors for representing their chapters.

These outstanding students will be completing applications this fall in order to receive the Keystone Degree, which is awarded by the Pennsylvania FFA Association.

ANSWER — M. Hurst, Lititz, wanted the words to the poem, "What Puzzles Me." Thanks to Ruth Zook, New Holland; Mildred Hess, Myerstown; E. Weaver, Mohnton; M. Musser, Lititz; and numerous other readers for sending the words.

What Puzzles Me

My grandma says I've Daddy's nose—
Before I came he'd two I s'pose.
She always adds, "And what is more,
You've Mother's eyes."
Did she have four?
Folks say I got my mouth an' chin
From Grandma's husband, Benjamin.
(He died before I came, you see,
An' must-a-willed 'em both to me).
I understand about my hair,
'Cause Daddy's head is kind-a-bare;
But what I'd really like to know—
What puzzles me an' tries me so—
Is: Am I just some odds an' ends,
Parts o' my relatives an' friends?
Or do you think that it can be
That's really me?

ANSWER — A reader wanted exact directions to make sachet mixes from dried flowers, pine cones, etc. Thanks to Gloria Sweigart, Manheim, for sending instructions. She writes that she would also be happy to answer questions readers may have. Call her at (717) 665-3390.

Sachet or Potpourri

Pick and dry flowers or petals, place on newspaper out of sunlight to dry. Flowers that work well for this are rose petals, daisies, Queen Anne's lace, pansies, sunflowers, and black-eyed Susans, spiera, coroposis, combshead, etc. Break into pieces. When dry, combine and select essential oil in your favorite scent.

For a gallon of flowers and petals, you will need: 1-ounce orris root (cut or powder) and ¼ -ounce bottle essential oil.

Mix together the orris root and essential oil, add to flowers and petals. Toss to mix. Tie shut and store in dry, dark, place for two weeks, shaking gently every few days.

For pinecones, add rose hips, broken sticks of cinnamon, dried pods or berries, whole cloves, bay leaves, etc. Use an essential oil of cinnamon, cloves or anything spicy or a Christmas scent. Follow above directions to mix. Enjoy.

"In only three weeks of using the Chi Machine, I lost 15 pounds effortlessly - and hospital lab tests showed that my blood cholesterol level dropped from 225 to 160 mg"

How do I use my Chi Machine?

* Place the machine on a rug Lie on your back and put your ankles in the grooves of the footrest on top of the machine
* Set the timer switch to activate the machine for the number of minutes you desire First time users should start with 2-5 minutes
* The footrest will begin to move back and forth, carrying your feet briskly from side to side This movement will carry up through your legs and torso, throuthout your entire body, causing you to wiggle back and forth - that's right like a fish swimming in water
* All you do now is relax and breathe deeply, letting the machine rock you gently but firmly for a maximum of 15 minutes
* When the time is up and the machine stops, remain lying down for another two to five minutes, relaxing and breathing deeply, enjoying the remarkable afterglow - chi - as it moves throughout your body

"In two months of using the Chi Machine, my thighs, hips, stomach and buttocks now look as good as they did when I was in my 20's - and I'm almost 52"

Does your body get the oxygen it needs?
(Adapted from a quiz by Dr Eigi Noguchi)
Check all the boxes which apply to you
- ❒ I wake up tired, even after eight hours of sleep
- ❒ I sleep restlessly, waking up frequently
- ❒ I suffer from chronic fatigue
- ❒ I have poor physical endurance
- ❒ I tend to be moody and irritable
- ❒ I am susceptible to colds and flu
- ❒ I suffer from allergies
- ❒ I frequently feel tense and on edge
- ❒ I am frequently constipated
- ❒ I have frequent pain in my shoulder and/or back
- ❒ I have weight problems
- ❒ I crave sweets, alcohol or soda

If you checked more than three boxes, your body might not be assimilating sufficient oxygen Please consult your physician You may wish to have your blood oxygen levels tested - before and after you begin to use the Chi Machine

Holstein Foundation Receives EPA Grant

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — Working in partnership with the Dairy Quality Assurance Center, Inc., and with funding support from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the Holstein Foundation will develop and publish environmental education materials to help educate dairy producers about potential sources of pollution within their dairy operations and encourage action to prevent and/or reduce pollution from the farm.

The effect of the dairy operation on the environment is an issue many dairy farmers are addressing in their operations. America's farmers have been stewards of the land for generations. The Holstein Foundation and the Dairy Quality Assurance Center initiated the project to develop education materials to serve as a resource for dairy farmers needing information on environmental issues. By having educational resources available, the dairy industry will be better-positioned to continue its legacy of land stewardship.

USDA and EPA mandates, such as the "Unified National Strategy for Animal Feeding Operations" are enacting additional state environmental standards on the American livestock producers. The draft USDA/EPA strategy calls for voluntary industry programs for most Animal Feed Operations. The Holstein Foundation and the Dairy Quality Assurance Center, Inc. are in a unique position to cooperatively coordinate a national voluntary program for the dairy industry.

Keith Carlson of the Dairy Quality Assurance Center will serve as project manager. The Dairy Quality Assurance Center, Inc. continues its mission to certify the quality of milk and dairy beef. Following publication of the environmental education materials, plans are for the Dairy Quality Assurance Center to expand its Environmental Stewardship Program which certifies and registers dairy farms that meet the Center's standards. Certification or registration should help dairy farmers demonstrate their commitment to environmental stewardship. The Holstein Foundation's role is an educational one to promote the opportunities provided by the voluntary Environmental Stewardship Program to a wide audience of dairy producers, including dairy youth and young adults.

SHORT NOTICE

Gold-Bar Registered Holsteins Complete Milking Herd Dispersal

FRI., NOV. 5, 1999
11:00 AM
Middletown, (Orange County) NY

Sale to be held at farm in Middletown, NY located East of Port Jervis and West of Middletown, NY. From I-84, take Mountain Road Exit #2. Turn right at exit and go 4.4 miles to farm.

75 milking age sell - After 40 years of breeding registered Holsteins, Dad has decided it's time to quit - thus the reason for this milking herd sale.

Cows with fancy udders are abundant in this herd – A long tradition for the Hoskings!!!

The kind of cattle that will go on to please the buyers are promised in this offering. Low SCC and 42 first or second lactation cows are here. The herd is averaging 60# at the present with some up to 90# a day. Many sell fresh or springing.

SALE FEATURES:

Watch for the "L" family, they are BIG & GOOD!! Lucky, by Robthom Pemex is VG 88 and completes 6 generations of EX & VG. Due right after the sale to Shark - she looks like a sure bet for Excellent. Lorie, EX 90 by Melvin from an Excellent (EEEE) Citamatt, 2nd dam is VG 89 by Triple Threat. 3rd dam VG 89 by Elevation. Next dam VG 86. Selling just fresh and we suggest you come and score her. Lisa, an Aerostar Gr'dtr. from EX92 Astronaut due to Jolt. Linda Excellent daughter of Wine Ridge Concord from this same outstanding cow family.

Coin is a fresh two-year old by Merv with 76# on her first test. Sells with her 20,000# dam who will also sell fresh. They trace to a pair of cows that were NY Dam-Daughter after being first at both New York State Fair and Harrisburg.

10 Nice Red & Whites sell with many Red Carriers in the herd - featuring Sal & Sassy - sired by Veazland Margin - Red from the Continental Scarlet - Red family, and they are fancy.

Kay, EX91 fresh in July and bred to Encore sells with her Aerostar Gr'dtr also bred to Encore. Jangle sells fresh milking 80#, she's by Burkett Falls Redman from a VG 86 Kinglea Leader that also sells.

*A service age bull sells, a Patron son from a Slocum next dam EX90 Leadman with 3rd high in NJ for milk and 2nd high in protein at 3-07 365 43,970m 1630f 1574p.

Sires represented - Kinglea Leader, Jess, Belltone, Mandingo, Veazland Margin - Red, Redman, Aerostar, Merv, Caveman to mention a few.

Service sires: Performer, Encore, Jolt, Shark, Malachite, Dragon, Marty, Bestow, Red Marker.

Mgrs. Note: This sale is in an area that was severely affected by the drought this Summer. The locals are short of feed. The buys will be here and you won't be disappointed.

Terms of Sale: Cash or good check. Nothing removed until settled for. Catalogs at ringside - Cattle Vet examined for pregnancy - Tested for immediate interstate shipment.

Pennsylvania DHIA Year-End Reports

The end-of-year results of Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement records for 1999 show that a Holstein herd from Center County has a rolling herd average to complete the year that is first in all three components, milk, protein, and fat. Valleys-End Farm, Rebersburg, have 73 cows that produced 32,071m 1,285f 1,036p. Scott and Karen Nolt, Lebanon, had the second high rolling herd average in milk and protein with 101 cows producing 31,844m 1,070f 1,005 p. Junge Farms, New Tripoli had the second high average for fat with 88 cows producing 30,429m 1,183f 1001p.

The top producing cow in the state in both milk and protein was No. 12 in the herd of Frederick Farms, Martinsburg in Blair County. This Holstein produced 48,462m 1,637p 2,236f. No. 12 was second in fat production.

The top producing cow in the state for fat was Aggie in the herd of Tayacres Farm, Delta, York County. This Holstein produced 37,918m 1,167p 2,355f. Her test was 6.2 percent.

In the Holstein breed, the top 25 cows all produced over 41,000 pounds of milk.

Greg and Sheryl Seeley from Canton in Bradford County had the lowest somatic cell count in their milk from 44 cows. The record was 51,000.

PaDHIA year-end results are based on September results. The rest of the year, the top producing herds and cows are reported monthly.

After Storms, Think Through All Tree-Trimming Decisions

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Heavy weather — thunderstorms, tornadoes and hurricanes — can exact a brutal toll on trees around homes.

But an urban forestry expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences urges homeowners not to make rash decisions about cutting and pruning trees in the wake of a storm.

"Any big storm brings down trees that break power lines or damage buildings and cars as they fall," said Vincent Cotrone, Penn State Cooperative Extension urban forester based in Luzerne County. "But you don't want to inflict damage on the remaining trees by severely trimming them in a misguided attempt to prevent them from toppling in a future storm.

"Following storms, there usually is a dramatic increase in tree-topping," Cotrone said. "Homeowners believe topping a tree will prevent it from hitting the house in a future storm. In reality, topping and improper pruning will lead to internal decay and a weaker tree."

Cotrone said cutting the central trunk and tops of main branches severely weakens a tree by removing leaves and stored carbohydrates.

Topping reduces a tree's ability to generate food and energy by photosynthesis and promotes decay because branches are not removed at their point of attachment, the branch collar.

"Topping usually is done by unqualified and unknowledgeable tree cutters," Cotrone said. "In some cases, arborists top trees at the insistence of homeowners who don't understand that they are paying to have real damage done to their tree."

Cotrone lists several conditions caused by topping trees.

• Unsafe structure. Topping trees leaves large wounds that are open to decay and insects, ultimately weakening the tree's structure. "The tree also will develop 'water sprouts,' which are weakly attached branches," Cotrone said.

• Decline in health. In addition to losing the leaves' ability to produce food, topping causes the tree to use valuable food stored in the trunk to regrow limbs. Limb removal causes sunscald of the remaining limbs as well.

Cotrone offers tips on how to clean up toppled or damaged trees in the aftermath of a storm.

• Safety first. Stay clear of any downed power line. Never try to clear tree damage from any power line. "If you have a tree or branch threatening a power line, call the utility company," Cotrone said. "Also, always check trees for broken limbs that may be ready to fall."

• For big jobs, call an arborist. "If the tree is large, and pruning cuts have to be made off the ground, call a qualified arborist," he said. "Do not climb into a damaged tree with a chainsaw or other pruning gear."

• Don't rush into a decision. Cotrone recommends checking the credentials of any arborist. He suggests asking for references, certificates of insurance, and whether they are members of professional associations such as the International Society of Arboriculture (which offers arborist certification) or the National Arborist Association.

"After a storm, many people will claim to be a tree specialist," Cotrone warns. "Be patient. If the tree is not an immediate hazard, take your time to find a professional who can explain how to repair damage to your tree or how to remove the tree safely."

Cotrone said homeowners can get information on tree pruning, repairing storm-damaged trees, and how to hire a qualified arborist at any Penn State Cooperative Extension office or any Department of Conservation and Natural Resources Bureau of Forestry office.

Manbeck Receives Black Award For Excellence In Research

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Harvey Manbeck, distinguished professor of agricultural engineering, has received the 1999 Alex and Jessie C. Black Award for Excellence in Research. He will deliver the Black Award Lecture at a faculty meeting at 3:30 p.m. Nov. 18 at the Penn State Wartik Laboratory.

Manbeck is a renowned researcher in wood engineering and structural design. His work on hardwood timber bridges and post-frame buildings has been recognized nationwide. He is a member of the structural system group in Penn State's Housing Research Center and a member of the Pennsylvania Transportation Institute.

"Having the opportunity to combine engineering research with graduate and undergraduate education has been one of the joys of my life," Manbeck said. "Without question, the most rewarding aspect of my research career is being a part of the intellectual growth of young engineers as they develop a broad spectrum of research skills."

With colleagues from the School of Forest Resources, Manbeck created a project to develop structural glue-laminated products from undervalued and underutilized Pennsylvania hardwoods such as red maple. The project has developed design standards for glue-laminated hardwood highway bridges. Several timber bridges have been installed based on the group's research and design specifications.

"His astounding accomplishments as a researcher and teacher attest to his distinguished career," said Roy Young, professor and head of agricultural and biological engineering. "Young engineers could have no better role model of a professional."

Manbeck also is an expert on poultry housing and has advanced the definition of structural loads for grain storage facilities. He is a founding member of Penn State's Particulate Materials Center, where his research helped define the mechanical behavior of granular materials. His early research focused on the interaction between structural bin walls and stored grains.

His national and international research awards include the Henry Geise Structures and Environment Award in 1990 and the Engineered Timber Bridge Award from the National Forest Products Association in 1993. He has won numerous teaching awards, including Penn State's George W. Atherton Excellence in Teaching Award in 1991.

Manbeck was named distinguished professor of agricultural engineering in 1996. He started his academic career as an assistant professor of agricultural engineering at the University of Georgia in 1970. From 1975 to 1977, he was an associate professor and extension agricultural engineer at The Ohio State University. He returned to the University of Georgia in 1977 and came to Penn State as a full professor in 1980. He served as interim director of the Housing Research Center in 1995.

He earned his bachelor's and master's degrees in agricultural engineering from Penn State in 1963 and 1965, respectively. He earned his doctorate in agricultural engineering from Oklahoma State University in 1970.

Alex Black and his wife, Jessie, endowed the Black Award for Excellence in Research, which offers a $1,000 honorarium and plaque. Alex Black retired from Penn State in 1969, following a distinguished career in research, teaching and administration.

Reddy Named Veterinary Science Department Head

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Channa Reddy, distinguished professor of veterinary science, has been named head of the Penn State Department of Veterinary Science.

"Dr. Reddy has demonstrated outstanding leadership in our College," said Dean Steele. "He is internationally recognized for his research contributions, he is an outstanding educator, and he will provide visionary guidance for the department."

Reddy is a renowned researcher, specializing in determining how antioxidant enzymes protect cells from oxidative damage. His most recent work centers on the molecular mechanisms that affect the antioxidant functions of vitamin E and selenium.

"The Department of Veterinary Science is very complex, with major functions involving research, teaching, extension and diagnostics," Reddy said. "It is a challenge to strike a balance and find harmony among all these functions. That is what attracted me to this position."

Reddy was elected Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in 1992 and received the Research Career Development Award from the National Institutes of Health for the years 1983-1988. He also was named an "Eminent Scientist of Telugu Origin" by Osmania University, Hyderabad, India, in 1993 and received the Indian Council of Agricultural Research Merit Award in 1970.

Reddy teaches graduate courses on pathophysiology of disease mechanisms, cell biology, and the biochemistry and physiology of prostaglandins and leukotrienes. He has mentored 20 postdoctoral scholars, hosted eight visiting scientists, and advised more than 20 doctoral students. Reddy also advises undergraduate students in the animal bioscience major.

During the past 20 years, he has brought in more than $10 million in grants, mostly from the National Institutes of Health.

Reddy has served on many advisory boards, including several assignments for the National Institutes of Health and assignments for the National Science Foundation, the Environmental Protection Agency, the American Cancer Society, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. He is a member of the Penn State Gerontology Center Advisory Board and served on the steering committee for Penn State's Life Sciences Consortium. He is a member of the editorial boards for Biochemical Journal and Biofactor and also has served on more than 30 university and college committees. He is director of the Center for Molecular Toxicology.

Reddy is a member of the American Chemical Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Institute of Nutrition, the American Society of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology, and the International Society of Oxygen Radicals.

Combined Livestock Roundup Posts Results

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — The first annual combined Berks County livestock roundup and sale was conducted here recently at the Kutztown Fairgrounds.

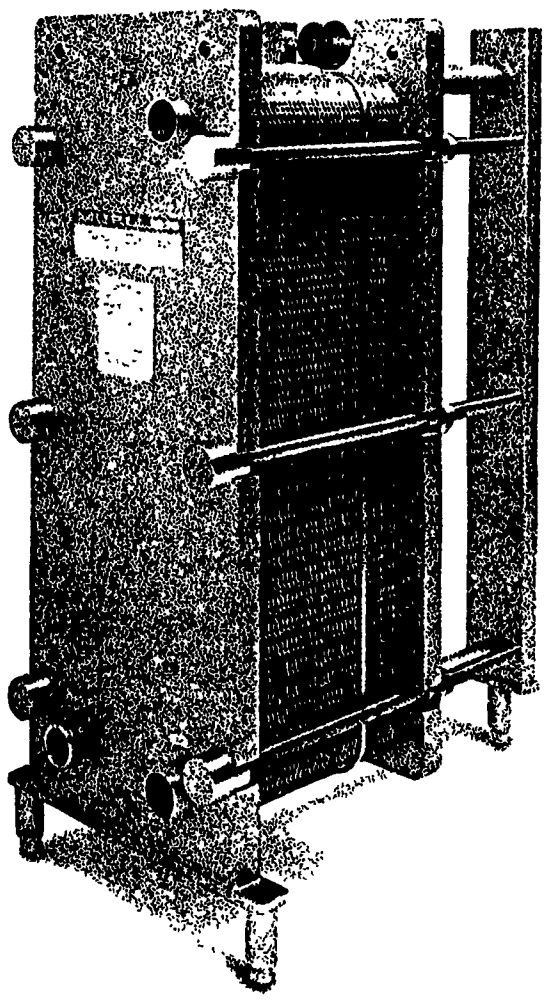
The livestock sale generated a total of $34,910, according to show organizers. The sale, held late in September, featured good prices from buyers.

The 1,290-pound champion market beef, shown by Kristy Dietrich, Hamburg, was purchased by First Union Bank for $1,500. Reserve champion steer, shown by Cassandra Spatz, Mohrsville, weighed 1,200 pounds and sold for $975 to Lebanon Valley/Great Valley.

Champion market hog was shown by Nathan Manbeck, Womelsdorf. The 225-pound champion sold for $625 to Lebanon Valley/Great Valley. The reserve, a 226-pound hog shown by Jared Treichler, Fleetwood, was sold for $475 to Keystone Farm Credit.

Champion market lamb, a 102-pound lamb shown by Jason Levan, Hamburg, was sold for $270 to John Lengel. Reserve market lamb, a 127-pound lamb exhibited by Jill Neiman, Fleetwood, sold to the First National Bank of Fredericksburg for $275.

Beef and hog judge was Bob Mikesell, State College. Sheep judge was Christopher Herr.



IS THIS SOMETHING I CAN LIVE WITHOUT?

Yes. But it's an excellent way to lower the cost of cooling milk. It reduces milk temperature with water pumped straight out of your well. Mueller® precoolers are available in sizes to work with any system. If lower electric bills would make your life easier, call us and ask for more information on Mueller precoolers.

EMM Sales & Service Marks Anniversary

BROWNSTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — EMM Sales and Service celebrated its 30th year in business Oct. 15 - 16 with an open house featuring a luncheon feast and dealer equipment show here.

EMM supplies specialized equipment and trailers to the bulk feed transportation business. EMM lists virtually all feed transport companies in the Mid-Atlantic region among their many customers, along with a growing list of customers from Maine to South Carolina.

Several customers, such as Pennfield Corporation, Wenger Feeds and Agway, to name just a few, have been EMM customers for more than 20 years.

In 1974, Jack Conrad, president of EMM, was instrumental in designing the first tank feed truck for Canadian manufacturer, Walinga Inc. Today that first unit is still in service. EMM is also a dealer of Alumatech round-bottom trailers.

In 1998, EMM went international, providing grain hauling equipment to the Pena Family in Mexico. The Pena's company, Transportistas Y Molinaros, is the largest hauler of grain corn for tortilla chips in Mexico. EMM outfitted each custom-designed trailer for the Pena's with eight five-ton compartments, a hydraulic bottom auger, air deliver equipment, and an air-ride suspension.

In addition to providing custom-designed straight-truck bodies, EMM provides custom trailers and mounts up to 40 feet with 25-ton payloads and permit loads to 32 tons. EMM also offers customers full-service repair and retrofitting along with inspections and large-truck painting.

BACS Hires Business Development Director

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Jeffrey Cunningham has been named director of business development for Brubaker Agronomic Consulting Service, LLC (BACS).

Cunningham's primary responsibilities are to develop new business opportunities and to enhance BACS existing business relationships.

Cunningham has extensive agricultural background. Prior to joining BACS, he was employed as director of sales by Hoffman Seeds, Inc., Landisville, from 1985 through October 1999. He has a bachelor's degree in geography and environmental studies from the State University of New York Geneseo.

Farm Tire In Eight New Sizes

AKRON, Ohio — Goodyear is expanding its DuraTorque line of rear bias farm tires with eight new sizes.

The new sizes are: 8.3-24; 9.5-24; 9.5-42; 12.4-38; 15.5-38; 18.4-30; 18.4-34; and 18.4-38.

"Since its inception, the DuraTorque has been popular among farmers looking for a durable yet affordable bias tractor tire for general farming applications. The new sizes are in response to the growing demand for this type of tire," said Dave Weed, Goodyear's applications engineer for farm tires.

The bias tire is engineered to resist field hazards, including stubble damage, because its wide tread arc better protects the carcass. Also, a flat tread radius improves the tire's footprint, resulting in better traction, slower wear, and more uniform ground pressure. The self-cleaning action of the single-lug design allows for excellent traction in the mud.

The DuraTorque Bias farm tire resists field hazards because of its wide tread arc. Also, its flat tread radius improves the tire's footprint, resulting in better traction, slower wear, and more uniform ground pressure.

Forage Seed Company Allies With AgriCulver Seeds

ALBANY, Ore. — Advanta Seeds Pacific, Inc. (ASP) announced that it has recently entered into an exclusive marketing agreement with forage seed distributor AgriCulver Seeds of New York.

Under the terms of the alliance, AgriCulber, which is headquartered in Trumansburg, has sole rights to market ASP's entire line of forage seed products in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Vermont, Rhode Island, Maine, New Hampshire, and Connecticut.

AgriCulver Vice President Rod Porter said that ASP's straight seed products and pasture mixes, the latter marketed under the trade name Multi-Grazer, are a good fit for the Northeast. Smaller dairymen (200 cows and less), who are growing more and more of their own feed and pasturing their cows longer, are especially good customers, he said.

Although beef cattle are raised in the Northeast, dairy cattle, mostly of the Holstein breed, by far and away outnumber them, Porter said.

He said that the chief reason AgriCulver agreed to link up with ASP is because of ASP's varied forage product line. "They have a good diversity of species available, plus very good producing varieties." AgriCulver, he added, was also looking to enter into an exclusive arrangement with a leading forage seed breeder.

Of all the ASP forage products, Porter believes the company's perennial ryegrasses, both diploid and tetraploid, and Multi-Grazer mixes will be the most popular in the Northeast. ASP's high-production forage-type tall fescues, such as Fuego and the recently released Seine, with their high heat and drought tolerance, should also draw interest in light of the severe drought that hit the region this year.

Porter sees good potential for about half of the 20-some Multi-Grazer pasture mixes because of the diversity in the line. "They've put together good combinations of different varieties. Very seldom will a producer seed just one variety — they're looking for a combination."

Adrian VanderHave, forage specialist for ASP, expects that a significant part of AgriCulver's forage product sales will be made up of ASP seed. He noted that there has been a trend in the forage seed industry for seed companies to work more and more with local distributors, as opposed to going through wholesalers.

Chicoine Becomes Pioneer President, CEO

DES MOINES, Iowa — Jerry L. Chicoine will head Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., as president and chief executive officer with the completion of the merger between Pioneer and DuPont.

The merger was approved recently at the special Pioneer shareholders' meeting.

As DuPont announced previously, Chicoine will report to Richard R. Goodmanson, DuPont executive vice president and chief operating officer. Chicoine succeeds Charles S. Johnson, who DuPont has named executive vice president and member of the office of the chief executive, reporting to DuPont Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Charles O. Holliday Jr.

Chicoine becomes the eighth president of the company that Henry A. Wallace founded in 1926.

Chicoine was a member of the Pioneer board of directors and has served as executive vice president and chief operating officer since 1997. He has also served as the company's chief financial officer, corporate secretary, and a member of Pioneer's Corporate Management Committee.

An attorney and CPA, Chicoine joined Pioneer in 1986 as senior general counsel. Prior to that he was a partner in the Des Moines-based accounting firm of McGladrey & Pullen.

Born in San Bernadino, Calif., Chicoine moved to Iowa at a young age. He grew up and completed his schooling in Le Mars, Iowa, a community in the Northwest corner of the state. He received a bachelor's degree from Morningside College in Sioux City, Iowa, and a J.D. in 1969 from the University of Iowa in Iowa City.

New Holland Introduces Four New TN Tractor Models

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — New Holland's new TN Tractors are hard-working, economical tractors designed for all-purpose use, said New Holland product marketing manager, Joe Weicksel.

"Customers told us what they wanted, and the New Holland design engineers responded by building an economy tractor with the time and money-saving features customers asked for."

The four new models, from 42 to 62 PTO hp, are all-purpose tractors with lots of power, according to Weicksel. "They're a great choice as a chore tractor for any size farm. What really appeals to customers is their ease of operation, the ease of getting on and off the tractor, and the great visibility from the operator's seat."

The durable, quiet, fuel-efficient New Holland/Iveco engines deliver up to 36 percent torque rise to handle the most demanding conditions. All TN engines are 3-cylinder, 179-cubic-inch displacement with rated power at 2,300 rpm. TN55 and TN65 models are naturally aspirated; Models TN70 and TN75 are turbocharged.

The customer can select a TN tractor with one of five state-of-the-art transmissions:

The 8x8 Synchro Command™ transmission (available with mechanical or power shuttle) features synchronized, helical-cut gears for smooth, precise, on-the-go shifting.

"Five speeds are in the 2 to 8 mph working range which makes this transmission a great choice for most applications," said Weicksel. "If synchronized gears are not an important factor for the customer, the 8x8 constant mesh transmission with mechanical shuttle is a value-priced option."

Agway Conference Honors Several

SEVEN SPRINGS (Somerset Co.) — Several representatives of Agway Keystone Agricultural Products were honored here recently during the Agway Keystone Summer Conference.

Sales Manager of the Year Award was presented to Samuel Evans, Martinsburg, and Salesperson of the Year Award went to David Hunsberger, Mifflintown.

Recipients of the Agway 600,000 Club Awards were Jeff Shaffer, Ron Dolbow, David Hunsberger, and Frank Glunz, feed sales consultants. Also honored were Don Fair and Bill Blackiston, feed sales consultants, and Greg Cox, feed sales manager. The award recognizes the top sales performers within the Enterprise region.

Randy Carper, v.p. of sales, and David Chambers, director of operations, presented Dave Hunsberger, Mifflintown, with the Salesperson of the Year Award. Agway Facility of the Year Award went to Tom Ferry and Fred Brumbaugh, Curryville.

Case, Textron Systems Developing Grain Analyzer

RACINE, Wis. — Farmers will be able to measure the protein and oil content of grain being harvested by their Case IH combines in real-time with a new mobile grain analyzer.

The analyzer, already in development, is part of a venture between Case Corporation and Textron Systems, Wilmington, Mass. Textron Systems is a subsidiary of Textron Inc.

"There's a lot of talk today in agribusiness about segregating high value, identity-preserved grain," said Jim Stoddart, Case's vice president of strategy and business development, "but without a rugged, inexpensive, highly accurate grain attribute measurement system, it is impossible to do. Together with Textron, we're solving that problem."

The analyzer uses near infrared (NIR) sensing technology, which is an accepted standard for analysis for grain in labs. However, to date, these delicate NIR instruments have been mostly limited to use by expert technicians in laboratory environments.

Angus Enthusiasts Exhibit 138 Head At 38th Breeders' Show

Forage Strategies Can Ease Drought Problems

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Alfalfa appears destined to be the star feed crop that best helped dairy and beef cattle producers weather the drought of 1999 throughout much of Maryland's northern Piedmont area.

There was enough soil moisture in early spring to produce good first-crop cuttings. And recent rains give promise of good fifth-crop cutting, noted Lester R. Vough, forage crops specialist for Maryland Cooperative Extension, University of Maryland.

"Don't wait for the traditional killing-frost date," Vough advised Piedmont area farmers. "Instead, harvest your hay as soon as possible after Oct. 20. Why? Because temperature and day length have been found to be more important than frost date in determining regrowth. There is little regrowth after Oct. 20, whether or not a killing frost has occurred."

In western Maryland, where soil moisture shortages still exist, Vough acknowledges that hay fields may not have sufficient growth to justify mechanical harvesting. But there may be enough growth for grazing. Even fall grazing of alfalfa is permissible, once growth has stopped. This would be about Oct. 10 in western Maryland and Oct. 20 for the rest of Maryland.

Vough advised leaving four to six inches of alfalfa stubble to aid in trapping snow for insulation against freeze damage. Avoid grazing when the ground is wet and soft.

What else can livestock producers do to help alleviate this year's drought-caused feed shortage?

Vough noted that cattle can now be allowed to graze on oats or annual ryegrass that he advised seeding in early September. Cattle also can soon be turned out to graze on barley and winter wheat seedings intended for grain. Limited spring grazing on these fields is allowed, too, without reducing grain yields.

Application of higher-than-normal rates of nitrogen fertilizer next spring to small grains and grass hay crops may produce the cheapest forage farmers can obtain,

Your Source For Quality Snow Plows From Home Owner To Heavy Duty Truck Mount Plows

FISHER Minute Mount SYSTEM DRIVE RIGHT IN!

NOT ALL DETACHABLE PLOWS ARE CREATED EQUAL!

- Drive-in attachments eliminate struggling with a heavy blade and attachments.
- Vertical Jack Stand guarantees proper height alignment.
- Two permanently mounted connecting pins means there's no chance of dropping them in the snow or losing them during storage.
- One Piece detachable (not two) means faster on and off.

The Key To Easy Operation Is In Your Hand.
See Binkley & Hurst Bros. Today! Ask For Dean

FISH STIK SNOWPLOW CONTROL

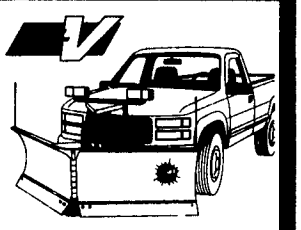
This new state of the art, electronic control can be used with either the Solenoid EHP or the EC/SV Hydraulic System.
- "CB" style mounting clip provided.
- Unplus for glovebox storage.
- Automatic shut-off if not in use and automatic float in "down" position.



THREE PLOWS IN ONE!

Break through deep drifts in the "V" position or carry and stack in the "scoop" mode or use this 8-1/2' plow in the straight or angled position for conventional plowing.

All blade functions are right in the palm of your hand with the hand-held FISH-STIK® control. The minute Mount System® for easy on/off, trip-edge blade and double acting cylinders, all make the EZ-V plow the ultimate plow for the professional plower.

Is your TMR Mixer limiting your ability to reduce feed costs?

The NDE Vertical Mixer cuts and blends whatever you may have available: round bale silage, dry hay bales of any size, cotton seed, distillers grain, cannery by-products, etc. A TRUE TMR not only gives your cows exactly what they need to reach top production, but also allows you to purchase feed stuffs economically, and mix them into a palatable, easily digestible, readily eaten feed.

MF 8680 CONVENTIONAL AND MF 8780 ROTARY COMBINES

Massey Ferguson Combines are legendary for their productivity and reliability. They still are. Today's MF 8680, with its 62" wide high-inertia cylinder and unique cleaning system is the most advanced and productive conventional design you can buy.

In addition, the MF 8780 Rotary redefines efficiency, sample quality, and reliability with the largest rotor, and simplest combine design in its class.

Stop in and see today's two new legends in combines.

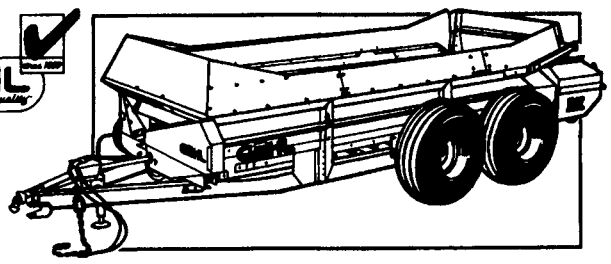
GEHL

One Tough Box Spreader



Gehl Box Spreaders deliver outstanding performance in a variety of materials. Available in four sizes to match your operation.

- Excellent spread patterns in a variety of materials
- 12-year warranty on sides and floor
- High-density polyethylene flooring is virtually indestructible
- Options include: hydraulic remote control, hydraulic drive, hydraulic endgate and liquid side extensions.

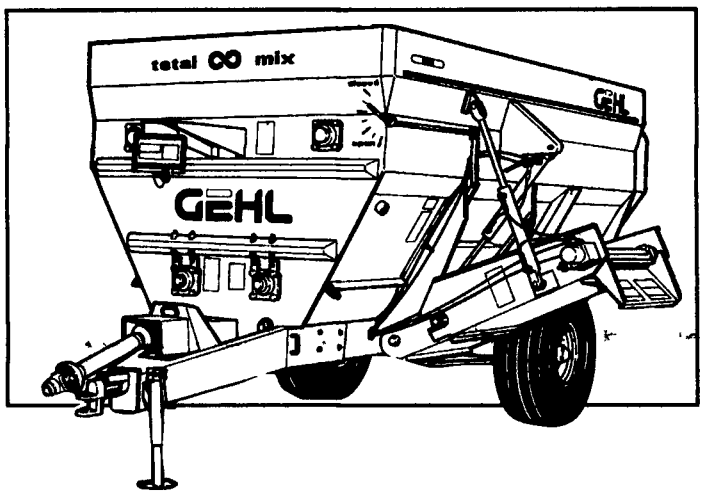
TMR "Total Mix" Mixer Feeders



"Total Mix" TMR mixer feeders let you mix more long-stemmed hay into your ration - up to 30% by weight depending on hay type and moisture content.

- "Hay - slicer auger" - Incorporates knife assemblies into the two bottom augers.
- Better mixing action - Four-auger design creates a double figure - 8 mixing pattern for fast and complete mixing of all feed ingredients.
- Five sizes - 150 to 455 cubic feet capacities.

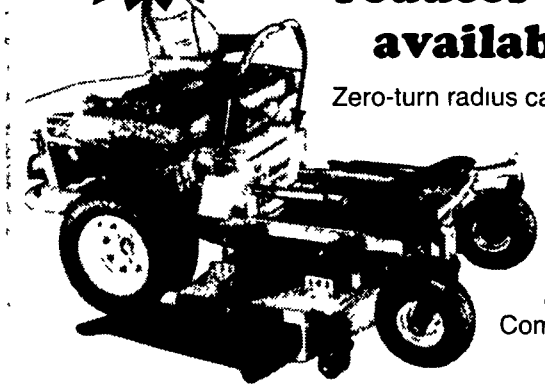
TURF BATWING

Turf professionals really appreciate our Batwing® mower. Available in 12, 15 or 17 foot cutting swaths the Woods Turf Batwing finish mower has a low profile frame, a unique guage wheel design that delivers a consistent quality cut even on hillsides Add a tough three-joint driveline and long-lasting tapered roller bearings in every wheel, spindle and gear mechanism and you've got a wide area mower built for years of trouble-free performance

NEW



It mows more grass. It reduces downtime. It's available right now.

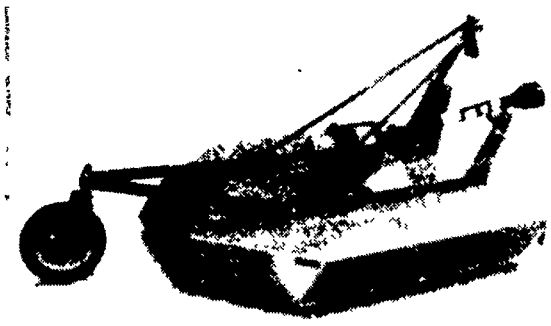
Zero-turn radius capability. Greater riding comfort. Easier operating controls. We've even designed an expanded fuel tank to keep you going longer. What more could we possibly add? How about a blades and belts kit* - absolutely free.

Come in and test drive one today!

PUT A BAT IN YOUR BARN BATWING 3180 - 3 SPINDLE MOWER

The Woods model 3180 is the toughest Batwing® mower we've ever built. A "clean deck" design that resists cut material build-up, innovative Intra-Drive™ gearboxes engineered and built by Woods, and the fastest blade speeds of any mower in its class The 3180 Batwing® cuts through brush, up to three inches in diameter A blade overlap of over six inches, and you have a mower that delivers a quality cut, without streaking From its heavy-gauge deckplate to its heavy-duty drivelines, we build the 3180 to last What's more, they come complete with a 36-month gearbox warranty

XT Series Single Spindle ROTARY CUTTERS



- 48 to 84 inch cutting width
- Tip Speeds to 16,162 RPM
- Shear pin shock protection standard, optional slip clutch
- Choice of Tailwheel (solid core or laminated)

Attendance High At Cornell's Field Day

GENEVA, N.Y. — Cornell University's 7th Annual Processing Sweet Corn and Snap Bean Field Day was Aug. 17 here at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station's Vegetable Research Farm.

Guests came from the Northeast and Canada, and as far as away as Alabama and Idaho. Twenty-nine guests representing the Ontario Growers Marketing Board came by motor coach from Ontario. There were seven seed company representatives, five vegetable processing representatives, and one bean broker from Delaware.

Also joining the field day were several local agri-business representatives and a few New York State growers, including Bill Harris, an active member of the Processing Sweet Corn Research Association.

Seven Cornell Cooperative Extension Agents attended from as far away as Wyoming County. Twenty Cornell faculty and staff from the Ithaca and Geneva campuses attended to speak and support the field day activities, contributing to the day's success.

Steve Reiners, associate professor of horticultural sciences, acted as emcee. He welcomed the more thn 100 people present and introduced each speaker.

Thomas Bjorkman, associate professor of horticultural sciences, Geneva, started the snap bean discussions with a presentation about solving the leftover phosphorous problem using ammonium and sodium bicarbonate release agents. Bjorkman and Reiners had acquired funding from the USDA for a two-year study.

Their presentation was followed by Alan Taylor, professor of horticultural sciences, Geneva, who spoke on seed aging and the effect of cold storage, presenting emergence data on seed quality declination and yield declination. He addressed cold/stress tests and seed lab work on germination and the development of current economic information for the growers.

George Abawi, professor of plant pathology, Geneva, spoke on the management of Bean Root Rot and described his fungicide seed treatment trials along with information about the impact of subsoiling, rotation, and composting with and without cover crops.

Robin Bellinder, professor of fruit and vegetable sciences, Ithaca, spoke on regulatory information for herbicides, including the EPA rejection of Reflex. "There will soon be a complete registration for snap beans," she said. "It will help increase the number of tools in the toolbox for the growers."

Finally, research support specialist Jim Ballerstein, Geneva, led a walking tour of the snap bean trials and described the sieve size, yield, and quality data for each variety of snap beans. There were some excellent conversations among Ballerstein and seed specialists as they went through each variety. Cans of processed snap beans were displayed on a table near the field trial for a closer inspection of the finished product.

Margaret Smith, associate professor of plant breeding, Ithaca, started off the sweet corn trial portion of the afternoon. Smith specializes in field corn but has been able to transfer useful information to sweet corn programs that deal specifically with pest problems and leaf blight. She spoke about the European Corn Borer (ECB) resistance program at her field trials in Aurora, N.Y. She also explained nitrogen stress tolerances and the genetic work to develop a better sweet corn for the Finger Lakes Region.

Mike Hoffman, associate professor of entomology, Ithaca, spoke about Stewart's Wilt and the use of parasitic wasps as a release inoculant for integrated pest management to control the corn flea beetle.

Fred Musser, graduate student in entomology, Geneva, continued on the subject of the ECB and the use of parasitic wasps as an IPM control on the egg masses of the corn beetle. He also discussed use of Tracer and Success as insecticides, their effects on milkweed, and, in turn, their effect on the Monarch butterfly.

Bellinder returned to provide information about pesticides and specific information from the EPA concerning sweet corn. She also talked about three new herbicides for sweet corn that will be available within the following year. She noted that Acton was good for Velvet Leaf and Aim may be used with 2-4-D for weed control.

Jim Ballerstein finished with a tour of the processing sweet corn trials, describing each variety to the many interested people who stayed until close to 5 p.m. Cans of processed sweet corn were also on display near the field trials for a closer inspection of the finished product.

USDA Protects 34 New Plant Varieties

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The USDA has issued certificates of protection to developers of 34 new varieties of seed-reproduced plants.

They include alfalfa, bean, chickpea, corn, lettuce, pepper, annual ryegrass, red fescue, perennial ryegrass, tall fescue, soybean, vinca, watermelon, and wheat.

The 34 certificates are being issued under the amended Plant Variety Protection Act. The amendments extend protection to F1 hybrids and tuber-propagated varieties and require that all protected varieties be sold by variety name. The certificates require not only that the varieties be new, uniform, and stable, as in the original act, but also that they be distinct. The owners will have the exclusive right to reproduce, sell, import, and export their products in the United States for 20 years.

The 34 certificates are:

- The DK127 variety of alfalfa, developed by Dekalb Genetics Corporation, Dekalb, Ill.
- The Nugget variety of bean, developed by Harris Moran Seed Company, Modesto, Calif.
- The Apache variety of bean, developed by Idaho Seed Bean Company, Twin Falls, Idaho.
- The Stan variety of chickpea, developed by Conagra Inc., Davis, Calif.
- The PHWT1, PH63B, PH67A, PH80B, PHFW4, and PH38B varieties of corn, developed by Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., Johnston, Iowa.
- The Early Queen and Mid Queen varieties of lettuce, developed by Paragon Seed, Inc., Salinas, Calif.
- The Diamond variety of Lettuce, developed by Coastal Seed, Inc., Salinas, Calif.
- The DMC 58-218 variety of pepper, developed by Del Monte Corporation, San Francisco, Calif.
- The Taurus variety of pepper, developed by Novartis Seed, Inc., Boise, Idaho.
- The Grazer variety of annual ryegrass, developed by United States Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Research Service, Tifton, Ga.
- The SR 4300 variety of perennial ryegrass, developed by Seed Research of Oregon, Inc., Corvallis, Ore.
- The Wind Star variety of perennial ryegrass, developed by Pure-Seed Testing, Inc., Hubbard, Ore.
- The Nobility variety of perennial ryegrass, developed by Ampac Seed Co., Brownsville, Ore.
- The 2CB and Shademaster II varieties of perennial ryegrass, developed by Pure-Seed Testing, Inc., Hubbard, Ore.
- The Musen variety of soybean, developed by South Carolina Agriculture and Forestry Research System, Clemson, S.C.
- The Hartz Variety H 6255 variety of soybean, developed by Jacob Hartz Seeds Co., Inc., Stuttgart, Ariz.
- The 9254, 9611 and 9255 varieties of soybean, developed by Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., Johnston, Iowa.
- The AG1901, AG2101 and A4922 varieties of soybean, developed by Asgrow Seed Company, Kalamazoo, Mich.
- The Lancer variety of tall fescue, developed by Pickseed West Inc., Tangent, Ore.
- The Pacifica Red variety of vinca, developed by Waller Flowerseed Company, Guadalupe, Calif.
- The W-9809 variety of watermelon, developed by Abbott & Cobb, Inc., Feasterville, Pa.
- The Solomon variety of wheat, developed by HybriTech Seed International, a unit of Monsanto Co., Berthoud, Colo.; and the Nora variety of wheat, developed by Jose Buck S.A., Buenos Aires, Argentina.

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service administers the plant variety protection program, which provides marketing protection to developers of new and distinct seed-reproduced and tuber-propagated plants ranging from farm crops to flowers.

JAMESWAY DIRECT-X-PRESS SYSTEM
NEW BELT FEEDERS & CONVEYORS

Big Capacity Delivery With All The Advantages Of Dependable, Efficient, Low Profile Direct Drive Design!

That's what farmers really appreciate about the new Jamesway family of Direct-X-Press Feeders and Conveyors. All models feature a dependable and efficient heavy duty industrial drive, with enclosed oil bath and standard 1, 2 or 3 H.P. C-laced motors. Our direct drive design eliminates pulleys, jackshafts, sprockets chains, V-belts and shields, the low profile motor and drive can be mounted on either side for added installation versatility

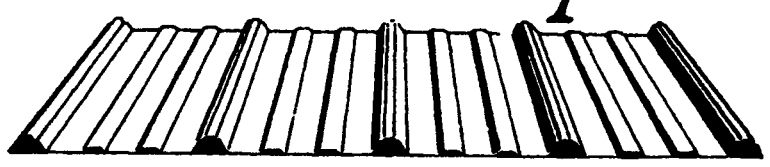
Rural Economy



Cost-efficient Centurydrain® roofing and siding is on some of the best looking buildings in the country.

Build with Centurydrain roofing and siding and you've built a money-wise structure. Full-hard, high tensile galvanized steel, and an exclusive drain channel for a dry interior give you a building that'll handle years of hard duty and hard weather. Good looking, too. Crisp lines and plenty of bright, long-lasting colors make Wheeling Centurydrain as handsome as it is economical.

Everlast Roofing

Everlast II is galvanized heavier like old times; it is heat formed to prevent paint cracks; it is cut while hot to prevent early edge rust; Everlast paint is harder so it won't scratch as easy; won't bend or buckle as easy because of stronger design; laps are tighter and virtually invisible; nails/screws seal better because ribs fit tighter to fastener heads; zinc phosphate is used under paint which is much better than the chromate most competitors use. Crisp and attractive. Sharp colors Excellent for houses and barns. Double dipped galvanized is proven best for animals. Standing seam is ideal for houses Low prices, fast delivery

Cut stall clean-out time by 50% with a Millcreek Compact Spreader.

EARL SINKS - Brock, Texas

Say "Good-Bye" to back-breaking manure handling and cut stall clean-out time in half. Hook an affordable Millcreek Compact Spreader to your 10 hp garden tractor, take it right to the stall for easy loading. No more wheelbarrow

Millcreek Spreaders last and last

Since spreaders are our specialty, we put more into each one For example our 20-year guaranteed floor will never rust or rot. Positive chain drive provides excellent spreading action. And tough steel construction holds up to rugged farm use. Seven sizes, for 1-horse barns to 50-horse stables PTO and ground drive models available

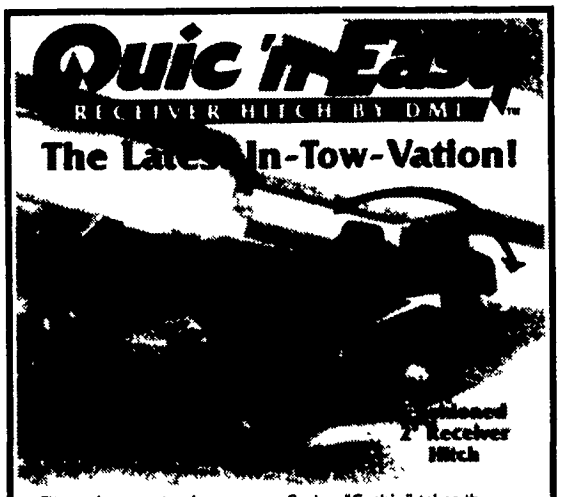
RECEIVER HITCH BY DMI
The Latest In-Tow-Vation!



2" Recessed Receiver Hitch

- Fits under your truck bumper, mounting directly to your truck frame
- Brings the receiver to your load – extends 7" and swings 12"
- Exclusive Proximity Hook-up – one person gets it right the first time.
- Spring "Cush'n" takes the push/pull out of towing, lowering stress on the driver and truck drive train
- Tows whatever your truck is rated to tow - exceeds Class IV certification.
- Accepts a variety of adapters: drawbar, ball, step-up or step-down, pintle hook and weight distribution system

153 ACRE DAUPHIN COUNTY FARM

This farm is ideally located at the base of a mountain range in Northern Dauphin County, (Lykens Valley), near Millersburg. The buildings are set several hundred yards off the main road, creating that perfect Currier & Ives setting everyone dreams about with the mountain as a back drop. The buildings feature a very well maintained brick center hall farm house with 4 large bedrooms and a large country kitchen. The out buildings consist of a 38x40 Bank Barn, 25x42 heated shop and 60x120 Morton pole building used for equipment storage. The majority of 100 tillable acres is gently rolling productive farm land with approximately 12 acres of pasture and 41 acres of woodland. This farm would be ideal for vegetable production with it's fertile crop land and abundant water supply for irrigation or it would make a perfect country estate, with it's beautiful setting and buildings.

Price $800,000
